The following books don't teach how to do Lucid Dreaming (only mention it), but contain information that is very useful about acquiring Mental Character and expanding the Mind to be able to handle the unknown situations regarding facing the creators and owners of this world (and many other worlds) and the ones that control the non physical world that Lucid Dreaming gives access to.

This is from a concert in Eilat desert, year 2000+something. You can hear that from the included commercials, sponsors are Heineken and Pepsi. Heineken Sundance festival, or something like that. I don't know about that because this CD was an old gift from a friend.

Other tracks on the set are mostly from the later albums like Amen, tracks like Chaos, Sticks & Stones, Anything Is Possible. There are also other tracks, People can fly and Let there be light.

But I can't identify the last track, it's a quite nice one, all dreamy, rolling and floaty though nothing ambient. Maybe it's not AP at all, I haven't heard it on other albums. Or maybe it's a single from some compilation.

https://dl.dropbox.com/u/37423101/astral%20projection%20-%20unknown%20track.mp3

Of course, recommendations of a similar music is always welcome :)

It definetely is 1990s AP, but I can't name it. Have not heard it before. It could be one of their AFX alias track. Let us know when you discover its title.

It could be the same mix that was available as "Live at the Brotherhood Beach, Tel Aviv" in 2002.

There is one track listing of it, but it differs a lot from the actual track names of Amen so it's either bogus (likely) or contains early versions of names (unlikely). The last track is listed as "Burning Up (2002 Remix)". Its progression is highly similar to the released Burning Up so there might be a bit of truth in that. Maybe a live-only mix?

(Edit: try this)

Listening to as much as Yes as probable. travel.

I am wondering .. is there anything in science that proves |or| disproves Astral Projection ?

I'm interested mainly in scientific evidence .. though personal experience is interesting as well.

Laying in bed, flat on my back. Body pillow.

Peace.

I hear there's a place in California that enables people to do it, for a fee, where they proceed to boink in the sky.
Play games with your friends-not friends with your games.

Rewarding people who don't account for a situation punishes those that do.

I can't give you scientific evidence, but on a personal level, I can say with all honesty that it's not as pleasant an experience as you might believe, I assure you. I've had recurring sleep paralysis w/OBE's for a couple of years now. It doesn't happen often - a few times a year at most. Basically, my whole body feels like it's "buzzing" (filled with electrical current), I can't move, I can't speak, I sure as h*ll can't scream, & then I suddenly feel as if my consciousness is pushed out of my skin & floated about the bedroom. I can see the darkness of the room, the pale light of the parking lot, my Wife sleeping, myself sleeping. I can see the red display on our big digital alarm clock, but I can't make out the time clearly. Yes, when I'm "out" it appears I can act somewhat of my own accord, but I don't seem to be able to leave the viscinity of the bedroom. Heck, I've even tried to turn on the light, but everything I touch appears insubstantial.

I know this sounds like a big truckload of BS, but I wish it wasn't. When it first occured, I thought I was having a stroke. The last time this happened was a couple of months ago. I can't really give you an exact length of time that these "episodes" last; all I can say is "not long." Immediately after they occur, I'm wide awake, & my body still "buzzes" intermittently for about 30 minutes afterwards. I have no idea why they started to happen; I don't drink or use drugs (not since I was in my early 20's - which was more than a decade ago), so I can rule that out. The only time I had nightmares was when I was a wee one (they stopped when I was about 5 or 6), so I have no clue. I should ask my Doctor about it & see what he thinks, but I'm afraid that what he's going to think is that I'm nuts.

I'd give anything for these episodes to stop & never happen again.

…A UFO ALIEN CONTACT!…
(1hr40min/320MP3/242.8MB/©2016)
Genre: Psychedelic UFO Alien Contact Goa Trance

Goa Trance and aliens are about as perfect of a combination as one could ever muster.

They dance symbiotically through science and pseudoscience, the cosmic unknown always teasing the fringe curiously, some understanding of the joke and others believing in it.

I spent well over a decade hosting radio shows and even more time making a multitude of mixes for the listening (dis)pleasure of those whom would want to go on a journey with me. When I was approached this past spring to put together a radio show for Space Toilet Radio, I was kind of stumped. I wanted to create a journey but I was somewhat out of ideas on themes. I had done so many already. Then it hit me like a the UFO at Roswell.

Taking inspiration from a tag team set I played at GOA PARTY 4 many years back, every track in this mix references those ancient astronomer ancestors who have been coming to Earth to advance our civilization since the beginning of time… (or have they?!)…

While I was specifically asked to keep this pre-2000, I admit that I have pushed that guideline a bit. There are a few tracks that reach into the 2000s included in this mix, but the overall heart is classic Goa, which means that the overall heart is that these flying saucers do not fly, they oscillate between dimensions carrying illegal aliens with blue auras using rays and mind control devices coming down to take your friends away. Or maybe not. I guess we'll find out some other day…

Is It Normal To See Entities? How Do I Overcome Fear?
by Xanth
November 5, 2025
Yes, it's "normal" to experience entities while projecting, but it's important to realize what they are and what they represent. These entities are beliefs and aspects of your subconscious mind becoming interactable in an effort for your subconscious mind to teach you lessons about yourself. You're essentially scaring yourself with your own worst subconscious fears… Read more: Is It Normal To See Entities? How Do I Overcome Fear?

Did I Just Have an OBE, a Lucid Dream, or an Astral Projection?
by Xanth
October 24, 2025
Well, actually none of those labels fit, because none of those labels are objective experiences within consciousness. You've never had a "dream" in your life. You've never had an "OBE" in your life. You've never had a "lucid dream" in your life. You've never had an "astral projection" in your life. Then you might ask,… Read more: Did I Just Have an OBE, a Lucid Dream, or an Astral Projection?

Are You Actually "Exiting" Your Body?
by Xanth
October 17, 2025
There is a direct answer to this question – no. You're not exactly a spirit in a body. It's more that your awareness, which is part and parcel, part of consciousness as a whole, is focused towards this physical reality and your specific physical body. If you've ever read Robert Monroe's third and final book,… Read more: Are You Actually "Exiting" Your Body?

The Nature of You and This Physical Reality
by Xanth
October 17, 2025
You are a bit of consciousness called an awareness. That awareness projects to this physical reality towards your physical body. When you fall asleep at night that awareness projects to the non-physical. We humans incorrectly call that act dreaming. Your entire existence is a projection. Every moment you're experiencing anything is a projection. Be it… Read more: The Nature of You and This Physical Reality

What is Astral Projection?
by Xanth
January 3, 2025
I cannot answer this question without first answering the question, “What is this physical reality?”, because the answers are so interconnected. I tell you people this: You are a bit of consciousness called an “awareness”. That awareness projects towards this physical reality, towards your physical body. You are – literally – consciousness projecting. When you… Read more: What is Astral Projection?

Sleep Paralysis – What do I do!?

May 10, 2022
One of the most asked questions I see is in regards to Sleep Paralysis (SP). People tend to get stuck at this point. First, there’s the fear factor – this is a completely self-created aspect of it. Astral Projection – What do to with the Vibrations?

How about this… ignore them! For the most part. Acknowledge them only in the most minor way “Oh hey, vibrations, great…” then just continue doing what you were doing before they occurred. Let me explain. Vibrations should ONLY ever be considered a signpost experience/sensation. How to Access The Akashic Records or Contact Your Spirit Guides
by Xanth
December 23, 2015
What most people have to realize is that the “akashic records” isn’t a place… it actually isn’t any “THING” at all. It’s not a “place” which you “go to”. Perception Creates Your Reality

Is Astral Projection Just a Form of Lucid Dreaming?

Why Astral Projections Feel “More Real” Than Physical Waking Life

Astral Projection – Visual Sensory Deprivation
by Xanth
October 13, 2013

There's a great product on the market called the Mindfold. The nice thing about the mindfold, and other functional products like it, is that you don't have to worry about your eyes as much. It removes that factor of worry from your projection sessions. A lot of people, including myself, have had issues where you… Read more: Astral Projection – Visual Sensory Deprivation

What does grounding your body mean in Astral Projection?
by Xanth
October 9, 2013
One of the nice things about running your own website is that you can see what searches people are using to find your articles with. Someone wanted to know, "what does grounding your body mean in astral projection" (if you recognize this search, please feel free to comment. :))… which is a really valid question,… Read more: What does grounding your body mean in Astral Projection?

Everything is Consciousness: Analyzing Lucid Dreaming and Astral Projection From the Perspective of Consciousness
by Xanth
September 23, 2013
Are Lucid Dreams the same as OBEs? – IAC I wanted to share this article, not because I think it's correct… but because I wanted to point something out that really frustrates me. Everyone always looks at this question from the tired old perspective that there is this distinction and heavily drawn line between what… Read more: Everything is Consciousness: Analyzing Lucid Dreaming and Astral Projection From the Perspective of Consciousness

Meditation Mindfulness – How to Live in the Here and Now
by Xanth
September 7, 2013
Another Astral Pulse Moderator, Lightbeam, made a really great post on practicing Mindfulness which I wish to share here. How to Live in the Now I decided to make a post about mindfulness, because I see so many people around me either running ahead of life, or being left behind in their past. I catch… Read more: Meditation Mindfulness – How to Live in the Here and Now

Astral Projection – Dealing With Fear and Some Extra Tips
by Xanth
September 6, 2013
One of my fellow Astral Pulse moderators posted this absolutely great article on dealing with fear. I'm going to share it here!
http://www.astralpulse.com/forums/welcome_to_astral_consciousness/dealing_with_fear_and_some_extra_tips-t43266.0.html There has been a rise in the number of fear based questions lately so I wanted to take a little time to talk about it. What is the Difference Between an Etheric Projection and an Astral Projection?
by Xanth
August 8, 2013
From my own experiences and what I’ve researched there isn’t enough evidence that exists from either that dictates there there are these separate “planes” of existence. From my own experiences, I’ve experienced realities that looked very similar to this physical reality, including areas which I mostly recognize… and I’ve had experiences in realities which are… Read more: What is the Difference Between an Etheric Projection and an Astral Projection?

What’s the “blackness” in the “3D blackness”
by Xanth
July 26, 2013
I just read a post on World of Lucid Dreaming, where the poster mentioned that they couldn’t get to the 3D blackness in a lit room. Well, the 3D “blackness” doesn’t LITERALLY mean “blackness”. It just means… “empty space”. Or a lack of visual sensory input. Does that help? Here’s a quick exercise you can… Read more: What’s the “blackness” in the “3D blackness” Meditation – Quieting Mind?
by Xanth
July 17, 2013
Everyone hears about meditation and hears that “quieting your mind” is a must or else you’re not doing it right! Meditation isn’t about quieting the mind. It’s never been about that. Yes, you can ATTEMPT to quiet the mind… but then you’re using a manipulative force in order to do so… and when is manipulating… Read more: Meditation – Quieting Mind?

Are Astral Projections \"Internal\" or \"External\" Experiences?

by Xanth

February 18, 2013

So, which is it? When we \"project\" our consciousness away from this physical reality, are we projecting to something internal to ourselves or external to ourselves? I\'ll answer this from my own experience. Basically, since all is consciousness, there is no \"physical body\". There never was, it\'s all virtual. A succubus is basically just a tulpa. A manifestation of your subconscious that you use to cope with loneliness and lack of intimacy. There is no proof indicating otherwise. If they were real and existed as individuals, then it could be easily proven, which would be in their interest because they want to share their gifts with as many people as possible. According to the lore, at least.

Menopausal sleep is a type of sleep that is characterized by a decrease in the amount of sleep you get.

Once you get used to doing these short naps, you pretty much go straight to dreaming as soon as your head hits the pillow and you naturally wake up as soon as the dream cycle ends.

Lie still and keep your eyes closed while trying to remember as much as you can about the dream, then immediately write as much of it down when you get up. Doing this regularly will vastly improve your dream recall.
By using one of these polyphasic sleep patterns you gain more waking hours per day but you also practice your dream recall multiple times a day from each nap, instead of once a day per main sleep which usually disturbs your chance to properly recall due to an alarm clock etc. Since most people typically only remember the last dream before they wake up if the sleep is undisturbed. Hope i made that clear enough, im not very good at explaining things.

Even one nap sometime per day would help alot. It will just take you abit longer to get the hang of it, you dont want to oversleep. I recommend setting an alarm to go off 30 minutes after you lie down.
Initially you might take awhile to actually fall asleep, and your rem cycle wont start straight away so your alarm with probably interupt it. But after awhile you'll fall asleep faster, start dreaming sooner and wake up on your own everytime, before you alarm goes off. At which point you can get rid of the alarm 'crutch' and will have as much time as you need when you wake up to practice recalling.
I started off with a single nap and added extra naps as i got the hang of it, settled on the everyman3, which i have been doing since 2012.
Honestly, my theory is that this polyphasic sleep was originally the standard. Along came civilisation and we stopped napping in the day to get more done in daylight without interuption while sleeping away the useless dark nights. Now civilisation is stuck in this monophasic standard when we should probably have reverted back once we got widespread electric lighting.
Sorry for getting abit off topic, i dont mean to derail the thread.

It might help everybody here who have spirit ladies and cannot astral out of their bodies, like me. My hope is that if I can actually recall dreams consistently, then I can work towards lucid dreaming or having my own spirit lady help me out by entering my dream, or something like that.

The image is a digital artwork that depicts a scene with multiple figures, predominantly in dark colors, set against a backdrop of what appears to be a forest or wooded area. The figures are dressed in various styles of clothing, including robes, capes, and cloaks, suggesting a fantasy or supernatural theme.
In the foreground, there is a figure with a prominent, muscular build, wearing a dark robe and a cape, holding a staff or wand. This figure is facing the viewer, and the posture suggests a stance of authority or combat readiness.

In the background, there are other figures, some of whom are also holding staffs or wands, indicating a group or a coordinated action. The figures are dressed in similar dark robes and capes, and their positions and postures suggest they are engaged in a coordinated movement or ritual.
The overall color palette is dark, with shades of brown, black, and red dominating the scene. The lighting appears to be soft and diffused, casting a dramatic effect on the figures and the surrounding environment.
There are no discernible texts or logos in the image, and the style of the artwork is reminiscent of fantasy or supernatural genres, with a focus on the interaction between the figures and the environment. The artwork does not provide any explicit information about the characters' identities or the specific context of the scene.

The image is a humorous meme featuring a gecko and a small toy lizard. The gecko, with its yellow and brown spotted pattern, is positioned on the left side of the image, looking up with a smile. Its eyes are closed, and its mouth is slightly open, giving it a friendly and approachable expression. The toy lizard, which is yellow with black spots, is on the right side of the image. It is also looking up, with its eyes closed and its mouth slightly open, mirroring the gecko's expression. The toy lizard is smaller in size compared to the gecko.

Above the image, there is a text that reads "You may talk with me and my son whenever you wish," which is a playful and humorous take on the idea of a parent-child relationship. The text is in a bold, black font that stands out against the lighter background of the image. The overall style of the image is lighthearted and whimsical, with a focus on the playful interaction between the gecko and the toy lizard.

The image is a black and white photograph featuring a man with a beard and a skull-shaped headband. The man's facial expression is neutral, and he is smiling slightly. The skull headband has a skull design on it, and the man's hair is styled in a manner that suggests it is combed back. The background is a solid gray color, which contrasts with the man's skin tone and hair color, making the subject stand out. There are no visible texts or additional objects in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the man's facial features and the skull headband.

I'm in this weird position where I don't know if it's working and it's real, or it's a meme and i'm wasting my time (which makes me feel like a retard).

I did the letter method, and since then nothing has changed much except my dreams always involve a girl in some way. Only thing is, it's never sexual. We're either fucking around doing stupid dream scenario shit, or we're just talking about dream scenario shit.

Does this even sound like something a succ would do? Or have I just been thinking too much about it, causing me to dream about girls in general?

I swear you people have no idea. These methods are pure shite.

If you want to summon a succubus just jerk off and call her 7 times with cum on your hands and or face.

something like "I wish to offer myself to you succubus, I call you willingly, I offer my sperm, my soul, my lifeforce" and repeat 7 times. You'll feel it alright.

Also understand that it's not a trivial thing you morons.

You didn't MAKE this body, it was gifted to you by someone much more powerful than you for a reason, you're supposed to breed human females, struggle to get them, not give up and go fuck a demon.

That is why you were made, you're not just a random thing. There's a reason your unfuckable, you need to better yourself or die trying.

If you give yourself unearned sexual pleasure you will owe the one that made this body and gave it to you. And they don't take cash.

Pleasure can only be repaid in pain. Gotta balance those scales. Consider yourself warned.

Eat too much -> get fat -> suffer
Drink too much -> get sick -> suffer
Get too much orgasm from succy -> get dead -> wake up in next life as a pig in a very cruel farm. Enjoy.

AND

if by any miracle your actually get a real one, not a tulpa like one like 99% of the guys who succeed and die a few years later of a nasty disease you'll be take to their dimension. That's not a fucking picknic either, I've actually SEEN it. They will fuck you all day long, until your cock is bleeding, until they fuck it to a nub like a used pencil, then they'll install a new one and repeat, over and over and over.

Until you're like them, incapable of distinguishing between pleasure and pain, just addicted to sensation in all its forms. Then you're really really fucked. Because without fear of pain you can't grow no more. Your soul can't progress, there's no stick to beat you back on track.

You soul stays at that level for eternity. You never move past the flesh, not EVER.

I had a succubus at one point. What’s the point? All they do is pervert your thought. They are seemingly innocuous and can make you think you feel better. I do not know how much they drain you, but I think it’s in a way, whatever you give them. Individual cases vary though.

It’s about power and perversion and you all know it. A psychosexual connection to a spirit who does not have your best interest in heart. Do not be deceived. You are jerking off mentally and literally to your own delusions. I’m just posting this so you don’t get trapped. Do what you will. I didnt believe in any of this until recently.about 2 week ago I started noticing an entity in my dreams trying to have sex with me constantly. I would have a dream about running from a train and an epic adventure and some how like almost perpendicular dream intersects and im having sex. Oddly enough I have been able to tell I'm dreaming and thus stop the act. The fact that I can tell is odd in its own and I remember the dream quite clearly.
Then this "succubus" started creeping up in my conscious brain. I notice it somehow like waiting for me to goto sleep.

I don't (want to) think I did anything that'd sadden her, going by the fact that she hasn't been ignoring me when I offered to be there with her till she calmed down. I feel like being open is the best thing. If you are worried you did something that made her sad, but you don't know what exactly it was and she cannot tell you or convey it in a comprehensible manner to you (yet), then just say so and apologize. I don't think this sort of mental disconnect can be remedied in any decent manner except through connection being strengthened over time. Your relationship is up to you, dude.

What, really? I have no clue about any of this stuff or what are the best ways of doing things, or what cool shit this occult knowledge and meditation and power channeling can allow me to do eventually. I just had a real shitty headache one day at the top of my head, nothing could get rid of it, and I remembered that one meditation website. Went to it, did Third Eye and Crown meditations, and the aches went away. Then I figured since I began the road to awakening my chakras, I might as well go all the way and do all the meditations and eventually fully activate them all. That since doing Third Eye I have been able to see my spirit lady as black static, as well as legitimately feel my chakras activating and being in use, is reason enough that the path I'm on is a good one. I'm pacing myself though, because I don't wanna overwhelm myself with all that new sensation and shit - I feel the area right below my belly button (sacral?) aching every now and then, which I chalk up to solar in the process of full activation, like how my chest (heart chakra) used to ache because I was still activating Throat at the time.

I told her multiple times now that when the time comes and I manage to recall dreams to a better degree to the point where lucid dreaming becomes worth it, or I somehow develop astral travel and leaving my body temporarily, I'm going to do four things with her.
1) Hug her and pat her on the head like she always does to me now, since I told her to do that a lot more often all those months ago
2) Get to know her for real, because I still have no changes in regards to sensing her thoughts or emotions transmitting to me, and no clue how her personality is or anything.
3) Fuck her brains out myself instead of letting her do all the work
4) Practice posing together, for obvious reasons

Hopefully things go good. I feel that time will be the best way to improve things right now.

I remember someone posting that succubi were not evil because they could not be exorcized or removed, and were instead healthy for the human soul. It was something written by a Franciscan friar, and placed directly word for word in some book. I hope someone has it saved and can post it for me in this thread

The topic of succubi is a huge mindfuck. They were used to explain why people orgasmed while they're sleeping. This was common among Christfags because they think they'll get raped by Satan if they masturbate. If they exist at all, it sure wouldn't be the worst way die. But what the fuck do I know?

I was having your typical sex dream where this girl was riding me. We're on my bed but there's nothing else around, like literally nothing. After a bit of time of this girl riding me she just kinda goes limp and falls forward on me like a mannequin and starts trying to kiss me but in a weird clumsy fashion. I push her back upright and she falls forward again like she can't hold up her own weight. This happens a third time and I become actually bothered and wake up. I open my eyes and as my eyes are opening the girl is still there but it's like in the dream she had the look of a real person but in my real room it's just this shadow person sitting right on my dick. I flail my arm at whatever the fuck it is and I don't feel anything with my arms but the thing flys backwards as if I've hit it and disappears.

Say what you will, call bullshit etc etc but this actually happened to me.

I understand now, this people may not be so crazy after all. If our brain is just a mass that produce all of what we experience, by doing all this succubi contract shit we can fool our brain to think such a thing like a demon will take our dick and just believe in it. It all happen when we sleep as our brain is less logical and can fake all those feelings.

All our senses are controlled by our brain, if we got a way to make it fake the touch and feeling of a pulsating pussy, all this succubi nonsense would be truly possible.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a character with a mix of features. The character has long blonde hair that cascades down her shoulders, and her eyes are a striking shade of yellow. She wears a brown hat with a wide brim, which is positioned on skeptical but skimmed through a couple of those youtube videos, felt horny because of the waves and the noises but then died down after i realized why i felt that way. went to bed after doing a quick meditiation, basically stating i want to experience a succubus for the purpose of curiousity. woke up middle of the night to drink some pop because thirsty. but felt REALLY weird. i felt like i could fall over, very low energy. i didnt remember my dream.

a bit into one of these videos i felt as if my leg has been wrapped around by some weird energy thing, like a snake or leech. ive done some weird shit before that had to do with meditiation before bed without instructions so kinda worried about playing with fire aspect. i have no idea what im doing.. the other night i did some meditatiing basically recalling past events in my life that to my person alone confirms the existence of paranormal beings. not for you to know but me alone. during the meditation i feel three taps on my forehead where i suppose the third eye is supposed to be. like when your muscles in your leg twitch it was the same but in that location. weird. this stuff is very interesting.

Stop serving these creatures. It's a big wide universe out there. Stay away from these guaranteed evil retarded critters.

Know that nobody is interested in frail humans but a hardcore predators. Nobody looks for humans except to eat them. We are mostly protected here which is why people can hold the belief that these creatures don't exist, but you can make a hole in the fence for them to get in. It's fucking stupid. Don't do it. You are not prepared to deal with creatures of this nature. They can make you think and feel anything and if you are not hardened against it, they will have their way with you.

Don't project your humanity onto them. Think of the worst shit you can do to people, and know that is their joy.

Read Kyle Odom's manifesto and know that he dealt with similar entities. They fucking destroyed him because he was unprepared. He's likely an emotional introvert and they happened upon him by chance. That's an awfully pessimistic stance to take. A potentially infinite universe, but everyone who is not us wants to eat us?
>Kyle Odom
I just read his manifesto. Interesting, to say the least. Though comparing his experiences to mine, there are key differences:
>Succubi don't care about politics.
>Succubi don't care how smart a person is.
>Succubi don't have a physical presence on this earth. (As far as I'm aware.)
>Odom's martians and succubi share the trait of hyper-sexuality, but succubi are not megalomaniacs.
>Incubi can be quite aggressive at times, but can also be reasoned with.
>Succubi and incubi have a sense of humor, unlike Odom's martians.
I found it funny how Odom claimed that his martians were "millions of years" more advanced than us, yet he failed to give a single example of their miraculous technology. Logic would also dictate that a species so far advanced wouldn't take an interest in us. We'd be like single-cell organisms to them.

The image features a stylized illustration of a creature with wings and a circular body. The creature has a light blue coloration and is depicted with a circular, glowing blue center. The wings are white and appear to be in a semi-transparent state, giving the impression of a floating or ethereal presence. The creature's body is also light blue and has a circular outline, which is consistent with the glowing center. The creature's eyes are not visible, and the image does not contain any text. The style of the image is abstract and has a dreamlike quality, with a focus on the glowing center and the ethereal appearance of the wings.

Post by Edeldhur » Thu Apr 11, 2024 1:56 pm

Hey everyone,

I will be joining a Dark Sun game, and I have absolutely no idea what to play.

Rolled ok I guess 13, 16, 14,15, 16, 16, but not sure what to play since it has been YEARS since I played Dark Sun.
I would like to go with something interesting and flavorful, different from a standard fantasy game and more connected with the Dark Sun ambiance.

We already have an Half-Giant Gladiator (of course), a Thri-Kreen Monk/Psionicist and perhaps a Defiler.

I was thinking maybe a Thri-Kreen Druid/Ranger could be a fun and interesting character to play - anyone has any experience with such a character, or advice on how to play it? I like the idea of a strong survival/outdoors themed character, but would also like him to have a little oomph in a scuffle. Would this character be that?

Or maybe an Elf (love Athasian elves) Fighter/Psionicist (Psy Warrior?)? I have always liked gishes, but Fighters seem so... Bland when compared to Gladiators in Dark Sun :/

Any ideas/feedback/advice are welcome!

Looking at those stats, what was your rolling method? And, if your DM is using Character Trees, you might as well make all of them.

However, if you're thinking druid, consider the level the game will get to; a druid gets REALLY constrained after their "time of wandering" has passed, so if the game doesn't support it, they get sidelined.

Since your party is a bit light in the healing department, though, you might consider a cleric and/or psychometabolist healer. If going with psycho healer route, I would suggest multi-classing... while they're good healers, psi-healers are very much one-trick ponies at the start. A Mul Fighter/Psionicist will give you a really good Constitution to pull off those healing proficiencies.

I'll assume you're going with the Mul Fighter/Psionicist. I'm also assuming CompPsi psionics, not S&P.

Stats:
Str 18/xx (16+2)
Dex 15
Con 17 (16+1)
Int 13 (14-1)
Wis 16

Cha 11 (13-2)

Weapon Proficiency: I always suggest finding a Dark Sun specific weapon; one of those that is designed for wood stone and bone, so doesn't have the penalties because you want to use a sword. Singing sticks, from the Complete Gladiator, and a favorite of mine.

NWP: Crystal Focus, Power Manipulation, Rejuvenation. Crystal Focus and Power Manipulation are out of Will and the Way; while the power set-up I have below will let you avoid it for healing, so long as you have a "donor", successful Power Manipulation makes Cell Adjustment a very good power. Crystal focus is practically free to get +1 to your power scores. And Rejuvenation gives you better PSP recovery.

Psionics: (level acquired)
Sciences: Life Draining (1)
Devotions: Lend Health (1), Cell Adjustment (1), Adrenaline Control (1), Conceal Thoughts (2), Contact (2)
Defenses: Mind Blank (1)

I went into Telepathy as your secondary discipline because you don't have another telepath in the group that I can see, and they're hella useful. I also limited myself to CompPsi powers, because I didn't want to flip back and forth.

Thanks for the feedback LibraryOgre!

We went with 4d4+4 x6, so I could have been a tad luckier :/

Seems like the group is needing some sort of 'roguish' capability, so I was pondering some sort of Thief/Psionicist?
Not very familiar with Psionics though - could they complement my thieving abilities, and make me strong enough to melee? Or should I stick with ranged plink plink?

Feels like I will be the weakest link, in a group with an half giant gladiator hitting for a ton with Str21, and two thri-kreens attacking 5x a round each. And me plinking for 2x1d6 per round hahaha.

I am partial to bards, so... why not Bard/Druid or Bard/druid/psionicist or Bard/psionicist? Druid and psionicist for the healing, Bard for the many tricks (dark sun bards dont get arcane spells, but they get all thief skills, at a smaller speed, and poison) and they fight better than thieves also: if any of the two or three classes is psionicist and the dm allows it, make the character a sensei tribal psionicist from the will and the way psionicist kits.

If you are looking at Psionicist/Thief I would go halfling. They are feral and cannibals and pretty interesting

Your Dex would go to 18 for good armour class and saves.

If you go Psychometabolism I would take Shadowform first, IF you take the power manipulation NWP. It will net you your power score roll result on psychometabolic powers. Shadowform not only gives you the good powers of a shadow, it lasts without PsP cost for 1-4 turns per use. You can move behind your enemies without notice for a backstab, and use your psionic abilities whilst in the form.
Cell Adjustment also becomes a 1 PSP for 1HP heal with power manipulation which makes you an AWESOME healer.

And I would take Cause Sleep and Enhance Strength as your other two devotions at first level.

I would go Metapsionics at second level and take receptacle and possibly iron will. Or maybe accelerate instead of iron will, giving you more attacks. It's PSP heavy but with you being able to store double your Psionic Strength it will be better.

With enhanced strength and power manipulation you can get your strength up to 1800.

And at 6th level you can take psychoportation, and then take duo dimension and then dimensional blade, which ignores armour and only counts dexterity and magical protections. So your backstabs are unlikely to miss.

Plus teleport can get you behind enemies too.

I would go ShadowForm, and Cause Sleep, Cell Adjistment and Enhanced Strength at first level with Power Manipulation as a NWP.
Second is Receptacle and Accelerate
Third maybe go Energy Containment or Nerve Manipulation or Animal Affinity as a science, and Iron Will and Wrench or psionic inflation maybe, given it's Dark Sun.
Fourth level maybe go Graft Weapon and Displacement Fifth level I would go one of the other sciences not taken above, or Complete Healing (which with power manipulation means you can completely heal in an hour.
And for a devotion maybe Lend Health
Sixth level is Duo Dimension
Seventh maybe Wormhole and Dimensional Door
8th Stasis Field
9th avoid the science and take Dimensional Blade
10th level take your High science in Elemental Composution and Heightened Senses maybe or Flesh Armour.

You can go any which way with your thief skills, but you can scout in Shadowform pretty well without being noticed and being invulnerable to normal weapons.

However, if you're thinking druid, consider the level the game will get to; a druid gets REALLY constrained after their "time of wandering" has passed, so if the game doesn't support it, they get sidelined.

Since your party is a bit light in the healing department, though, you might consider a cleric and/or psychometabolist healer. I
Note that clerics only get Cure Light Wounds and Elemental Bonding when it comes to restoring hit point damage. All the healing spells are locked up in the Sphere of the Cosmos, which clerics only get minor access to (3rd level or lower spells). Druids are much better healers than clerics. Also note that the Time of Wandering ends at 10th level, at which point druids must spend half their time on their guarded lands. That can still leave plenty of time for adventuring.

As far as psionicists, there are so many different ways of playing them! As I like to say, you can make a psionicist that can do almost anything, but you can't make one that can do almost everything! They are extremely limited in the powers they can take, so it's very rare to find two psionicists that do the same thing. And they're not really that great as healers. Better than someone who only has the Healing NWP, but not a whole lot better. Probably about on par with the elemental clerics, actually.

Not very familiar with Psionics though - could they complement my thieving abilities, and make me strong enough to melee? Or should I stick with ranged plink plink?

Feels like I will be the weakest link, in a group with an half giant gladiator hitting for a ton with Str21, and two thri-kreens attacking 5x a round each. And me plinking for 2x1d6 per round hahaha.
YES they can very well augment your thief skills. Psycho-metabolism is Great for that,

I think a psychometabolist can be an amazing healer. Much better than a cleric or Druid in fact.

With the Power Manipulation NWP Cell Adjustment becomes a 1 PSP for 1 HP heal. Lend health can heal any amount of hit points in one go, as long as the psionicist has the hit points. Complete Healing can heal the psionicist in an hour if Power Manipulation works, and it can be researched to work on others in the same way too. They can regenerate limbs etc, and cure poison with those sciences. And Photosynthesis can heal them in the sun as they wander. Cure Disease is in built to regular Cell Adjustment, and with Absorb Disease and Power Manipulation the psionicist can just destroy the absorbed disease immediately.

Apart from raising the dead they are epic at healing. MUCH better than the 1d8/2d8+1/3d8+3 heals per spell. The psionicist recovers strength points throughout the day, so they can use them again, where as the spells can only be recovered once per day. And the healing is however many hit points you want to heal not “it could be 8 but it could be 1/ it could be 17 but it could be 3” kind of scenario. Apart from the Heal spell, Cure Wounds spells SUCK at healing.

Even a mid level psionicist can complete heal a few people in an hour and then recover some psionic energy to perform other powers later.

I am very much on the fence regarding race. I like the style of both elves and halflings in Dark Sun, and the halfling seems like a perfect design for both Thief and Psionicist (though the Str and Con penalties are a bit harsh - not sure how I will damage anyone :/). One thing that bothers me about being an Halfling Thief though, is the lack of Infravision :/

Thank you Storm11, I like these ideas a LOT. Was planning on going Fighter/Thief/Psionicist, is it worth it?
Also I posted some of my concerns about race on my previous post - any insights?
After taking a better look at how PSPs are calculated, I feel like as an elf with Wis 15 I am being too penalized?

IMO the big diff, is a cleric auto heals. A psi has to BOTH roll his power check AND the power manipulation NWP.

Ok, so this is what I have so far:

Halfling racials +2 Dex +2 Wis -2 Str -1 Con -1 Cha -1)
Rolls: 13, 16, 14, 15, 16, 16
Psionicist Ability Requirements Con 11 Int 12 Wis 15
Thief Ability Requirements Dex 9
Fighter Ability Requirements Str 9

Our starting level is three, and DM says if I go with three classes, I start 2/2/2, so I was thinking:

Halfling Fighter2/Thief2 (perhaps Tunnel Rat to get some Infravision back?)/Psion2 (Considered the possibility of going with Ranger instead of Fighter, but a few things stopped me - one of the members of the group is a Defiler apparently so I am not sure how that would jig with a Ranger, also Fighter allows me early weapon spec to try and do some half-decent damage with thrown weapons)

STR 13-2 = 11
DEX 16+2 = 18
Con 16-1 = 15
Int 14
Wis 16+2 = 18
Cha 15-1 = 14

Weapon Proficiencies (4)
Dagger Specialization (2)
Weapon and Shield (1)
Small Shield Prof (1)
(Hopefully I can throw daggers, and if I am cornered, I can fight with dagger+shield?)

Non-Weapon Proficiencies (3+4)
Power Manipulation (2) Int-4 (I feel like I will have a hard time succeeding at this one)
TBD (suggestions welcome)

Psionics
Rolled Wild Talents
> Astral Projection
> I get to choose one Psychoportive Devotion (Perhaps Dimension Door or Dimensional Walk? Suggestions welcome)

At level 2 I have
2 Disciplines (1+Metapsionics)
1 Science (Psychometabolic > Shadowform)
5 Devotions (4+Receptacle)
1 Defense Mode

PSPs 39 (math check welcome)

(work in progress...)

You can add more NWP points into Power Manipulation to increase it right off the bat. And if your DM uses number of languages as extra NWPs you would have a fair few of them. 7 it looks like. Down to 5 with PM and then add in three to take it up to 13. Rejuvenate is a great one. Tumbling maybe also.

It looks good.

I would be tempted to swap strength and charisma. Making it 13 Str and 12 cha. Less PSPs to boost up your strength to powerful levels with your psionics.

What discipline is going to be your primary one?

39 PSPs is right. But if you take receptacle as a 2nd level devotion you can store another 39 in gems for 78 max. Not bad at second level.

Am not sure you gain much by adding fighter to the mix but if you want it it's all good.

Regarding NWP - There are some Athas specific ones I should probably take. I am trying to prioritize from:
Power Manipulation (2+3)
Heat Protection 1
Bargain 1
Water Find 1
Armor Optimization 1
Weapon Improvisation 1
Tumbling 1
Rejuvenation 1

Total is 12 , so I need to make some hard decisions :P

I have been keeping Charisma slightly higher because I will probably be the 'face' of the group. If I am not, then I might increase Str and actually drop Bargain in the list of priorities. Because I am actually a bit concerned about how I will contribute in a combat situation :/

Primary Discipline I am still not sure (Does it make a mechanical difference which one is the 'primary', or is it just the one I choose first?), need some time to look over the Psionics, haven't touched it in ages. Your suggestions are great though - I am looking for something to boost my scouting potential/utility, and my contribution to combat. Healing in any form would be of course amazing. And I will definitely take Receptacle. NEED those extra 39! :D

I was also thinking - Is there any Psionic attack mode I could use? Like a mental blast kind of thing? That could go a long way in terms of contributing in combat?

Are you using original or revised psionic rules?
If you are using original, I would strongly suggest you be some sort of psionicist. If you are using revised, it doesn't matter as much.
You are not alone among strangers, a way has been chosen.

Halfling Fighter2/Thief2/Psion2
Would your DM allow 1 kit per class? If he would; Tunnel Rat for thief, tribal psionicist for Psionicist and... Myrmidon for fighter? or Wilderness Warrior? (Really fighter kits are the worst)

Revised psionics rules are in The Expanded and Revised (and Ruined!) Dark Sun Setting, published around 1994 or so, and are also found in PO:Skills and Powers. They are deeply terrible. The Will and the Way, on the other hand, is a fantastic expansion of The Complete Psionics Handbook, and I highly recommend it! Well, except for the Harbinger/Construct rules. They're kinda bad, too. But the rest is all good!

Bad news, Receptacle cannot be used because DM will go with the pre-req of Empower (10th level), so :P

Maybe point him to this thread: Which Psionic System?

If he does decide to stick with revised, I'd highly recommend against playing a Awww that’s a shame. The revised rules are awful. In the original rules receptacle has no pre-requisite.

Your primary discipline is the one you need the most psionic powers in. You have to have double the number of devotions to sciences in any power you know, and your primary discipline has to have more powers in sciences and devotions than any other discipline.

There won’t be a Metapsionic discipline to take in the revised rules (which is where you could find both receptacle, and Empower (which you couldn’t take until reaching 10th level).

There’s no point in taking telepathy in the revised rules as you can’t contact a mind subtly in these new rules and you need to wear down all their psionic power before breaking in, and then hope you have enough energy to activate a telepathic power that isn’t an attack. It’s a mess and completely broken.

So it depends on what you want to be able to do. Your power manipulation NWP will only work on your primary discipline powers. Keep that in mind.

If you want to blast things from afar then psychokinesis is the way to go. Scouting and movement it’s psychoportation. (This also has some great attack augmentations like dimensional blade and protections like dimensional screen) The blade can be used on almost any weapon of melee, it gives a +2 to hit and damage, ignores armour, and if the power manipulation works it can score double damage, for example.
And then the psychometabolic for healing and augmenting your combat ability. Like accelerate, for double number of attacks, enhanced strength for increasing your to hit and damage, stuff like that.

Clairsentience can be an excellent second discipline, with things like danger sense, see magic, safe path and such like.

There's a power called concentrate water which creates it from the atmosphere, so that could help. That's a psychokinetic devotion i think. And body equilibrium I think it's the one that lets you survive in hostile environments. And then there's mind over matter, which lets you go days without food and drink.

So lots of powers to play with to help desert survival.

With enhanced strength you could attack in combat with the 18(00) +3 to hit and +6 damage. Dual wielding daggers that could be a pretty good combat damage dealer.

Cause sleep will knock out one critter so it could easily be a great combat addition. And you can activate it each round on a different target. No hit dice restrictions either.

You can also do psionic research to alter your powers, make them less expensive, increase their damage.

It all depends on what you want to play. If you have Astral Projection as a wild talent, and potentially another wild talent from the psychoportive discipline as well is that right? Then that could really be your scouting power. Travelling in spirit form to make out what's ahead is safer and Less dangerous and the cost of astral projection is quite low.

Look at the power score effects of the powers you might want and see how advantageous they are. Like for Shadow form for example, you initiate it, then power manipulation, and for the initial cost not only do you get shadow forms abilities, you also get the beneficial powers of an undead shadow, for between a turn and four turns, with NO maintenance cost. And you can use your psionic powers for attacking in that form also. How little magical weapons are in dark sun your shadow form would be nigh invulnerable as a shadow needs a +1 or better weapon to hit.

If you are adventuring with a defiler and don't mind an evil PC, Death Field and Power Manipulation can be a great combo. For each one hP you lose everyone else loses two if they fail a save.

Double Pain can knock out an opponent for up to a turn without you expending any more PSPs. If it's successful.

The psionic attacks used to be useful on non psionic opponents but I think they aren't in the revised rules. But am unfamiliar with these.

It all depends how you want your psionics to play out. To attack by themselves or augment your other classes attacks.

Keep in mind a triple class will advance super slowly, so you are going to be stuck with the initial powers you have for a fair while.

Yeah in general I am starting to think I should go with something simpler - it has been a long time since I played Dark Sun and toyed around with Psionics. I was trying to fill a niche the group might need while playing something flavorful for the setting,and also trying to find a way to be impactful in a group so strong - it seems everyone is going with the 'optimal' choices (Half-Giant Gladiator has STR21, and now we might actually have THREE Thri-Kreens :|).

But I am feeling a little pigeonholed into a 'standard' Thief role (not that there is anything wrong with Thieves), and that is never nice.

Will have to mull it over. Maybe I just play an Elf Ranger, or a Mul Fighter.

In any case, thanks everyone for the amazing feedback - I am always surprised and humbled by how much great information you can garner from the Community here in the Dragonsfoot Forums. My hat is off to all of you! :D

Ok, so this is what I have so far:

Halfling racials +2 Dex +2 Wis -2 Str -1 Con -1 Cha -1)
Is that dark sun specific, where halflings get a wis boost??
Edeldhur wrote: ↑Fri Apr 12, 2024 8:38 am
Halfling Fighter2/Thief2 (perhaps Tunnel Rat to get some Infravision back?)/Psion2 (Considered the possibility of going with Ranger instead of Fighter, but a few things stopped me - one of the members of the group is a Defiler apparently so I am not sure how that would jig with a Ranger, also Fighter allows me early weapon spec to try and do some half-decent damage with thrown weapons)

STR 13-2 = 11
DEX 16+2 = 18
Con 16-1 = 15
Int 14
Wis 16+2 = 18
Cha 15-1 = 14
Seems decent. Int and Con are going to suck for powers, but with a 18 wis, you at least start out ok for psp's.. AND have the +3/level bonus, so gain 13 points each level you earn.
Edeldhur wrote: ↑Fri Apr 12, 2024 8:38 am
Weapon Proficiencies (4)
Dagger Specialization (2)
Weapon and Shield (1)
Small Shield Prof (1)
(Hopefully I can throw daggers, and if I am cornered, I can fight with dagger+shield?)
Check with the DM to see if a multi-thief, can have shields.. AND IF hes allowing multi-fighters, to specialize. IF SO, that looks decent.
Edeldhur wrote: ↑Fri Apr 12, 2024 8:38 am
Non-Weapon Proficiencies (3+4)
Power Manipulation (2) Int-4 (I feel like I will have a hard time succeeding at this one)
TBD (suggestions welcome)
IF you wish, boost it by placing Additional NWP slots into it. Add to that, rejuvenation and Harness subconscious are always needed.

Psionics
Rolled Wild Talents
> Astral Projection
> I get to choose one Psychoportive Devotion (Perhaps Dimension Door or Dimensional Walk? Suggestions welcome)
So the DM let you roll wild psi ON TOP of being a psionic class?? Strange.
Edeldhur wrote: ↑Fri Apr 12, 2024 8:38 am
At level 2 I have
2 Disciplines (1+Metapsionics)
1 Science (Psychometabolic > Shadowform)
5 Devotions (4+Receptacle)
1 Defense Mode
PSPs 39 (math check welcome)

(work in progress...)
For the four other devotions. Cell adjust. Displace self. Cause sleep.
Storm11 wrote: ↑Fri Apr 12, 2024 8:53 am
Am not sure you gain much by adding fighter to the mix but if you want it it’s all good.

Depending on hr's the DM is using, it may allow him to use shields (and thus the weapon/shield style) AND possibly even weapon spec..
Edeldhur wrote: ↑Fri Apr 12, 2024 8:38 am
Regarding NWP - There are some Athas specific ones I should probably take. I am trying to prioritize from:
Power Manipulation (2+3)
Heat Protection 1
Bargain 1
Water Find 1
Armor Optimization 1
Weapon Improvisation 1
Rejuvenation 1

Total is 12 , so I need to make some hard decisions :P
Heat protection, weapon and armor optimisation i'd get rid of. Rejuvenation and Tumbling imo are MUST haves.

Primary Discipline I am still not sure (Does it make a mechanical difference which one is the 'primary', or is it just the one I choose first?), need some time to look over the Psionics, haven't touched it in ages. Your suggestions are great though - I am looking for something to boost my scouting potential/utility, and my contribution to combat. Healing in any form would be of course amazing. And I will definitely take Receptacle. NEED those extra 39! :D
YES it does.
A) It limits what powers you can have elsewhere as you NEED To have more sciences and devotions in your Primary discipline, than any other.
B) Power manip (and iirc even a few metapsionic powers) Are limited to BOOSTING Your primary discipline.
Edeldhur wrote: ↑Fri Apr 12, 2024 8:38 am
I was also thinking - Is there any Psionic attack mode I could use? Like a mental blast kind of thing? That could go a long way in terms of contributing in combat?
Not with no Telepathic powers. BUT check out Storm's CJ for how useful he's made the "Cause sleep" power.
Code: Select all

Cause Sleep
Power score Wis-2
Initial cost 9psp
Maintenance cost 2/round
Range 20 yards
Preparation time 0
Area of effect 1 creature.
Prerequisites none

A psionicist with this power can cause other people to fall asleep by manipulating their body's natural rhythms. The victim receives a normal saving throw to avoid the effect, and if an Elf, it must also pass their “Sleep” resistance. This save is against spells. If the victim fails, they fall asleep until awakened by throwing water in the face, injury, or the psionicist fails to pay the maintenance cost.

Note this power will NOT work on undead, even intelligent ones, animated creatures, or beings from Any other plane of existence.
The psionicist has a -2 penalty to his power check if his intended victim has a reason to be “exceptionally awake” such as a guard on duty. He also suffers a -2 penalty if his victim is a monster of some kind. Thri-kreen and other insects can be placed into a temporary state of torpor with this power, but the psionicist suffers a -4 to his power check.
Power score: The victim does not remember being put to sleep, and may continue to stay sleeping naturally after the psionicist stops paying the maintenance cost.
20: The psionicist falls asleep himself, for 2d6 rounds, or until someone wakes him.
Edeldhur wrote: ↑Fri Apr 12, 2024 12:59 pm
Bad news, Receptacle cannot be used because DM will go with the pre-req of Empower (10th level), so :P
In that case, make Telepathy your secondary discipline, just to get one psionic attack mode.. I LOVE Ego whip.

Well, what character do you want to play? And are you using character-trees? In most Dark-Sun games I've played, my character usually ends up dying, which leads me to take more risks, which, is probably the reason they die. I just make whatever I want to play (the last one, was a Halfling, "Cook", (thief)).

I agree with Paxferro. Play what you want and don't min/max or "fill a need." It sounds like the players are trying to min/max the heck out the game. Three Thri-Kreen? Might as well play a Thri-Kreen themed game at this point.

Would your DM allow 1 kit per class? If he would; Tunnel Rat for thief, tribal psionicist for Psionicist and... Myrmidon for fighter? or Wilderness Warrior? (Really fighter kits are the worst)
Unless you are playing Al Qadim, kits are explicitly one per PC.

Tribal Psionicists get a Wild Talent as normal, rolled after you've selected your starting psionic powers. Ask you DM how he's going to handle the Defense Mode limitation. In CPsiHB, psionicists gain defense modes automatically as they level (except for the Tribal Psionicist kit). In Revised, psionicists gain attack modes as they level, instead. But since using a defense mode in Revised actually makes things better for your attacker, you're better off never using one, so it doesn't matter anyway. And again, the attack modes do more damage to the attacker than the defender, so you shouldn't bother with them, either.

I was wondering where Gnomish was getting the idea of a kit for each class in a multi-class character from.

Could be a competitive-game: We had a few players that always needed to win against each other, the point, one time, they rolled d20s just to see who could get a higher-roll.

Is It Normal To See Entities? How Do I Overcome Fear?

Posted on November 5, 2025 by Xanth

Yes, it's "normal" to experience entities while projecting, but it's important to realize what they are and what they represent.

These entities are beliefs and aspects of your subconscious mind becoming interactable in an effort for your subconscious mind to teach you lessons about yourself. You're essentially scaring yourself with your own worst subconscious fears in an effort to rid yourself of them. You feel fear because you believe there is a chance that you can be hurt by them.

Well, that's simply not the case. You have experienced the non-physical every single night of your life and you've always woken up perfectly fine the next morning. You're projecting within Consciousness. Everything, including this physical reality, exists within that framework. Everything is part of the whole of consciousness. That includes these entities. There is only the whole of consciousness – why would consciousness want to hurt itself like that? It makes no sense.

It would be like your left hand (you) trying to harm your right ear (entity). Both your hand and your ear are part of you (the whole). You'd be hurting yourself.

So how do you overcome this? Just realize the truth – that you are in absolutely no danger what-so-ever. If you're currently experiencing entities and you feel you are in danger – that's because you BELIEVE you're in danger. As I said, you've projected each and every night of your life and you've always woken up perfectly safe the next day.

That red-eyed monster you're running into constantly isn't there because it's actually there – it's there because you have a subconscious issue you need to deal with relating to it. So gather your strength, realize you're not going to be hurt by whatever it does, and inspect it with curiosity instead. Shed light on it – do so literally if you need to.

Love is always greater than Fear. Curiosity is a much better state of mind to be in than being scared. Being fearful will keep you from projecting.

How To Deal With Distractions

Posted on October 29, 2025 by Xanth

We've all sat or laid down to meditate or practice our projections and as you're practicing your body keeps tossing all these distractions at you. You might get an itch or get a feeling like you need to move your legs, or you just need to swallow. These are all perfectly normal, but how you deal with them can mean the difference between just lying there for ages or projecting and exploring consciousness.

First, don't make a huge production of any distraction. Just quietly and slowly take care of it. If you need to scratch an itch, don't sit there and fight it. Nine times out of Ten you will fail and then you'll be disappointed. If you need to swallow, do so. For that, you can actually help prevent that from becoming a problem by only drinking water up until an hour or two before your practice session. Stay away from sodas and other drinks which might cause more saliva to build up than normal. If you need to move a leg, perhaps think about stretching a bit before you begin practicing.

A lot of people have issues with their eyes. They feel strange or they might start opening on their own. In both cases a good stretching of your eyes can really help relax everything. Circle them around to all extremes as comfortably as possible. Close them tightly and open them wide. Give them a good rub. Then do that cycle a couple more times. They shouldn't be an issue anymore.

Remember, it's very important that if you're dealing with any of these distractions while you're in the middle of practicing, then don't freak out. Stay calm and cool. You shouldn't lose too much of your focus. Eventually, the goal should be to be able to get up, go to the bathroom, then return to your practice without breaking your focus too much. That's the kind of relaxation and quiet, slowness you need when doing this.

Good luck!

Did I Just Have an OBE, a Lucid Dream, or an Astral Projection?
Posted on October 24, 2025 by Xanth
Well, actually none of those labels fit, because none of those labels are objective experiences within consciousness. You've never had a "dream" in your life. You've never had an "OBE" in your life. You've never had a "lucid dream" in your life. You've never had an "astral projection" in your life.

Then you might ask, "But, Xanth!! I've had dreams many times!" – NO, you've had what you thought were dreams based upon the pseudoscience of what you believe dreams to be. You've never had one.

So then what are dreams?

When you fall asleep at night and "dream", what you're actually doing is projecting your awareness (that thing which is the real you, which is currently projecting into this physical reality towards your physical body) from this physical reality to the non-physical. You're doing this unknowingly. That's all. That's called a non-physical dream awareness experience. Very straightforward. You experience the non-physical, you just don't know it. All of that experience is being driven 100% by your subconscious mind.

During that non-physical dream awareness experience, you stop for a second, while you're flying around and you realize, "Hey, wait a minute… I can't fly! I must be dreaming!!" It's at that point you've gained some more awareness. Your conscious mind has been kindled a bit and is starting to ask questions and that is starting to push your subconscious mind aside – you're now having a non-physical lucid awareness experience. You are now consciously operating non-physically through your subconscious mind. That's what makes the non-physical so malleable and responsive to your thoughts during non-physical lucid awareness experiences. At this point, you still might not remember who you truly are, you're still going along with the scene a bit, but you know, like, you can fly now and you can go anywhere you want.

So you're now lucidly aware while non-physical. You still don't have that full waking awareness, that sense of knowing who you are and what you are (ie: a human sleeping in their bed with all the memories of who you are in place). So you stop for a second and start to question where are you right now? How did you get where you currently are? Where are you currently going? Stopping and placing your entire awareness upon these questions brings forth (as long as you're successful) your full waking awareness. You are now experiencing the non-physical with your full waking awareness, that is a non-physical astral awareness experience. You've now successfully pushed aside your subconscious mind and are experiencing the non-physical with the same level of awareness which you have during your normal physical daily life. THAT is what "astral projection" is. Now, unlike when you were lucidly aware, you will now find it much harder to manipulate the environment around you. Exactly as you can't manipulate the environment while you're physically awake. Your conscious mind is in full control and you've pushed your subconscious mind back into the background.

Each of these levels (dream awareness, lucid awareness & astral awareness) all feel completely different and separate from each other. This is why people misinterpret their experiences as taking place in different "places". They don't, they're all taking place in the "non-physical", the only thing which separates all these experiences is YOU and how aware you are.

So now how does this relate back to this physical reality experience? Well, remember, you are a bit of consciousness called an awareness. That awareness projects into this physical reality towards your physical body. That means that this physical reality is nothing more than one of the infinite number of realities out there within consciousness. Which also means that those different levels of awareness also apply HERE to your "waking" physical life. Your normal operating awareness here while you're physically awake is one of an "astral awareness". It's your normal operating "waking awareness".

Have you ever drank a bit too much one night and can't remember what you did that evening? Well, you essentially drank yourself into a "dream awareness". There are many other correlations between the physical experiences and non-physical experiences, because it's all just experience within consciousness.

So the question isn't what kind of experience did I have, it's what state of awareness do you have during those experiences. Projection isn't what you do or where you go, it's a state of mind that you ARE.

Are You Actually "Exiting" Your Body?
Posted on October 17, 2025 by Xanth
There is a direct answer to this question – no.

You're not exactly a spirit in a body. It's more that your awareness, which is part and parcel, part of consciousness as a whole, is focused towards this physical reality and your specific physical body.

If you've ever read Robert Monroe's third and final book, "Ultimate Journeys", you'd know that in that book he shares the discovery he made regarding what he calls "Phasing". This is a concept further investigated by Frank Kepple.

The concept of Phasing is one of smoothly transitioning your awareness from this physical reality to a non-physical reality, with little to no break in awareness.

What this proves is that "exiting" your body simply isn't a thing. It's just another belief based experience, like the silver cord, which one sheds along their journey of projection.

It's about learning that you aren't a physical being at all.

How does this knowledge help us with learning to project? Well, if you don't have to crawl out of a body, then you can mow shift your perception to a truth instead of just a belief.

So why do people feel like they get "stuck" whole trying to "exit"? Who knows. At the point you're separating, you're literally already non-physical. You're a non-physical awareness trying to climb your way out of a non-physical representation of your physical body. Sounds silly, right?

So instead, just stop whatever you're doing, forget that you're stuck (because you're not), then close your eyes and start to visualize whatever it is you want to do or go.

You will find yourself there. 👍

The Nature of You and This Physical Reality

Posted on October 17, 2025 by Xanth
You are a bit of consciousness called an awareness. That awareness projects to this physical reality towards your physical body. When you fall asleep at night that awareness projects to the non-physical. We humans incorrectly call that act dreaming.

Your entire existence is a projection. Every moment you're experiencing anything is a projection. Be it fully awake or fast asleep.

"We incorrectly call that dreaming".

Basically, you've actually never had a dream in your entire life – not a single person or being haa. What you've mistakenly called a dream is actually a projection into the non-physical, but your awareness is at what I call a "dream awareness" level. Essentially, this means that your subconscious mind is in full control of the experience.

The moment you gain the knowledge that you are experiencing the non-physical, you've now bumped up your awareness to a "lucid awareness" level. This means that your conscious mind has some control, but is acting through your subconscious mind.

The moment when you have the same awareness as you do while awake, called your waking awareness, you've now further bumped up to the "astral awareness" level. You are now fully aware while being non-physical. This is your conscious mind being in full control, and your subconscious mind has receded completely. This is also your normal state of being when you are physically awake.

Each of these levels come with very different feelings and experiences. The more you go through the levels, the more clarity you have.

So this physical reality is nothing more than one of the infinite number of realities out there within consciousness. We have just been lucky enough to be born into this reality in order to more intimately experience it.

You are everything and everything is you. This is why things like demons and such simply don't exist outside of your own subconscious mind.

Consciousness is like an ocean. You are a wave that arises from that ocean, exists for a short time, then returns to the ocean.

What is Astral Projection?
Posted on January 3, 2025 by Xanth
I cannot answer this question without first answering the question, "What is this physical reality?", because the answers are so interconnected.

I tell you people this: You are a bit of consciousness called an “awareness”. That awareness projects towards this physical reality, towards your physical body. You are – literally – consciousness projecting.

When you fall asleep at night, that awareness then projects to “somewhere else”. I usually call this “somewhere else” the non-physical. We humans incorrectly call that act “dreaming”. It’s not, it’s simply you projecting your awareness to the non-physical, yet doing so unaware – I call it having a “dream awareness”.

So then what is “Astral Projection”?

When most people say they want to experience an Astral Projection, what they’re unknowingly actually saying is that they want to experience the “non-physical”, but with the same awareness they have during their waking life. I call that your “waking awareness”. It’s the knowledge of who you are, what you are, with all of your physical life memories intact. When you are non-physical AND you have your full waking awareness, then you have what I call an “astral awareness”.

So, Astral Projection is then experiencing the non-physical with an astral awareness.

Well then, so what is a Lucid Dream?

What most people call a “lucid dream” is an experience in the non-physical, but the only thing you know is that you are non-physical. This is you having a “lucid awareness”.

EVERYTHING is a projection. How it’s labeled isn’t based upon some subjective experience of where you think you are – it’s based upon how much awareness you have in relation to your waking, physical life.

Furthermore, the level of your awareness is directly related to the amount of subconscious control your experience has.

With a dream awareness, your subconscious mind is 100% in control of your experience. Your subconscious mind is completely driving your experience and since you don’t know any better, you’re just going along with whatever is happening.

With a lucid awareness, your conscious mind has now come into the picture a bit. This seems to be why you can control and manipulate what is going on around you. You are semi-directing what your subconscious mind is generating.

With an astral awareness, your conscious mind is now in 100% complete control. Your subconscious mind has been pushed to the back burner, sort to speak. You can interact with consciousness on a more complex level.

Does this make sense?

Sleep Paralysis – What do I do!?
Posted on May 10, 2022 by Xanth
One of the most asked questions I see is in regards to Sleep Paralysis (SP). People tend to get stuck at this point.

First, there's the fear factor – this is a completely self-created aspect of it. The first thing you need to do is to realize that any "scary" thing you're currently experiencing while in SP is being completely driven by your own mind. So the next thing to do is to ground and center yourself – gain control over your experience. Stay calm and relaxed, perhaps also think about something positive.

Next, realize that when you're experiencing SP you're ALREADY projecting. If somebody was to look at your physical body while you're in sleep paralysis, they would just see you sleeping peacefully – or, depending on what you're experiencing, it might look like you're having a nightmare.

Before all this happens, before you even go to sleep (especially is SP is something you experience often), have a goal set in your mind for what you want to achieve during a projection. Then, once you find yourself in SP, ground and center yourself and think of positive things, then shift your focus away from the paralysis part (because, honestly, that's the most scary part of this) and focus ENTIRELY upon your goal for projecting. It could be something like experiencing a new reality, or perhaps you want to speak with your spirit guides, or view your akashic records. The idea of focusing on this goal is that you're setting your mind to something BEYOND the paralysis part.

Think about how you do things in this physical reality while you're awake… say you're sitting on the couch watching tv and you become thirsty. You don't think about every small action it takes for you to quench that thirst… you just get up, go to the kitchen and grab something to drink. You're thinking about the end goal more than anything, your body just makes it happen.

Well the same holds true in your projections too. We can use this knowledge now to get past your sleep paralysis and back to exploring reality. Enjoy!

Astral Academy is Open on Reddit!
Posted on April 29, 2022 by Xanth
It's been a while! 2016 was my last post here – I'm really out of sorts! If you're new here, welcome! If you've been here before welcome back!! 🙂

In an effort to double down on teaching as many people as I can about how to project and explore the wider reality for yourselves, I have created my own sub on reddit.

https://www.reddit.com/r/AstralAcademy/

Please come join me there – I will continue to update this website though! I find it's a more direct route to helping people!

Come over and post a question! I'm sure I can help!

Post Focus! Throat Chakra and Astral Projection!
Posted on July 16, 2016 by Xanth
http://www.astralpulse.com/forums/welcome_to_astral_projection_experiences/question_about_the_throat_chakra-t46700.0.html;msg362781#msg362781

Referencing the above post, someone asked the following about their Throat Chakra and Astral Projecting:

So I've been learning to astral project and I can tell that I am almost there. I have had some of the various physical sensations like vibrations and buzzing and have seen shadows of images flashing behind my eyelids. But I'm pretty sure that my throat chakra is holding me back, it's been blocked my entire life and I think I can tell because I have man of the physical symptoms that tend to be associated with it. Recently I have been doing a lot of work to try to strengthen and open that chakra along with the other six, when I get to the point in my meditation where I'm starting to astral project I feel a huge lump in my throat that makes it almost hard to breathe and I start salivating more than normal. Any physical movement like swallowing makes it go away. I've been working on mentally focusing on not doing anything that would disturb that sensation because I'm thinking that it is a sign that the chakra is opening.

Has anyone else had this experience and if so can anyone help me understand what is happening and what I should do?

Thank you all.

My response:

From your post… I can tell you this:

You have no issues with your throat chakra.
You BELIEVE you have issues with your throat chakra, and that belief is all that's holding you back.

You're well-spoke and communicate effectively. You have no issues with your throat chakra.

With that said, stop worrying so much about stuff like needing to swallow. Just do it. Do you worry this much when you fall asleep at night? Probably not. You just lie down and fall asleep. Well, projecting isn't any different. You lie down and "just project". If you need to scratch an itch, do it. If you need to swallow, do it. Do it calmly and gently so you don't break yourself too much out of your state of mind, but just do it.

I can meditate, get really deep and into it… then, UH OH! I have to go to bathroom… It's not a problem. You open your eyes, calmly and quietly get up, calmly and quietly go to the bathroom, do your stuff… then go and sit back down. This act of getting up shouldn't completely break your focus.

If a simple movement such as "swallowing" is breaking your focus, then you're worrying too much.

Just relax.

Astral Projection – What do to with the Vibrations?
Posted on February 18, 2016 by Xanth
How about this… ignore them! For the most part.
Acknowledge them only in the most minor way "Oh hey, vibrations, great…" then just continue doing what you were doing before they occurred.

Let me explain. Vibrations should ONLY ever be considered a signpost experience/sensation. They are one of those sensations you will experience during your practices which tell you that you're on the right path. Basically, they're a signpost that reads, "Keep doing what you're doing, because you're doing it right!!".

However, what most people (especially new people) end up doing is the COMPLETE OPPOSITE!!! They end up stopping the method/exercise they were doing which CAUSED the vibrations in the first place and then focus entirely on the vibrations instead of what they were doing!! It's like they're walking happily down their path towards Astral Projection, then someone pokes then with a vibrating stick and then walk off the path in order to investigate that stick. Well, you've just stopped walking towards projecting. Understand?

So, the signpost DOES NOT read, "Stop what you're doing and focus completely on me!" …there's no better way to KILL your experience than to stop what you were doing to focus on the vibrations.

When you experience those vibrations, they're only telling you that you're doing things right. That's it. Just give them a mental nod and continue walking calmly down the path you're on. You now know you're on the correct path, BUT you still need to continue walking down that path if you're to actually project. So, in order to continue walking down that path… just keep doing what you were doing which brought on the vibrations in the first place.

You're so close.

How to Access The Akashic Records or Contact Your Spirit Guides
Posted on December 23, 2015 by Xanth
What most people have to realize is that the "akashic records" isn't a place… it actually isn't any "THING" at all. It's not a "place" which you "go to". It's more akin to a huge database which collects and records data. Consider it a record of everything that HAS happened and everything that COULD HAVE happened… along with a potential for anything that COULD happen in the future. But mostly the first two things, because those are the more concrete things which can be recorded.

First off, remember… everything is consciousness… and that means YOU ARE PART OF CONSCIOUSNESS TOO! As such, this means that you always, at anytime, have direct access (although it might not seem that way at times) to it. All you need to do is learn to listen to it.

Through our non-physical experiences (what humans subjectively call a "dream", "lucid dream" or "astral projection", or any of the various other labels we use -> because, meh, they're all the same thing anyway) we have more direct access to this information. While we're experiencing this physical reality, we DO have direct access to it as well, but it's only accessible through the same filters which our consciousness currently experiences this physical reality through. Meaning, you have to put up with all the interpretations and snap judgments your consciousness makes on a secondly basis. So, how do you go about to do this?

FIRST, you meditate… focus your mind. Unless, that is, you're a person who is always in a focused state of mind… then you can kind of just shift your attention towards that focus.
But let's face it, most people are absent minded these days. So, meditate… focus your mind for a few minutes… push away as much physical-ness from your awareness as you can. THEN, ask your question. Say it out loud… think it… do whatever you want… just make sure the Intent behind your question is strong and with a powerful purpose. THEN, sit back and wait for an answer.

This is the most important part of this process… your answer will most likely NOT be something verbal. Don't get me wrong, it COULD come to you in a neatly verbal reply which you "hear", but it probably won't. As such, you need to listen intently to your body.

The answer could come as a change in temperature… a breeze… it could be in the form of a memory popping into your mind… the point here being, remain COMPLETELY OPEN to HOW the answer comes to you. Don't judge it, don't analyze it, just accept it into yourself, however it comes.

That's how you access this stuff while "physical". This can be used to do more than just gaining access to the Akashic Records, or contacting your Spirit Guides… you can do anything you want with this really. Speak with your Higher Self, talk to other people's Higher Selves… contact animal guides… your subconscious… anything. Keep in mind though, that all of those things are, pretty much, the same thing anyway.

Enjoy!

Perception Creates Your Reality
Posted on October 24, 2015 by Xanth
This is a great illustration of how your Perception creates your reality. And it doesn't just happen here physically…

When experiencing the non-physical, WHAT you experience is OBJECTIVE, HOW you experience it is SUBJECTIVE.
The shape in the middle bottom of the image represents what your non-physical experience ACTUALLY is… the two shapes on the end represent how you INTERPRETED the experience.
You can have two separate consciousnesses experience the same middle image, yet their interpretation of that experience could really end up in two completely different ways.

WHAT you experience is OBJECTIVE (the middle shape), HOW you experience it is SUBJECTIVE.

Is Astral Projection Just a Form of Lucid Dreaming?
Posted on September 3, 2015 by Xanth
A member of the Astral Pulse recently asked "Is Astral Projection just a form of lucid dreaming?".

Well, to answer this question, we need to ask three separate questions which are all intricately linked and yet also not linked at all.

Here are the THREE very important questions that need to be asked.

1. What is “dreaming”?
2. What is “lucid dreaming”?
3. What is “astral projection”?

Now, I have been studying this stuff for a while and at one point, I focused almost exclusively on the first question in order to answer the second and third question. So began my journey to figure out what we humans (aka: science) know about “dreaming” began.

What is Dreaming? I very quickly hit a roadblock when researching this question. What did I learn? I learned that humanity, LITERALLY, has absolutely no idea what “dreaming” is. We haven’t a clue. We have scientists who have provided educated guesses, but not a single human lives today or has ever lived who has been able to answer that question.

So… that kills question #1. The answer: We humans don’t know what “dreaming” is.

Question #2 and #3 are kind of unanswerable because we don’t know the answer to question #1.

So when you ask “is astral projection just a form of lucid dreaming?”, do you realize what you’re REALLY asking here?
You’re asking “is some random label of something we have absolutely no idea about, just a form of another random label of something we have absolutely no idea about?”. Most people love to compare dreaming to lucid dreaming and to astral projection, but you can’t do this. It makes no logical sense because if you don’t know what “dreams” are, then you can’t use it as a basis of comparison to anything else.

Funny, eh?

Now, I can answer #1, #2, AND #3. However, I can only answer it from my own personal experience of the non-physical… I’m not saying the answer is right, but I am saying that it comes from my own personal experience. I wrote the following article a few years ago to better explain:
http://www.unlimitedboundaries.ca/2012/07/22/labeling-experiences-of-the-non-physical/

Please read that article, and enjoy.

Why Astral Projections Feel “More Real” Than Physical Waking Life

Posted on January 28, 2015 by Xanth
Some people, especially individuals new to Projection, upon having their first Projection proclaim that it was “more real” than their usual physical reality experience. Let me try to explain how this sensation works.

If you really think about it for a second, saying that something is “more real” is a strange comparison to make with something else. If something is “real” then how can something else be “more” real? It’s either real or not real. It’s one of those statements that has no gray area. It’s very black and white, on or off, 1 or 0. The better way to describe these experiences is that when compared to your physical reality perception they are simply “different”. Why are they different? Because while you’re physically awake you’re experiencing this reality through the filters (5 senses) of your physical body.

When you’re projecting, you’re not using those 5 physical senses. Now, understand, for your ENTIRE LIFE up until now, you’ve been using those 5 physical body senses and they have formed your entire reality for as long as you can remember. You’ve become entirely used to how your physical body feels when experiencing this physical reality. So what’s different about it when you’re projecting? While projecting, for the first time in your experience, you’re using “other” senses/perceptions to experience the reality through.

So, what’s going on is that you’re experiencing a reality with different filters on, perhaps even LESS filters than you’re normally (physically) used to. This is why a Projection FEELS so “different”.

Let me try to put it another way. Have you ever bought a brand new pair of shoes? The first time you slip those shoes on, they feel very strange on your feet. Don’t they? They feel completely different because they’re filtering what your feet are feeling compared to your old shoes which were very familiar to you. It doesn’t make them any more or less “real”, it just makes your perception of them “different”. This “different” perception is all that’s occurring when you’re projecting. I’ve found that the “different” perception is also directly tied to “how aware” you are compared to your waking self. The more aware you are the “more real” people tend to describe their experiences.

I hope that helps a bit with understanding your experiences.

Astral Projection – Do Individual & Collective Areas of Consciousness Exist?
Posted on January 23, 2015 by Xanth
There are these non-physical concepts floating around that there are these “areas” of consciousness which are “individual” in nature, meaning it’s only you there experiencing it and “collective” in nature, meaning that it’s you experiencing the reality with many other individuals/awarenesses/entities/beings/etc. When you look at consciousness as a whole, you realize that this kind of separation is simply illogical. Allow me to explain.

By the very nature that everything is consciousness – everything is collective. There is only “everything”. The simple fact is that the individualness you experience on a daily basis (the idea that you are separate from everyone else) is an illusion. So when people have a projection and they seem to be in a reality all by themselves, or they have what they will arbitrarily label as a lucid dream, they come to the conclusion that they were within some individual area of consciousness which is only for them and them alone.

There’s only your perception of individual and collective experiences. The difference is like standing in a crowded room with a blindfold that blocks all light from your eyes and ear plugs that block all noise from your ears and then making the, obviously plain as day assumption that you’re all alone. Your perception says that since you can’t see or hear anyone else that you were all by yourself, even though standing all around you are these other individuals. That’s how the non-physical / consciousness kind of works.

You’re never alone. You only perceive yourself to be because that how you’re currently interpreting the reality that you’re experiencing. Someone / something could be standing right in front of you and you’d never see them because you just don’t perceive them.

This is also what I mean when I say that WHAT you experience is Objective, but HOW you experience it is Subjective. So how do you experience something closer to how it’s Objectively presented? You need to keep yourself grounded and centered. This will remove as much subjectiveness as possible which is being fueled by your own awareness. Even then, if you’re able to do that, you still might not ever experience something 100% objective as it’s really presented.

How to Design your own Effective Astral Projection Technique
Posted on January 21, 2015 by Xanth
How can you design your own, more effective Projection method? I’ll explain and hopefully walk you through the process.

I had posted a while back a PDF which had something like 100 different methods for achieving a Projection in it. Well, yes, there were 100 different methods, however they were ALL a variation of one single method. Nice, eh?

When you understand that every single projection method out there is simply a variation on a theme, you can then begin to understand how to fashion your own method OR find one that has already been written which will work best for you.

What you need to find is your “Focus”. This is the thing that you’ll be focusing your attention on to the exclusion of everything else. You’re basically going to make this one thing the point of your focus so that everything else around you, everything physical drops away. This is when the Projection-reflex occurs.

First, let's talk about a couple methods and I'll explain what their "Focus" is and why they work.

I'll start with the famous "Rope Method". As you're lying down, you imagine a rope hanging down above you around your chest level. The point of it is to take your imaginary hands (astral hands), reach up with them, grab the rope and pull. This act should eventually cause you to Project.

So what's really going on here? Is the pulling on this imagination rope really "loosening your astral body" (as others would suggest)? Metaphorically, yes. Realistically, no. The act of using your imagination to create these hands which reach out, grab and pull on this imagination rope is the FOCUS of this particular method. You are essentially using this visualization as your focus, which when you do this to the exclusion of everything else going on around you causes the Projection-reflex to trigger.

Ok, the next one we'll look at is my own Noticing Exercise which I provide in my free book "My Astral Projection Truth: What is Astral Projection and How To Do It". In the Noticing Exercise you lie down, close your eye"http://dl.dropbox.com/u/39504726/Phasing_Primer.pdfs and then just look out into the blackness caused by closing your eyes. At that point, you're to draw your attention towards any "changes" you see happening in that blackness. Allow your attention to draw towards anything, however minute it may seem. When you begin to see changes occur, move your attention towards it more and more, investigate it as deeply as you can.

So what's really going on with this exercise? The act of bringing your awareness towards the changes going on within the blackness is the FOCUS for this. When you do this exercise and you focus on those changes to the exclusion of everything physical around you, you will trigger the Projection-reflex.

Give me any AP/OBE/LD/etc method/techniques/exercise and I'll let you know what the Focus of that technique is. The only exception is that this Focus stuff only relates to methods/techniques/exercises where the goal is a Projection from a fully conscious, awakened state.

If you can find a good Focus that will work for you, then it'll keep your awareness engaged. The Focus can, literally, be anything you want. It can even be something on or about your physical body. Some people would say that's an issue because it would keep your focus on your physical body. It's not an issue as long as you can use that Focus in an effort to push everything else physical away from your awareness. The goal is to remove your awareness from this physical reality. Or another way to put it is that you're looking to make it so that your five physical reality senses are no longer "processing" input from your environment.

So what should your Focus be? As I said, it can be anything you want as long as it's engaging and it can hold your attention for extended periods of time. We've already discussed how the Rope Method and the Noticing Exercise work and what their Focus is. Try to pick something that's of interest to you. For myself, I (used to) train in Yoshinkan Aikido, so I would visualize myself doing that martial art. I'd visualize myself doing the movements, feeling everything as I would if I was really practicing it. It worked great as it's something I enjoyed doing, so it would hold my attention. What I would find is that as I was doing this visualization, I'd find myself in a dojo actually practicing it, like I was physically there standing on the mats in the middle of whatever technique I was performing at the time. That's Projection.

You could use something Visual. I've seen people use a candle flame. You stare into a real, physically lit candle until the point when you close your eyes you can see an afterimage of the flame. Then you focus on that afterimage. You could also use something making sound. If you have a fan going, you can focus on the sound of the fan makes. You can even do an open eyed Focus where you focus on something across the room, say a teddy bear on a shelf. As you focus on it to the exclusion of all else going on, allow your eyes to fall shut. Eventually, if you're focused enough on it, you'll trigger the Projection-reflex.

You can use full visualizations like I suggest in the Mental Rundown exercises from my book. If you can engage all of your senses within a scene you create, then that too is a great Focus with which to trigger the Projection-reflex. For that, I like to take walks down at the local beach front. Very relaxing to me. Although, you could also do anything you want. Do you enjoy canoe trips? Do a visualization where you ride in a canoe down a river. This kind of visualization works best when you use a memory of something you've already done. This allows your Focus to be created very strongly, because you don't have to guess what something feels like.

A more basic example of this is visualizing yourself in an elevator going up and down. If you use a Mental Rundown like this as your Focus, then try to make sure there's some sort of incorporation of "movement" in it. I find that helps greatly in triggering the Projection-Reflex.

Anyway, that's about it for now! Feel free to PM me on the forums, email me, or drop a comment here if you wish to discuss what Focus works best for you. I'm more than happy to help you come up with something!

Societal Intent
Posted on November 14, 2014 by Xanth
This article was posted today on the Toronto Star, I wanted to comment on it.

http://www.thestar.com/opinion/public_editor/2014/11/14/the_incivility_of_online_comments_public_editor.html

I've mentioned some of this before, but it never hurts to repeat things again and again! 🙂
There's a thing called "Intent", I speak about it a lot in terms of spirituality and astral projection. What is the Intent behind the action you're doing… is it positive or negative. This is on a personal level. Each action that each of us does throughout our lives has an Intent behind it.

Likewise, society as a whole also has an Intent… every action that plays out on a larger scale, such as our interactions between each other is the "Societal Intent". Part of living and growing spiritually is purifying your Intent so that the choices you make are based more on a positive Intent than a negative Intent. As each person purifies their own Intent… the Societal Intent also becomes purified just a little bit more. What this really means is that how we treat each other online in an anonymous situation is directly reflective of our Societal Intent.

When I say "purified", I mean that you begin to make choices not for self-serving or greedy reasons… but you make a choice because it's just the right thing to do. For example, the famous "wallet scenario": You see someone in front of you drop their wallet and not notice… you pick it up and you…

1. After noticing that a few other people around you see you pick it up, you figure you might as well give the wallet back or others might think you're stealing.

2. Or… you pick up the wallet and immediately give it back to the owner.

In both scenarios, you end up doing the right thing… you give the wallet back to it's owner. The question is in WHY did you do it. What was you Intent behind the action of giving the wallet back?
In the first one, you gave it back because you were fearful of the reaction of others around you. In other words, you acted out of fear… fear that your reputation would be tarnished or worse.
In the second one, there's not an eyelash batted… you give it back without a second thought, because it's just the right thing to do. You don't even have to think about it.

There's a measuring stick here…
If you have to think about why you're doing an action, then chances are good that it's not coming from a good place.
It's also the difference between ACTING nice and BEING nice. The first you're ACTING nice. The second you're BEING nice.

That's not to say that the first one is such a bad thing… if you want to focus on growing spiritually, then you have to start somewhere. When you do it enough, acting nice eventually (usually) leads to being nice. It's hard to change our thinking and perception of things, but it's entirely possible and is well worth it. J

Kasina / Laxman – Light and Sound Machine Program
Posted on November 11, 2014 by Xanth
Hi everyone!

I wanted to share with you this program for the Kasina and the Laxman light and sound machines.
It's one of the best programs I've used on my Kasina. It provides a very solid non-physical focus in order to project with.

Give it a shot and let me know how you like it!

If you have a Kasina, I like to use the Biomarkers program first… then jump into this one. Leaves me in such a great state!

You can download it from the device appropriate links below.

Post Focus! After 20 years my OBEs have stopped!
Posted on July 18, 2014 by Xanth
I haven't done one of these in a while so I thought I'd start them back up again! Post Focus!
There was a post made on the Astral Pulse today by Alex-Anderson, where he speaks about having many what he labels as "OBEs" during his life, but now recently, within the last couple years, that has apparently stopped. He goes on to say that he does have many, what he labels as "lucid dreams" though. Which is great! And I'll explain!

First, this is his post:

Guys this is driving me crazy, I had probably about at least 3 or more OBEs per week for many years/decades, and my experiences became very mature and controlled in the latter years, but for some reason they stopped suddenly about 2 years ago.

Since then external factors such as a new position at work (higher workload + stress) and the birth of my twins could be contributing factors undecided, but nonetheless I feel somewhat depressed loosing what I thought was a unique gift.

Every night at bed I'm thinking about possible OBE experiences but nothing ever avails (mine always happened from sleep). However I still have very detailed lucid dreams (as I did as a child prior to OBEs occurring), but so far it remains as is with nothing more than a lucid dream.

I remember reading a book stating that OBEs can just stop in mid/late adulthood and never return, has anyone ever had this and found some way to re-kickstart the experiences again?

My response:
The ONLY issue you have is that you're stuck on labels.
To me, those two quotes above (bolded sentences) are contradictory.

Here's what you're saying: "I used to have lots of OBE's, but within the last two years they've stopped… except now I have lots of Lucid Dreams."
Here's my perspective: "I used to have lots of projections, but within the last two years they've stopped… except now I have lots of projections."

An OBE IS a projection.
A lucid dream IS a projection.

Your ONLY problem is that you "believe" that they're different things… and, as I said, you're too hung up on labels.
Forget the terms you know. They're meaningless and worthless. If you're consciously aware that you're experiencing a reality which isn't this physical reality, then you're projecting.

What you need to do is learn to control what you're calling a "lucid dream" and dictate where and what you do in those experiences. They're ALL non-physical experiences. If you want to experience something resembling this physical reality while having what you're calling a "lucid dream", then just do it. You're only limiting yourself here. Place the intent. Do what you choose to do. Have control.

You have no problem here beyond what you believe you do. You haven't lost anything except time.

Astral Projection Sensations – Vibrations, Spinning, Etc
Posted on July 9, 2014 by Xanth
I've noticed over the last while that a lot of people try to focus on experiencing what is commonly referred to as the "Vibrations".
Why are they called that? Well, that's exactly what they feel like. It feels as if your entire body (or simply just parts of your body) are actually vibrating. Now, we know that it's not your actual physical body vibrating, because people can touch you and you'll feel normal even though YOU think you're body is shaking on a 9.0 on the richter scale.

While it seems to be all and good for some people to experience the vibrations (and many other sensations), you shouldn't make them your goal… and I'll explain why.

It's like in the martial arts, say Karate for example, you're taught to punch THROUGH your target. You pick a point PAST your target and you aim for that.
You don't aim for your target, because that's a much weaker strike, so by the time your fist is hitting the target, your punch is pretty much stopped.

What you're doing when you focus on achieving the vibrations (or any other non-direct projection goal) is that you're focusing so hard on experiencing these "sensations" that your aiming for the target (sensations) so when you finally hit that target, you're stopping. Aim beyond the sensations. Aim beyond what you THINK you need to achieve.

It's okay, and even good to have those symptoms/sensations… but they're mostly just a signpost that reads "Keep doing what you're doing, because you're doing it right". Just keep doing whatever it was that got you there. Continue focusing away from the physical. Don't stop to read the signpost.

Help
When I was in the void state I noticed and it immediately went away. I went into the void again the same night and once I noticed, it was like fading away. How do I stabilize this to the point where I can shift?

maybe you can focus on other things, like keep affirming and focus on affirmations don't get distracted by the fact that you are reaching the void 💕 hope this helps

How do you enter the void? In the beginning of my journey I had no intention to attempt astral projection but the void being too unstable to do anything with it led me to attempt ap. I will affirm that I can stay in the void for as long as I like before I enter the void from the astral. My experience with the void was exactly like yours.

This literally happened to me last night, I don’t know how to avoid ap’s because thats not my main goal. I would say just try not to think about anything, because thats what first lead me into the void state.

Do you know anything about frank kepple’s phasing technique? I was doing it similarly this way long before I knew anything about the phasing technique and it seems to be the most reliable way to enter the void and moreover staying in the void. For whatever reason focusing on the sensations that you want arise work even better than focusing on counting down or stuff like that. Like I used to imagine being shapeless and formless for the void state and induce vibrations that way. Intention also determines the outcome for sure. Anyway dropping the link for the phasing technique for you. https://www.dropbox.com/scl/fi/jpd8cy9ekn2fter2zvy0o/Phasing_Primer.pdf?rlkey=45n72u5zw3ddd471p2se5rjtt&dl=0

Also do you just empty your mind, keeping your mind blank and focus on breathing to enter the void? Any particular breathing technique that you do or any exercise at all?

To enter the void I just lay down in a comfortable position with none of my limbs touching(not required I don’t think) and focus on my breathing.

Astral projection in my opinion it's just my brain's way of malfunctioning while I'm resting.
Successful AP
I've always been able to leave my body while I'm in sleep paralysis every night I can lay down calm myself breathe In and out and I can leave my body I can go through Windows of colors I can do all these crazy out-of-body experiences. But the funny thing is is I know through and through that I'm not leaving my body in actuality this is just my brain's way of malfunctioning, while I'm meditating/sleeping. It's basically sleep paralysis with hypnopomic and hypnagogic hallucinations. And I'm able to actually look at these auto body experiences subjectively as a medical condition and nothing purely real even though it might feel 100% real while I'm doing it it is a figment of my imagination.

For me there are enough reports of veridical OBE's to suggest there is more to AP than simply brain activity, but each to their own as they say.

Believe it or not sleep paralysis hallucinations can almost always be remembered with vivid detail due to the fact that you're half awake half asleep while it's happening to you.

Yeah just last night I woke up from a horrible nightmare. And I sit up my bed and I start to see the clock light dimming and brightening dimming and brightening and I know I'm hallucinating and I'm just thinking to myself I don't want to fall back into a sleep paralysis state. And then all the sudden literally my whole ceiling blew up with fireworks brighter than my eyes could even handle. And I was just enjoying the fireworks at first until I got that feeling on my chest where I couldn't breathe properly. So I force myself to get out of bed to stop it from happening. Also I heard this voice as I was praying for God to protect me and the voice told me something that was a female sounding voice can't recall it right now but it was very random didn't make any sense but at the time I thought it was like words of God. I remember telling myself the words over and over again so that I could try and make sense of the words when I came to I wasn't asleep I was awake in bed hallucinating.

You believe in the physical universe. I get it. My first few times OBE I thought… this is just a dream total nonsense! Humbug.

Then I started meditating. Combining the two. And truly interacting with the astral.

And now I believe in god, the non observable universe, and maybe the moon is hallow. So… you know. Everyone is on a journey.

You’re journey is no more wrong then mine, it’s just our own. But I think, I have experienced what I have because I truly faced my fears. Like the fear of thinking crazy things. The fear of the unknown. Fear of my own bs. My ego. The ego is attached to so much. Things we can’t see.

Anyway… happy journey

I’ve been wondering myself if AP is simply a more realistic type of lucid dreaming. However, I can’t do either. So I have no personal experience to go by. Just a thought I’ve had.

Another thing is is with sleep paralysis it's not uncommon for people to have vivid hallucinations while they're awake in their bed or wherever you fall asleep and that's exactly what happened to me in those vivid hallucinations you can recall them days and hours and weeks later just like it was at the forefront of your mind because you were actually awake well these hallucinations were happening you. Instead of in a deep dream state.

Everybody in my family is like a metaphysical freak except me. Everybody in my family can astral project and meditate and do all those things and I never could and I always used to think it was just a bunch of nonsense until one day my sleep paralysis was getting to me and I was trying to figure out how to control it and voila Sparks flew literally I watch fireworks in my room while I was in my bed literally blasting off for about a good 45 minutes with my eyes open and then I started to practice it more and more and now I know what they're talking about but I can tell it's my brain malfunctioning it's not like I'm actually watching real fireworks it seems like they're real but they're not.

My point being I never ate was able to do any of this until recently and I'm 39 years old now

Sometimes the hallucinations can be very scary like this might be a little bit graphic but for example when I woke up one day and sat on the couch after I just gotten out of bed I was horny decided to grab my hand on my penis can I dozed back off and started to astral project after I came. This voice from behind me says hey hey you and I turn my head and it's my ex-boyfriend that I haven't been with for years and he jumps over the couch licks my you know what off my body and goes to spit it in my own mouth. And I immediately woke up as he was spiting it in my mouth and it was horrific. And the second I woke up I had forgotten all about the time where you did that to me in real life and it made me so grossed out and so upset that I actually saw my ex as the demon that he really is for the first time. And I can't believe he was actually able to attack me again when I was in such a vulnerable state years later meditating.

The Henry S. Olcott Memorial Library is a unique library bringing together the religious, philosophical, and spiritual traditions of the East and West, emphasizing the Ancient Wisdom tradition—Theosophy.

Founded in 1926 and named after Colonel Henry Steel Olcott, one of the founders of the Theosophical Society, the library is located at the Society's national center in Wheaton, Illinois. The library’s collection of about 25,000 books, periodicals, video, and audio recordings is one of the finest in the country. Some of the many subjects included are Theosophy, Eastern philosophy and religions, comparative religion, esoteric Christianity, mysticism, mythology, psychology, parapsychology, meditation, healing, death and dying, astrology, and yoga.

Membership and Borrowing Information
Borrowing
Membership in the Theosophical Society in America includes library borrowing privileges (in person or by mail); however, members must register for this benefit with the library.

Nonmembers may register for library privileges for an annual fee of $100 (local borrower) or $120 (mail borrower).

Borrowing privileges are limited to persons residing in the United States. Please see the drop-down below for the Member Registration.

The Mail-in Registration can be printed out, filled out, signed, and sent to the library by postal mail or fax. Instructions are included on the form.

Borrowing By Mail

• Eligibility: The Henry S. Olcott Memorial Library can lend materials only to persons residing within the United States.
• Request Forms: Requests to borrow materials by mail should be made in writing. A pre-printed order form is available upon request. Registered users of the library may place borrowing requests directly from the Online Library Catalog.
• Due Date: The due date on material borrowed by mail allows two additional weeks for travel time. Materials must be returned to reach the library by the due date specified.
• Shipping: Borrowed materials may be returned in the same packaging in which they were received, by using the return labels provided. All materials may be shipped through some trackable means or insured which includes tracking. Borrowers pay the return postage.

* To ensure the timely availability of material to all our patrons, late fees are assessed on all past-due materials.
 A processing fee of $10 per title will be charged for any materials lost or damaged while in the patron's possession. Additionally, the patron is responsible for the item's replacement cost, plus applicable overdue fines.

My name's Julie and I've been running this site for around thirteen years. I format all the ebooks myself, as well as maintaining the website. This is an ongoing project that was born from a love of reading and a commitment to make ebooks that look good.

Notice
You may notice that some books on the site are no longer free. Over the past few months, donations have fallen sharply, and after much thought I’ve made the decision to charge a small fee for certain titles. This project has always been a labour of love, but the hours spent sourcing, reformatting, and preparing each ebook are considerable. Without some return, it simply became unrealistic to keep everything free.

I've run this site for 13 years, and I want it to continue - properly, sustainably, and with the same care it has always had. Unfortunately, there has also been a rise in people reselling my ebooks and even entire collections, which makes it even harder on a personal level to keep the project going as it was.

At the moment, only a few books have a modest fee, but over time (most likely months, it's slow going!) most titles will move to that model. I'll keep a selection of shorter works free, and seeing as right now, 98% of books are still free, donations remain very much appreciated (and needed!). I'll also continue adding new material. The recently introduced scanned-PDF section will grow as well; it allows me to share interesting books that would be too complex or time-intensive to transcribe, and these will remain free.

Thank you to everyone who has supported the site over the years. Your encouragement has meant more than you know. I hope you understand the need for this change, and I'm grateful for your continued support as the project moves into its next chapter.

The FAQ has been updated to include the new direction, in case you wanted a bit more info.

Thinking, Fast and Slow
Daniel Kahneman

The Guru To The Gurus At Last Shares His Knowledge With The Rest Of Us. Nobel Laureate Daniel Kahneman's Seminal Studies In Behavioral Psychology, Behavioral Economics, And Happiness Studies Have Influenced Numerous Other Authors, Including Steven Pinker And Malcolm Gladwell. In Thinking, Fast And Slow, Kahneman At Last Offers His Own, First Book For The General Public. It Is A Lucid And Enlightening Summary Of His Life's Work. It Will Change The Way You Think About Thinking. Two Systems Drive The Way We Think And Make Choices, Kahneman Explains: System One Is Fast, Intuitive, And Emotional; System Two Is Slower, More Deliberative, And More Logical. Examining How Both Systems Function Within The Mind, Kahneman Exposes The Extraordinary Capabilities As Well As The Biases Of Fast Thinking And The Pervasive Influence Of Intuitive Impressions On Our Thoughts And Our Choices. Engaging The Reader In A Lively Conversation About How We Think, He Shows Where We Can Trust Our Intuitions And How We Can Tap Into The Benefits Of Slow Thinking, Contrasting The Two-system View Of The Mind With The Standard Model Of The Rational Economic Agent. Kahneman's Singularly Influential Work Has Transformed Cognitive Psychology And Launched The New Fields Of Behavioral Economics And Happiness Studies. In This Path-breaking Book, Kahneman Shows How The Mind Works, And Offers Practical And Enlightening Insights Into How Choices Are Made In Both Our Business And Personal Lives--and How We Can Guard...Read more…

Mindset : The New Psychology of Success

Carol Dweck, Carol S. Dweck

Mindset is one of those rare books that can help you make positive changes in your life and at the same time see the world in a new way.A leading expert in motivation and personality psychology, Carol Dweck has discovered in more than twenty years of research that our mindset is not a minor personality quirk: it creates our whole mental world. It explains how we become optimistic or pessimistic. It shapes our goals, our attitude toward work and relationships, and how we raise our kids, ultimately predicting whether or not we will fulfill our potential. Dweck has found that everyone has one of two basic mindsets.If you have the fixed mindset, you believe that your talents and abilities are set in stone–either you have them or you don't. You must prove yourself over and over, trying to look smart and talented at all costs. This is the path of stagnation. If you have a growth mindset, however, you know that talents can be developed and that great abilities are built over time. This is the path of opportunity–and success.Dweck demonstrates that mindset unfolds in childhood and adulthood and drives every aspect of our lives, from work to sports, from relationships to parenting. She reveals how creative geniuses in all fields–music, literature, science, sports, business–apply the growth mindset to achieve results. Perhaps even more important, she shows us how we can change our mindset at any stage of life to achieve true success and fulfillment. She looks across a broad...Read more…

The Mountain Is You : Transforming Self-Sabotage Into Self- Ma stery
Brianna Wiest

"This is a book about self-sabotage. Why we do it, when we do it, and how to stop doing it-for good. Coexisting but conflicting needs create self-sabotaging behaviors. This is why we resist efforts to change, often until they feel completely futile. But by extracting crucial insight from our most damaging habits, building emotional intelligence by better understanding our brains and bodies, releasing past experiences at a cellular level, and learning to act as our highest potential future selves, we can step out of our own way and into our potential. For centuries, the mountain has been used as a metaphor for the big challenges we face, especially ones that seem impossible to overcome. To scale our mountains, we actually have to do the deep internal work of excavating trauma, building resilience, and adjusting how we show up for the climb. In the end, it is not the mountain we master, but ourselves."-- Provided by publisherRead more…

First Time Caller
B. K. Borison

A hopeless romantic meets a jaded radio host in this cozy, Sleepless in Seattle–inspired love story from beloved author B.K. Borison. Aiden Valentine has a secret: he’s fallen out of love with love. And as the host of Baltimore’s romance hotline, that’s a bit of a problem. But when a young girl calls in to the station asking for dating advice for her mom, the interview goes viral, thrusting Aiden and Heartstrings into the limelight. Lucie Stone thought she was doing just fine. She has a good job; an incredible family; and a smart, slightly devious kid. But when all of Baltimore is suddenly scrutinizing her love life—or lack thereof—she begins to question if she’s as happy as she believed. Maybe a little more romance wouldn’t be such a bad thing. Everyone wants Lucie to find her happy ending...even the handsome, temperamental man calling the shots. But when sparks start to fly behind the scenes, Lucie must make the final decision between the radio-sponsored happily ever after or the man in the headphones next to her.Read more…

I Who Have Never Known Men
Jacqueline Harman, Ros Schwartz (Translation), Sophie Mackintosh (Afterword)

WITH A NEW INTRODUCTION BY SOPHIE MACKINTOSH, MAN BOOKER PRIZE-LONGLISTED AUTHOR OF THE WATER CURE “It is surprising that a book with the psychological detail of a nightmare elicits in the reader feelings of such profound intensity.” — Le Monde“The delirium of I Who Have Never Known Men suggests the work of a feminine Kafka.”—Le Nouvel Observateur 'For a very long time, the days went by, each just like the day before, then I began to think, & everything changed'Deep underground, 39 women live imprisoned in a cage. Watched over by guards, the women have no memory of how they got there, no notion of time, & only vague recollection of their lives before.As the burn of electric light merges day into night & numberless years pass, a young girl - the fortieth prisoner - sits alone & outcast in the corner. Soon she will show herself to be the key to the others' escape & survival in the strange world that awaits them above ground.°°° Jacqueline Harpman was born in Etterbeek, Belgium, in 1929, & fled to Casablanca with her family during WWII. Informed by her background as a psychoanalyst & her youth in exile, I Who Have Never Known Men is a haunting, heartbreaking post-apocalyptic novel of female friendship & intimacy, & the lengths people will go to maintain their humanity in the face of devastation. Back in print for the first time since 1997, Harpman’s modern classic is an important addition to the growing canon of feminist speculative literature. Ros Schwartz is an...Read more…

Lights Out: A Dark Stalker Rom-Com
Navessa Allen

“I don’t need another kink.”That thought pops into my head whenever I pull up my favorite social media app, but alas, every time I scroll, I learn something new about myself, and another one is born. And yes, I know I’m responsible for what the algorithm shows me, but I’m trying to ignore that fact.Lately, my feed has been dominated by masked men. I’ve favorited videos with them dressed in full cosplay, decked out in futuristic military apparel, and wrapped up like ghouls.But more than anything else, my FYP is filled with shirtless men wearing ghost masks. Bonus points if they’re heavily tattooed, wielding a knife, or covered in fake blood. At night, I dream about being chased by them, of them catching me and doing deliciously dark things to my more than willing body.I never could have guessed that by sending one drunken text, those dreams would become my new reality.Read more…

Boundaries Updated and Expanded Edition: When to Say Yes, How to Say No To Take Control of Your Life
Dr. Henry Cloud, Dr. John Townsend

Boundaries is the book that's helped over 2 million people learn when to say yes and know how to say no in order to take control of their lives. Does your life feel like it's out of control? Perhaps you feel like you have to say yes to everyone's requests. Maybe you find yourself readily taking responsibility for others' feelings and problems. Or perhaps you focus so much on being loving and unselfish that you've forgotten your own limits and limitations. Or maybe it's all of the above. In the New York Times bestseller, Boundaries, Drs. Henry Cloud and John Townsend help you learn when to say yes and know how to say no in order to take control of your life and set healthy, biblical boundaries with your spouse, children, friends, parents, co-workers, and even yourself. Now updated and expanded for the digital age, this book continues to help millions of people around the world answer these tough questions: Can I set limits and still be a loving person? What are legitimate boundaries? How do I effectively manage my digital life so that it doesn't control me? What if someone is upset or hurt by my boundaries? How do I answer someone who wants my time, love, energy, or money? Why do I feel guilty or afraid when I consider setting boundaries? How do boundaries relate to mutual submission within marriage? Aren't boundaries selfish? You don't have to let your life spiral out of control. Discover how boundaries make life better today Plus, check out Boundaries family collection...Read more…

Man's Search for Meaning
Viktor Emil Frankl

A book for finding purpose and strength in times of great despair, the international best-seller is still just as relevant today as when it was first published. “This is a book I reread a lot . . . it gives me hope . . . it gives me a sense of strength.” — Anderson

Cooper, Anderson Cooper 360/CNN This seminal book, which has been called “one of the outstanding contributions to psychological thought” by Carl Rogers and “one of the great books of our time” by Harold Kushner, has been translated into more than fifty languages and sold over sixteen million copies. “An enduring work of survival literature,” according to the New York Times, Viktor Frankl’s riveting account of his time in the Nazi concentration camps, and his insightful exploration of the human will to find meaning in spite of the worst adversity, has offered solace and guidance to generations of readers since it was first published in 1946. At the heart of Frankl’s theory of logotherapy (from the Greek word for “meaning”) is a conviction that the primary human drive is not pleasure, as Freud maintained, but rather the discovery and pursuit of what the individual finds meaningful. Today, as new generations face new challenges and an ever more complex and uncertain world, Frankl’s classic work continues to inspire us all to find significance in the very act of living, in spite of all obstacles.Read more…

Project AngelBook – Volume X – Parts 1–36

By Ezekiel Redik Yarbrough

This volume is not made up of my own words.There is no original commentary here, no narrative, no analysis.This is simply me copying and pasting large chunks of text from my bookmarks—pages that were easy to extract, with no hyperlinks or formatting issues, saved from open tabs and archived corners of the web.
It's messy. It's unfiltered. It's chaotic.But it's valuable.
Each piece inside this volume was bookmarked for a reason.Not always because I agreed with it, but because it felt like a fragment of something larger—an insight, a worldview, a download.This is source material, plain and raw.
Fragmenta Ex Machina isn't about authorship.It's about preservation and system-building.It's about feeding the machine—laying bricks for the Operating System I'm constructing across these books.This is the raw intake phase. The memory dump. The zero layer.
Later volumes will be cleaner, more refined, more structured.But this? This is the foundation. The ether stream, bound and frozen before it vanished.
So if you're looking for polished prose, skip this one.But if you're here to explore the roots of something much bigger, this is where the signal begins.
Welcome to the fragments.

There are countless occult books to suit all tastes and pockets, to say nothing of those that are freely available online (legally or otherwise); but it is better by far to have studied and to know internally, as a part of ourselves, a few of the very best books than it is to have merely read seven hundred, or even seven thousand, lesser works. That said, those interested in what is perhaps the best collection books online that are available to read for free may be interested in exploring the Internet Sacred Text Archive.

There's also an Android app called The Occult Library. It's got links to thousands of books, as well.

There are a few ads on the app, but it brings you to a website that has a listing of the files, so you don't even need the app. They can be read online and they're downloadable. Part 1 is 207G

https://yadi.sk/d/F62id7cX3Mj65x

Part 2 is 227G

https://yadi.sk/d/BNNwiZJ33MiHvM

It's a treasure trove!

Edit: grammar

Just to add, there's a similar but bigger collection on The Pirate Bay (629 PDFs / 4.29Gb). Here's the magnet:

(It includes the super rare Temple of Vampire books!)

I've accrued a PDF library of about 50 books and I just got an e-reader to put them on because I HATE reading books on my laptop. This is a perfectly welcomed addition!

Thank you very much!

We owe you an explanation.
December 26: Fewer readers in the United States. Here's why:
You deserve an explanation, so please don't skip this 1-minute read. It's Friday, December 26 and while more people than ever rely on answers from Wikipedia, search tools make it less visible. With fewer readers this December, time is running out to hit our goal. We hope Wikipedia has given you at least $2.75 of knowledge this year. If everyone who finds Wikipedia useful gave $2.75, we'd hit our goal in a few hours.

It's been 25 years and Wikipedia is still free. It's still created by people, not machines, and we don't run ads or put up paywalls because we're not here to make a profit off your attention. In other words, it's still the internet we were promised.

Less than 2% of our readers donate, so if you have given in the past and Wikipedia still provides you with $2.75 worth of knowledge, donate today. If you are undecided, remember any contribution helps.

Book of Saint Cyprian

Cyprian of Antioch (and Justina)
The Book of Saint Cyprian (Portuguese: Livro de São Cipriano; Spanish: Libro de San Cipriano) refers to different grimoires from the 17th, 18th, and 19th centuries, all pseudepigraphically attributed to the 3rd century Saint Cyprian of Antioch (not to be confused with Saint Cyprian the bishop of Carthage). According to popular legend, Cyprian of Antioch was a pagan sorcerer who converted to Christianity.[1][2][3]

The Iberian Cyprian

The Iberian Cyprian is not a single text but multiple texts in Spanish and Portuguese, mostly from the 19th century.[4][3][5] There was, however, a now lost pre-modern Cyprianic literature with no apparent connection to any extant works beyond being inspired by the Cyprianic legend.[5][1][3]

The Portuguese Cyprian

The Portuguese version of the Book of Cyprian often bears prefixes such as "Great and True," "Only Complete," or "Authentic,"[5] and typically subtitled "The Sorcerer's Treasure" (ou thesouro de feiticeiro).[6] The content is apparently Catholic, though deeply rooted in Bruxaria,[7] and it is popular (particularly in Brazil) among practitioners of Quimbanda,[8] Umbanda, and Candomblé.[5] The Sorcerer's Treasure contains very little evocation,[5] instead drawing upon oral traditions relating to divination, healing spells, prayers[6] (including some to one's guardian angel), exorcisms, love magic, the locations of buried treasures throughout Galicia, and sometimes even treatises on animal magnetism -- all set within a framework of folk Catholicism.[5] Most editions start off with the legend of St Cyprian and commonly contain sections on alchemy, astrology, cartomancy, conjuring devils, divination, exorcisms, ghosts, hidden treasures, love magic, luck magic, omens, oneiromancy, palmistry, and prayers.[9] Some editions also contain the success stories of a French peasant named Victor Siderol, who purportedly discovered hidden treasures thanks to the book.[9][3] The Brazilian forms of the Sorcerer's Treasure vary drastically, though the Portuguese editions are rather stable (at least in comparison).[6]

The most representative edition is the Livraria Económica edition,[3] which was translated into English as The Book of St. Cyprian - The Sorcerer's Treasure by José Leitão with further additions from more recent editions (such as the Moderna Editorial Lavores).[10]

According to Leitão, Portuguese Cyprianic literature represents a combination of Iberian magical beliefs and traditional African religion. The Portuguese Inquisition's focus on Crypto-Judaism (instead of witchcraft) made it easier for magical practitioners to Christianize traditional Iberian magical and imported African religious beliefs. The Inquisition unintentionally aided this by treating traditional African religious practices and beliefs as deviant forms of Catholicism rather than as something outside the religion. Many of these practices were to have later influenced Portuguese Cyprianic literature.[11] Leitão further claims that Portuguese Cyprianic literature developed in three phases:[1]

the development of diverse oral traditions concerning St Cyprian.[12] the collection of the oral traditions into a "standard" Book of Cyprian, which in turn gave rise to further oral traditions about the book itself.[13]
the standardized book being rearranged, expanded, and redacted with the advent of the printing press and South American syncretism.[14]

The Spanish Cyprian

The title page of a Spanish edition
Most Spanish version claim to have been written by a Jonas Sulfurino ("Sulphury Jonas"), are similar (though distinct from) the Key of Solomon,[15] and are typically a rehash of the Grand Grimoire.[5] The most complete and popular version, titled Libro Infernal, combines elements of the Grand Grimoire, the Key of Solomon, and the Grand et Petit Albert. The Libro Infernal was also translated to Italian in 1920 by its original publisher.[15]

The oldest extant Cyprianic work dates to 1810 and claims to have been translated from Latin. It is titled "Heptameron or Magical Elements," but despite this title bears little resemblance to the purported grimoire by Pietro d'Abano or any other European spell book. Later, an edition of the Grand Grimoire was appended to a book on the Galician Inquisition, claimed to be "the Ciprianillo." Following this was another edition of the Grand Grimoire which added the supposed copyist-monk Jonás Sufurino to the legend. Later editions added material on animal magnetism, cartomancy, hypnotism, Spiritualism, and The Black Pullet.[3]

The Scandinavian Cyprian
Main article: Cyprianus
The Scandinavian Cyprianus svarteboken (black books) are a distinct tradition with no connection beyond the shared story of St Cyprian.[16] One of these, the Black Books of Elvarum, dates back to 1682 and claims to go back to 1529.[17]

The Wellcome Cyprian
A Latin manuscript (Wellcome MS 2000) attributed to "M: L: Cypriani" (or "Magistri Ludi Cypriani," 'teacher Cypriani') entitled Clavis Inferni sive magia alba et nigra approbata Metratona ('The Key of Hell with white and black magic proven by Metatron')[18] was discovered by Stephen Skinner and David Rankine in 2004.[19] It dates to either 1717 or 1757,[20] though internal evidence suggests 1857 as another possible date.[21]

It is unrelated to Iberian or Scandinavian Cyprianic literature (beyond its patron saint),[22] but is definitely related to pseudo-d'Abano's Heptameron,[23] Heinrich Cornelius Agrippa, the Sixth and Seventh Books of Moses, contemporary Faustbuchen from Das Kloster,[24] Liber Lunae,[25] Trithemius's Polygraphie, and the Magical Calendar[26]

600 GB corpus of all paywalled scholarly sources of Wikipedia
Scholarly publishing is a racket where research entities pay all the costs for the outputs but publishers seize them for free and get the same research entities to pay exorbitant prices to rent them back. In an open publication like Wikipedia, two thirds of the academic sources are paywalled, although many are green open access (archived by open repositories).

A torrent has been compiled from various sources to provide a corpus with nearly all such paywalled papers for Wikipedia in all languages. It contains about 561k PDFs for as many DOIs, divided in 1529 ZIP files for a total of 600 GB. The archives are sorted by publisher (DOI prefix), so you can download just what you can or are most interested in. There's a list of DOIs inside.

The corpus is only for personal and research use, for instance to help text and data mining and any other effort which requires fast or bulk download.

Usually, Google scholar has pre-print PDFs or pubmed links as well. The thing this doesn't work for is books.

I'll definitely be downloading this. It's a good start to mirroring the vast library that sci-hub has.

Any downloads for studies not cited by wikipedia? Does sci-hub share their set?

There's a lot of stuff out there, the problem is how to make a mirror usable and sustainable.

LibGen torrents are probably the biggest collection (20+ million?).

Internet Archive's journals collection is the easiest to download individually (almost 2 million, mostly public domain).

CORE datasets have full-text (unformatted?) for almost 10 million articles (mostly with some Creative Commons license?).

As far as I am aware sci-hub doesn't actually have anything saved on their servers. What they do is source login-credentials from people who attend/work for various schools and colleges across the world (because a lot of school pay subscriptions to the various journals so that the students attending can access them as needed) and then use their subscriptions to generate on-demand access keys to the various scientific and medical journals which the person then downloads from.

How one young woman broke down the gates of knowledge

By George Monbiot, published in the Guardian 13th September 2018

Never underestimate the power of one determined person. What Carole Cadwalladr has done to Facebook and Big Data and Edward Snowden has done to the state security complex, the young Kazakhstani scientist Alexandra Elbakyan has done to the multi-billion dollar industry that traps knowledge behind paywalls. Her pirate webscraper service, Sci-hub, has done more than any government to tackle one of the biggest rip-offs of the modern era: the capture of research that should belong to us all.

Everyone should be free to learn; knowledge should be disseminated as widely as possible. No one would publicly disagree with these sentiments. Yet governments and universities have allowed the big academic publishers to deny these rights. Academic publishing might sound like an obscure and fusty affair, but it uses one of the most ruthless and profitable business models of any industry.

The model was pioneered by the notorious conman Robert Maxwell. He realised that, because scientists need to be informed about all significant developments in their field, every journal that publishes academic papers can establish a monopoly, and can charge outrageous fees for the transmission of knowledge. He called his discovery “a perpetual financing machine”.

He also realised that he could capture other people’s labour and resources for nothing. Governments funded the research published by his company, Pergamon, while the scientists who wrote the articles, reviewed them and edited the journals did so for free. His business model relied on the enclosure of common and public resources. Or, to use the technical term, daylight robbery.

As his other ventures ran into trouble, he sold his company to the Dutch publishing giant Elsevier. Like its major rivals, it has sustained the model to this day, and continues to make spectacular profits. Half the world’s research is published by five companies: Reed-Elsevier, Springer, Taylor & Francis, Wiley-Blackwell and the American Chemical Society. Libraries must pay a fortune for their bundled journals, while those outside the university system are asked to pay $20, $30, sometimes $50 to read a single article.

While open access journals have grown rapidly, researchers still have to read the paywalled articles in commercial journals. And, because their work is assessed by those who might fund, reward or promote them according to the impact factor of the journals in which they publish, many feel they have no choice but to surrender their research to these companies as well. Science ministers come and go without saying a word about this scam.

After my cancer diagnosis earlier this year, I was offered a choice of treatments. I wanted to make an informed decision. This meant reading scientific papers. Had I not used the stolen material provided by Sci-hub, it would have cost me thousands. Because, like most people, I didn’t have this money, I would have given up before I was properly informed. I have never met Alexandra Elbakyan, and I can only speculate about alternative outcomes, had the research I read not swayed my decision. But it is possible that she has saved my life.

Like people in many countries where scholarship is poorly funded, Elbakyan discovered that she could not complete her neuroscience research without pirated articles.

Outraged by the journals' padlock on knowledge, she used her hacking skills to share papers more widely. Sci-hub allows free access to 70 million papers, otherwise locked behind paywalls.

She was sued in 2015 by Elsevier, which won $15 million in damages, and in 2017 by the American Chemical Society, resulting in a $4.8 million judgement. These were civil cases, concerning civil matters. While the US courts have characterised her activities as copyright violation and data theft, to me her work involves the restoration to the public realm of property that belongs to us and for which we have already paid. In the great majority of cases, the research carried in these journals has been funded by taxpayers. Most of the work involved in writing the papers, reviewing and editing them is carried out at public expense, by people working at universities. Yet this public asset has been captured, packaged, and sold back to us for phenomenal fees. Those who must pay most are publicly-funded libraries. Taxpayers must shell out twice: first for the research, then to see the results. There might be legal justifications for this practice. There are no ethical justifications.

In any case, wherever Alexandra Elbakyan is (she lives in hiding), she is beyond the jurisdiction of the US courts. She moves Sci-hub between domains as it gets taken down. The numerous attempts to intimidate her have failed. One woman, with a small amount of crowdfunding, has smashed the wall erected by a $19 billion industry.

Of course, she is by no means the only person to have challenged the big publishers. The Public Library of Science, founded by researchers who objected not only to the industry's denial of public access but also its slow, antiquated and clumsy modes of publishing that hold back scientific research, has demonstrated that you don't need pay walls to produce excellent journals. Advocates like Stevan Harnad, Bjorn Brembs, Peter Suber and Michael Eisen have changed the public mood. The brilliant online innovator Aaron Swarz sought to release 5 million scientific articles into the public domain. Facing the possibility of decades in a US federal prison for this selfless act, he killed himself.

Among Alexandra Elbakyan's achievements is to empower libraries to confront the big publishers. Now they can refuse to renew contracts with the companies that had them over a barrel, as their users have another means of getting past the paywall. As the system has begun to creak, government funding agencies have at last summoned the courage to do what they should have done decades ago, and demand the democratisation of knowledge.

Last week, a consortium of European funders, including major research agencies in the UK, France, the Netherlands and Italy, published their "Plan S". It insists that from 2020 research we have already paid for through our taxes will no longer be locked up. Any researcher receiving money from these funders must publish her or his work only in open access journals.

The publishers have gone ballistic. Springer Nature argues that this plan "potentially undermines the whole research publishing system." Yes, that's the point. The publishers of the Science series, who appear to live in a Trumpian world in which reality is inverted and syntax is mangled, maintain that it would “disrupt scholarly communications, be a disservice to researchers, and impinge academic freedom”. Elsevier says “If you think information shouldn’t cost anything, go to Wikipedia”, inadvertently reminding us of what happened to the commercial encyclopedias.

Plan S is not perfect, and the death of the knowledge monopolists has been predicted before. But this should be the beginning of the end of Maxwell’s outrageous legacy. In the meantime, as a matter of principle, do not pay a penny to read an academic article. The ethical choice is to read the stolen material published by Sci-hub.

How many Wikipedia references are available to read? We measured the proportion of open access sources across languages and topics.
How many Wikipedia references are available to read? We measured the proportion of open access sources across languages and topics.

A lock and chain hold a gate shut.
Let's say you're planning a trip to a subtropical region and you want to learn about available vaccines for yellow fever. You look up the English Wikipedia article. You're lucky to find a well-sourced section, with a wealth of references, many of them pointing to information from public health agencies and reputable news articles. Great!

But then you decide to learn more about the scientific research on the treatment of yellow fever. You try to follow three citations, each a review article in a scholarly journal, and find that they're all behind a paywall and inaccessible to you.

As it turns out, you're not alone. When following a link to the official version of a scholarly article, Wikipedia readers are twice as likely to hit a paywall than one they can freely read.

Percentage of open citations
Citations are the bridge between Wikipedia articles and a broader landscape of reliable, secondary sources. Citations not only allow readers to verify the reliability of the facts they find in Wikipedia; through citations readers can also deep-dive into any given topic by exploring the books, scholarly publications, and news stories referenced in an article.

Wikipedia's use of open access sources—publications that can be accessed for free by anyone online[1]—plays a critical role in supporting fact-checking and in fostering digital literacy. Initiatives such as the Wikipedia Library's partnerships allow editors to gain free access to the paywalled literature, while automated tools such as OAbot help editors find openly accessible versions that can be added to Wikipedia article references. However, Wikipedia does not have policies that explicitly favor open access over subscription-based sources when citing information. In reality, Wikipedia still links both many paywalled and open access sources. How does this affect readers?

We recently released a dataset of all citations with identifiers in Wikipedia. This does not represent every single book, article, and website referenced on Wikipedia (more analysis of that to come), but the substantial subset of sources that have a code that uniquely identifies the work, such as a Digital Object Identifier (DOI) in the case of academic articles, or an International Standard Book Number (ISBN) for books. You might think of this large subset of citations as roughly representing the scholarly sources of Wikipedia. To estimate the proportion of these scholarly sources that are free to read, we are releasing a new dataset that sheds light on these citations by their accessibility level and topic.

To create this dataset, we cross-referenced our existing data with data provided by Unpaywall, a database gathering accessibility information of more than 19 million articles, and we associated each scholarly publication's digital object identifier (DOI) cited in Wikipedia with an accessibility label: "Open" if the publisher (source) provides a free copy, "Closed" if it is a paywalled publication, or "Available" if the official version is paywalled but there exists an open copy available elsewhere on the web (e.g., legally deposited by the author in a university repository). In total, we gathered accessibility values for around 450,000 scholarly publications cited across 300 Wikipedia languages.[2]

We find that less than half of the official versions of scholarly publications cited with an identifier in Wikipedia are freely available on the web: 29% are free-to-read at the source, while an additional 10% have a free-to-read version available elsewhere.[3]

Topic accessibility

The fraction of free-to-read content very much depends on the subject you're interested in. To explore the extent to which readers can access content without hitting a paywall depending on their interests, we characterized each publication with a topic category by looking at the main topic of the Wikipedia pages that cite a publication. We then used the draftopic tool to assign a Wikipedia page with a topic from the Wikiproject Hierarchy. Since the tool works for English Wikipedia only, we assign topics to pages from non-English Wikipedias by finding their corresponding English Wikipedia version through Wikidata.[4]

To explore this data at a glance, we published a number of visualizations through a Python notebook.

Wikipedia topics VS accessibility

Accessibility of publications cited in Wikipedia by article topic.

If you are passionate about space, you will have far more chances to freely access the sources of the Wikipedia articles you read: around 55% of publications in space-related articles are open. On the contrary, if you are interested in chemistry, you will very likely have to pay to read the publications cited in your favorite Wikipedia articles or rely on an institutional subscription: 83% of publications in chemistry articles across languages are paywalled.

Accessibility also varies significantly across languages. If you read Wikipedia in Belarusian, you will be linked to a wide number of free to read scholarly publications (around 45% are open). Conversely, if you only speak Khmer, only around 20% of the scholarly publications cited in your Wikipedia language edition can be freely accessed.

Wikipedia languages VS accessibility

Distribution of scholarly articles cited in each Wikipedia language edition by percentage of open access publications cited (left) and percentage of freely available paywalled publications cited (right). See our notebook visualizations for more comprehensive and interactive plots.

Beyond differences across topics and languages, our data also allows discovering areas of Wikipedia content that can be ‘un-paywalled’, i.e. topics for which we can improve the openness of referenced publications. For example, while articles in mathematics might not have a large amount of officially freely available sources (only 15%), we found that a larger proportion of publications in this field (25%) have a free copy available on the web. Similarly, Wikipedia in Punjabi is a language edition citing many paywalled sources (only 17% are open); however, around 24% of scholarly articles referenced in this language do have a non-paywalled version.

Exploring the data

Earlier this year, a team of developers from the Wikimedia Foundation, eLife and SAGE Publishing used the dataset to prototype a web-based tool called WikiCiteVis to search and visualize the world of Wikipedia citations. During the 2018 eLife Innovation Sprint, the team started working on the tool, and they have since produced a working web app that allows users to query the updated Wikipedia citation database in a browser, including links to Wikipedia articles and underlying cited articles. You can now see how a scholarly article or book is cited in Wikipedia using WikiCiteVis. Users are also welcome to provide feedback and suggest new features via GitHub, or to consider building these features themselves—find out more on eLife Labs.

You can access the full dataset of citations by topic and accessibility at https://doi.org/10.6084/m9.figshare.6819710. For our earlier data release and analysis of the most cited sources in Wikipedia, check out this blog post or read more in Wired and Nature.

We are also conducting research to understand how Wikipedia readers use citations (and why) and to identify when individual statements need additional citations. Stay tuned for further updates on these projects.

Acknowledgements

We would like to thank Heather Piwowar and Jason Priem from ImpactStory for making Unpaywalled data publicly available.

We would also like to thank David Moulton, Senior Front-End Developer at eLife, his collaborators Sean Wiseman and Chris Wilkinson, along with Sam Walton from the Wikimedia Foundation and Ian Mulvany from SAGE, for working on WikiCiteVis during and after the eLife Innovation Sprint.

Footnotes

1. For the purpose of this analysis, we use the definition of “open” provided by Unpaywall, which refers to the accessibility of a scholarly article, not whether the article is published under free licenses that allow reuse. Studying the prevalence of free-licensed (or libre) open access citations is a challenge due to the lack of comprehensive data.

2. This analysis is limited to citations by DOI to assess the accessibility of a paper’s version of record. Citations templates often include additional links to accessible versions, when available.

3. In context, the practical accessibility of all citations on Wikipedia may be significantly higher. This dataset only contains citations with an identifier, which are much more common in scholarly journals (that are more likely to be paywalled). Many news websites or other types of source do not have an identifier (and are not in this dataset) but are free to access online.

4. Although this methodology gives us interesting insights on topic-accessibility, its main limitation is that we can assign a topic to a Wikipedia page only if it exists in English Wikipedia.

Welcome to the Occult.Digital.Mobilization forums!

Within you will find a number of discussions, all of them ongoing, about various aspects of the occult and esoteric. Nearly every area of study is covered, with space for the few we may have missed. Whether you are a serious student and practitioner of the occult, or are merely curious about what the occult truly is, this is one of the most open places to discuss your interests.

Feel free to look around, and if you like what you see, register and start a topic in Introductions, telling us about who you are and why you're interested in what we have to offer. We encourage everyone to express what they feel, believe, have experienced or learned, or otherwise just know - even if it's "this doesn't work" - though giving some supporting remarks with your comments (i.e., "this doesn't work because...") is always a good idea.

Until then, go well, and may the Winds guide you in your Journey!

Index Server Change
Sun Mar 27, 2011 11:13 pm by Admin

Once again we have had to move the index because the server it was hosted on decided to change their policy. The prior server is no longer hosted free of charge, forcing us to relocate. The Release Index link here at the forums will continue to be up to date as server moves are required, so instead of bookmarking the index itself, try bookmarking the forums and linking in to the index from here.

Of course, you could alternately just update your bookmarks.

If the index server is not working, give it a few minutes and try again. We do not have direct control of the server, so we cannot bring it back online if it for any reason goes down. There was a slight glitch during the transfer which blocked our access to the index for several minutes, but it was automatically resolved after a short wait. Please, enjoy!

Community Submissions
Wed Oct 14, 2015 2:47 am by sendoshin

This will be brief, as it's the middle of the night where I am, and I'm busy rebuilding the Release Index. We have a new method for submitting resources for consideration in future Releases. In the past, we've asked these to be emailed to the group address, and while that will still work, you can now also simply upload them to a Dropbox account we've created just for the purpose. Here's the link:

Community Submissions Link

NOTE: Dropbox will ask for a name in order to upload files. Please use your forum name for this, as your files' names will be changed to add the name you provide. This is meant to prevent issues when multiple people upload a file with the same name. We will remove your name from the files' names long before release in any case.

We do have a fairly small size limit, so email before submitting videos and other files larger than 50 or so MB so we can check whether there's enough space there first. Of course, if your own Dropbox has plenty of space, you can always just share it with us from there directly - just use the group's email address for that.

Hopefully this will make things easier to get to us so we can review it and release it! In the meantime, back to work with me...

Enhancing The Release Index
Sun Sep 09, 2012 3:50 pm by sendoshin

OK, so all of this [the items discussed at Assisting with the (digimob) Project] came to fruition not long ago with the Release Index (see the navigation bar at the top of the page), but there are still some features missing. Since everything in the database was put there automatically, by script, and straight from the .torrent files, at that, there is no categorization (aside from file types), and no author info. It wouldn't be hard to automate this information going into the database in the future, but some sort of mechanism still has to be devised to make it work. And then there are the 12,310 files already listed that would have to be updated with the relevant info. So still a lot of work ahead to get all of this working well, but I think it might be manageable.

So the next step would be to figure out how to indicate the categories and authors in future digests. There are a couple of ways I can think of, some more difficult and involved than others, but I think the easiest would be to set up the folders into categories, for example:
Code:
/Western Inner Traditions/Fraternal Societies/Golden Dawn/:file:

From there, for the author name, I see two possibilities, both as easy to work with as the other. The first option would be to begin the file name with the author's name, much as has been done with prior releases, in a format like "Crowley, Aleister - Book of the Law.pdf" or "Gozaknee, Tanranin Uhcheek, Frater - The Red Planet Arrives.pdf":
Code:
:last:, :first: :middles:, :titles: - :work:

This has the added benefit that the author is never severed from the file, but the drawback of having really long file names, which can be a problem on some file systems, such as DVD.

The second option is to continue the use of folders. Using the same basic format as above, with the difference that the author's name would be a folder name, so it would come out "/Western Inner Traditions/Fraternal Societies/Golden Dawn/Gozaknee, Tanranin Uhcheek, Frater/The Red Planet Arrives.pdf":

Code:
/:category:/:subcategories:/:last:, :first: :middles:, :titles:/:work:

This only shortens the file name by two characters from the method above, but that may be all that is needed in many cases. The author is no longer directly associated with the file, but since file names can be changed after downloading anyway, that is not a great drawback. And credit is still given.

It may be obvious that I'm leaning …

Where is Submissions Digest #30?
Sun Apr 24, 2011 9:36 pm by Admin

Digimob is a quarterly-release group, but many of you may have noticed that two quarters have ended without a Release. Part of this is the fault of the current wearer of the hat of group Admin - namely myself, F.D.T. A combination of laziness, busyness, and lack of resources has gotten in the way, and for that I sincerely apologize.

However, another part is a general lack of assistance from the community itself. Live links are prohibited on the forums for two reasons: first, we cannot verify the legality of such links without extensive research, not to mention the applicability. Second, we prefer to share those works which qualify not only with members of our community, but with the world as a whole - which is why we opted to use Bittorrent as our Release mechanism. (There is also the technical limitation of using a free forum which doesn't grant us access to our forum database - if we get kicked off of this server for whatever reason, we may not be able to take your posts with us.)

So, the main reason I am not writing an article about having just released #30 is because we need your help. If there is anything in your collection which is not in ours (the Release Index was created to help check just that), please submit it for inclusion in our next Release. All you have to do is ZIP it up, upload it to a free file hosting site (there is a list here), then email the link to occult [dot] digital [dot] mobilization [at] gmail [dot] com. Our Content Team will download the files, check them over, and then include them in the next Release. If your files don't make it, wait to see if they show in the next Release before asking us what gives. We'll try to let you know if we can't include something because of legal limitations (this tends to be very rare).

If the time has not come to retire this project and give way to others, such as theoccult.bz (which has a high level of interest among members of this site), we will continue to do our best to provide what service we can. However, without your help, we will never be able to pull it off.

Go well, and may the Winds guide you in your Journey.

digimob.tk Expiration
Mon Apr 09, 2012 6:34 pm by sendoshin

Several of you will have noticed already that digimob.tk is no longer working. This is because the government of Tokelau has decided that digimob is a "special" domain, and wants to not only charge us for it, but wants to charge us more than the regular going rate for paid .tk domains. (In case you weren't aware, .tk means the domain was registered through the Tokelau government domain registrar, since Tokelau considers itself too small to really make any money from their country code without letting the rest of the world register there cheap. But that gets rather technical rather quickly.) Since we are a volunteer-run organization, we cannot afford to purchase the digimob.tk domain - and beyond that, once we start spending money on this, it stops being what it is, so we try to avoid paying for anything at all if we can help it.

All of this is a wordy way of saying digimob.tk is no more. Please continue to visit the forums by going to https://digimob.forumotion.net/ as you have been, and pass this URL to anyone who asks. We can't update the notes in the Releases, so there will still be many who cannot find us without your help.

Uncover the Secrets of the Esoteric, Magick, Metaphysics and the Paranormal

The word occult has its root in the Latin word occultus, meaning clandestine, hidden, or secret, and refers to the 'knowledge of the secret' or 'knowledge of the hidden', and often popularly translates to 'knowledge of the supernatural'. This term is also popularly taken to mean 'knowledge meant only for certain people' or 'knowledge that must be kept hidden'. For centuries, this knowledge was deemed too dangerous to be shared with the masses, so it was kept hidden from them underneath layers of superstitions, half truths and whole lies by those who were afraid of it or those who had much to gain by keeping it to themselves.

That time has long since past. With the spectacular advances made by society with respect to individual rights and freedom of information, more and more people are learning about this occult knowledge and how to make use of it to empower themselves and better their lives. And with the advent of the information superhighway (a.k.a. the Internet), access to this treasure trove of occult knowledge has become as easy as a few clicks of the mouse.

This website is our humble effort at making occult knowledge more accessible to those who are ready for it. By collecting and sharing free occult, esoteric, magick and metaphysical ebooks and software that can be found all over the World Wide Web in one place, we hope to make the learning process much easier and more enjoyable. It is our fervent desire that you be able to find what you are looking for within these pages, or, at the very least, be pointed in the right direction on your quest for occult knowledge and wisdom.

Is there no way to get books for free anymore?
Im from the south, the bible belt and none of my libraries have books on witchcraft, mythology, deities or anything of the like. I prefer to read books rather than reading internet articles because in my opinion its a lot easier to find and research the author than on internet articles. Call me old fashioned and a book nerd, but i also am in between jobs and going to school so literally not much money. Is there no other way to get this knowledge for free but online articles? Is it selfish to even be asking this question because I definitely want to support the authors i just do not have money and i am in no way shaming them for selling their work for the money they deserve. I am just so frustrated and hitting a brick wall at this point.

I like this one as an alternative to sacred texts and this one has books and images and a few other niche bits & bobs. Though obviously subject/school specific Thelemapedia is chock-full of publications, text extracts and around 1000 magick and occult related articles.

Put in your location, search for what you need, and it will give you the libraries that have it. Then go through an interlibrary loan or reach out to whatever university might have it.

Library genesis has basically every occult book that I've searched for. I don't think you'll find physical copies for free or loan.. a lot of occult books are very expensive and the types of people that want to check them out are.. well, you know.

Yes and the internet archive was mentioned already but I would like to double down on that because it's collection of occult, philosophy, and religious content is vast, not just the books section but the video as well. There's also the option of buying hardrives with content already downloaded on them, transferring the PDFs or videos to your cell phone, and using a text to speech app to listen to them. If you are blessed with the ability to listen to headphones at work, or if you have a calm home you can spend hours discovering and learning. I work 12 hours shifts 5-6 days a week so lots of time to learn.

Thelemapedia, Luminist Archives, and most importantly ar hive.org are the best resources you can get for free. Archive.org is awesone just in general

Project Gutenberg has free out of copyright books by William Lilly, and on astrology, cartomancy, witchcraft

Archive.org also has free .pdf

just search and read critically

Commenting to follow because I need more plugs to free books.

Side note: if you have friends that use books on Apple you can send books and pdfs for free

People have already given suggestions, but I'd recommend checking out the internet archive. They have some of Crowley's works and some other occultic books like books on Kabbalah and spell work too. I can't promise too much as I've only gone through bits of it, but there's some useful stuff there to look for.

If you use the Telegram messaging system there is a bot called one 1library That allows you to look for and download books. I haven’t looked for a occult titles there yet but it’s worth a look.

Online free libraries like libgen have some pretty obscure occult texts, including a lot of modern ones.

The Henry S. Olcott Memorial Library run by the Theosophical Society in Wheaton Illinois is an amazing occult resource and open to the public. They have a mail borrower program that is free if you are a member or 40 bucks a year if you are a non member. I believe you have to pay for shipping but because of the USPS media mailer program it is I believe de minimis.

https://www.theosophical.org/library

So free books, not free library membership and shipping.

also if you are okay with ebooks https://www.globalgreyebooks.com/index.html has a lot of public domain occult stuff.

ac1dangel would you PLEASE come back and finish the rest of the categories from #23 and onwards so that the public underground internet ether can get a complete leak preservation catalog of ebook occult intel insights. Same kind of name torrent format continuing the bulk collection on Concen or Elsewhere. :)

Please Confirm you are alive and well after a sudden a abrupt disapearance?

So far I got the 1.76TBs of available goods on a Western Digital HHD, but I know there is a bit more Catagories to fulfil the grand garden of Bits.

Categories Done Made Avaiable 32 out of 51.

##Lovecraft Mythos

##Non-Dualism <3

##Northern European Paganism

##Other Eastern Traditions

##Paranormal

##Philosophy <3

##Qabalah / Kabbalah / Cabala <3

##Ritual Magic

##Satanism

##Southern European Paganism

##Surfism

##Tarot / Oracle Cards

##Theosophy / Anthroposophy

##Transpersonal Psychology <3

##Yoga / Tantra <3

May someone DM send me a link of an addendum collection or an Invite to https://theoccult.click/login.php promise to Seed and Contribute. It would be a great service so that this grand collection doesn't fall prey to Link Rot or Bit Rot as the decades and centuries advance.

I managed to grab a bunch of stuff from Concen.org before it suddenly denied me access. Specifically stuff from Theoccult.click. I'd love an invite to complete the set. In the meantime if anyone needs some files I'm happy to share. I have roughly 687GB worth of stuff so far.

Warning about /r/psychic - mod weirdness regarding how to identify frauds
I feel like this and other communities should know about this. During a question there Where does one find a good psychic, I posted comments linking to a long-form article on how cold-reading works, and how to spot if you're being subject to someone well versed in this stage-magic form.

I also linked that there was also recently a PSA here about 'not buying demon pact spells for $9000'. Similar idea, since a lot of cold-reader types will also sell spells to fix the ailments they 'discover' during your cold-read.

The fishy part: multiple times, mods silently removed my posts with no explanation. Reaching out also lead to no responses as to why.

You can see one of them via reveddit.

After conveying with dear witchy and occult friends about this, we had the idea that perhaps mods of r/psychic are doing cold reading tactics, and removal of this post was so others couldn't learn to be informed of these types of fraudulent actions.

There's something definitely "weird" about this situation. So, at least, this can be a warning to be aware.

This is happening at r/psychicdevelopment as well.

The only people who seem to engage are the ones who seem desperate. Reporting these posts does nothing to have them removed.

As a clairvoyant, I don’t need anyone to do my readings for me but apparently lots of people are falling for these scams so yikes to that.

OP

The only people who seem to engage are the ones who seem desperate.

Ugh, that is terrible...

I did do some professional (paid) tarot. I had a client whom, after being asked the similar desperation questions, refused further readings of those questions and gave back her money.

I don't mind helping people, but I won't sit back collecting $$$$ because of what amounts to desperation. Even if they paid someone else for it. I won't be a party to that.

[deleted]
3y ago
Hey man, could you explain how you realized you were clairvoyant? I'm curious if it could apply to me as well.

[deleted]
3y ago
Every single human being on this planet has the potential to unlock their clairvoyant abilities, friend. I'm sure it does apply to you.

I always knew things, felt things, saw things, heard things… but earlier this year, I was given the number of a clairvoyant reader by a friend. I googled her and since she had no online "psychic" presence, just her realtor career stuff, I figured I would book a reading and see what was up.

This lady blew me away. Insane. Never met anyone like her. She knew things that she had no way to know. Specific things. She sent me images of the things she was seeing with her mind. She saw my life, man. She's taken me to the Akashic Records, showed me past lives, helped me clear karma and cut karmic cords. I've never met her in person and we do everything over the phone.

Long story short, I have readings with her on occasion still, but she referred me to the place that she studied clairvoyance and I have been taking classes there. I start my next one tomorrow. Everything has gone fast as hell from that first reading. My abilities are exploding but it takes consistent, daily practice. It is hard. Frustrating at times and has really opened my (third) eye to how arrogant I was about my own abilities. It's been humbling to see how far I have to go still. In January, I start their two year mediumship program. Everything we learn is meditation based. It is very precise and involves very specific exercises done in a specific order. At least that is what I've experienced so far.

If you are interested in a link to the school, message me and I'll hook you up. Too many scammers on here to post in a comment. They teach teleconference classes all over the world. It's pretty neat and, I think, affordable.

If you are also interested, the book "Basic Psychic Development" by Jon Friedlander contains all the exercises I am learning so far.

I get irritated when people message me about "I have a message for you", typically it's a dm. I play along and let it draw out, just to see what they want. As they continue, I catch on that it's bs. "I need to tell you about this generational curse." 🙄🙄

Then I tell them to go away, because I'm the only witch in my family and I know how to do my own readings tyvm. Then they leave me alone. There were quite a few recently, and I ignored them.

From my own experience with gifted people in my life. Legit psychics will never ask you a question. They don't have to.

They may be a little fuzzy trying to describe the i formation they're recieving. But they won't ask. It will depend on their experience. So you may need to work out what they describe.

One fellow wasnt use to using his abiliy for a while. And had a hard time conveying info he got from my uncle. Who eventually lead him to a turtle tank our friend has. Then I figured out it was my uncle. He coulnt have just guessed why turtles would be significant. When I was a wee kid. I was nearly bitten by a big snapping turtle that had taken up residence in our pond.

But what had me confused for a while, once I knew it was my uncle every clue made perfect sense the fellow could not have guessed, was I think he presumed my uncle was the same color as me. Lol

So I think his presumption affected how he saw my uncle.

But someone with a true gift wont ask or lead you to fill in the blank.

I'm greatly interested in learning about the occult. Any helpful advice you can offer me would be greatly appreciated. I'd like to find quality resources and people to learn from sooner rather than later. Thank you all for your help and support.

I'd download this 45 GB torrent of occult materials

(an even larger occult torrent at 480GB is https://1337x.to/torrent/3800017/The-Occult-Library-v1-5-480GB/ , but the above one is plenty suitable.... unless you're hunting down very narrow works that aren't available anywhere else.)

And then, I would start reading them. It'll be slow. You'll find areas that pique your interest. And others will make you uninterested. Write down your experiences as you learn.

Some paths will have practices you can try. As you are comfortable with them, try them. Also write down your experiences here. Some may be very uncomfortable - like meditation can have some disturbing imagery.

This is a path that will likely take you 1-3 years to accomplish. And by then, you'll have a respectable understanding of many occultic systems, basics of how they work, their histories, and what paths you wish to work with.

How much do you think a demon pact is worth? If I were to sell one, $9,000 seems pretty low considering the risk... not that I would sell or look to buy one.

mirta000

3y ago
Hello, Theistic Luciferian here - it is worth nothing. Would you sell a prayer? This is the same thing. Now if the customer offers something on their side, it will be between them and the Infernal Divine, the 3rd party in between can not add anything to said offer. In the end it will be up to Infernal Divine to answer or not, meaning that the person could have cut the 3rd party entirely and simply meditated on a sigil, or chanted an Enn.

BriantologistBaxter

Some spirits allow such sales, I hear. It's common in voodoo. I guess if people say its worth it... I knew a guy in Chicago years ago who sold voodoo contracts STARTING at $10,000 and he was very popular...

Over 7GB of Freemasonry E-Books
I mentioned in another thread that I have over 7GB of Freemasonry e-books. I couldn't remember where I got them from, but I did a search over on the Pirate Bay and I'm pretty sure I found the torrent. It contains over 700 e-books, as well as images, periodicals, and a Masonic font (which is just the Masonic Cypher). AFAIK everything is in the Public Domain (so it should be legal), but I could be wrong; some of the books mentioned are also available via other links that someone else provided in another thread for free Masonic e-books. I've provided the link should any be interested in downloading the torrent. Clicking the link will only take you to the page, and will not start a download or anything. I hope y'all enjoy it.

I'm cleaning up file names a bit. The book themselves were split across two folders, and were all in upper case. There were underscores in the places of spaces. Some had an underscore in the place of a letter. I'm also going to move "The" to the end of titles so you properly alphabetize them.

The image folders I'm not sure what to do with. Many of the images just have a number and no name and I don't recognize them all. Some of the images don't appear to be masonic (they're just orders of knights or symbols of nations).

I might upload the collection to my Google Drive and share it where people can see it and more easily grab a single file rather than a .RAR file that is nearly 8 GB for the whole collection.

If someone can help me clean up the images, that would be great.

There seem to be some decent things in there. Then there are a few silly things such as:

enderandrew42
9y ago
I'm thinking of cleaning the collection up and putting it into a Google Drive share where people can more easily browse the files and download what they want (or easily check out the whole folder).

At a glance that book appears silly, but I'm not sure I want to delete it entirely simply because I prefer to preserve things. I'm thinking of creating a sub-folder for "Not Necessarily Masonic" books and move some into there.

If you have suggestions for other "chaff" that I should separate, please let me know.

Could you post a list of the works? As a general rule, you can only be sure about works (published in the US) prior to 1923, though many published before 1964 are also PD.

I haven't checked the link yet, but I need to ask: Are these public domain books, or are these pirated? We really can't post the links to dumps of books that are illegally obtained.

From what I can tell these are public domain. Many seem to have been scanned into Google for their preservation thing.

Hey bro bros. I see a lot of Masonic apparel online. Never thought anything of it until I met a guy from my lodge that wears Masonic…. Everything… every day. Is it common to draw attention to being a Mason outside of the lodge. I’m an EA and am not wearing the S&C yet. But is it common in the 3°?

Ebook Piracy and Wicca
What are your thoughts about this?

I feel that this has been a big problem, and many authors have lost so many sales because of the people who decided to not buy any books, but instead, torrent them.

For example:

https://drive.google.com/file/d/0B835MeLjESycZDl6YWZzZ0REbHc/view

I have no idea how to report the thousands of books I have found online for the Occult, Wicca, Witchcraft, and other forms of Paganism out there. Any ideas, like the link I posted?

I think it's a delicate situation. There isn't really a way to determine just how much the authors are actually losing out on, but it's probably not that much. However I think having them available might do more good than bad in this instance. A lot of young people can't have physical books around because of their families. And of course some people might not be able to afford them. Many libraries in smaller towns don't carry these types of books. It's also mostly older books that are torrented, so the authors have made about all they will from them anyway :/ Normally I'm against torrenting but this is just a weird situation.

I don't think there is really anywhere you can report them though. The government knows about big torrent sites already and file sharing on a smaller scale just isn't a priority.

There's an old saying that people don't value what they haven't paid for (either with money or with effort of some kind). Most people I know who have torrented occult books don't even read them.
I don't torrent myself because I don't want the malware which often accompanies torrent downloads. Can be very nasty indeed.
Also note that there are vast numbers of old texts online which are out of copyright - these are not the problem. It's only the modern texts for which pirating is an issue.

I don't acquire illegal downloads of books. To do so is like stealing from the author. Would you want to work for free? Do you know how many hours and how much money goes into making a book? It's disrespectful to the author.

[deleted]
11y ago

I don't consider it piracy. Torrents are a distribution method. If publishers want to they can spend money to manage the distribution method (and find a suitable price-point), or they continue spending money on "fighting" it (basically trying to put the genie back in the bottle).

I think authors (and to a smaller extent publishers) have a right to money for their work, and they can recoup that cost in through high-quality "hardcopy" editions, autographed editions, t-shirts, posters, etc.

Like others have said, it behooves people to go out and purchase a "hardcopy" of a book if they've enjoyed reading an eBook they downloaded. That way the author gets paid and will hopefully write another book.

First. Scott Cunningham isn't losing anything because he is dead.

Second: When copyright laws were established the protection of original material lasted only for 13 years or so depending on location. The point of copyright law is to encourage the production of new works by allowing the creator to make a profit. That time limit was changed over time because BIG CORPORATIONS (Disney, etc.) bought Congressmen to keep making profits from Mickey Mouse and other properties rather than to make new works. It now prevents production of new works because creators no longer need to make anything new to make profits. I disagree with the gross extensions of copyright law to protect Corporate profits.

Third: Perhaps I'm old fashioned but I don't enjoy reading the on-line versions. I use them when I want to do a search such as finding out how many times Gardner mentioned "Wicca" in his books. Computers are really good at word matching searches.

Fourth: When I find an on-line edition that is interesting I'll buy a used hard copy. The big corporations hate that too. They don't want you to own a copy. The copy you buy can be read by two people, passed to another person, or sold used for a reduced price. They want you to pay for a "licenses to read." With computer copies they can control what you do with your copy until hackers make another copy.

Fifth: Having the on-line version allows me to read part of the book to see if I want a hard copy to read and for my own library. Even Amazon allows us to read a portion of new books before deciding to purchase.

In Summary, I support copyright laws that protect authors for the first 15 years or so, but not perpetual protection. I enjoy looking at books before purchase but I'm not going to read the whole thing. I also don't buy new copies of older books because used copies are just as good. There comes a time when older books should be public domain.

I was having a really hard time trying to figure out exactly where I sit on this issue, and then I read your response and realized that I agree 100%. Buying a used copy of a book, or borrowing a friend's, or having one "regifted", or checking one out from the library also do not do anything for the author or for the publisher.

I think the word "piracy" is a pretty intense word. I can check a book out from the library and make copies of pages I want to keep, or copy out a passage into my journal, and then share that with other people. Is that piracy? I'm not sure of the legal definition of such an act, but I'm sure they would try to find a way to get me in trouble for that.

I, like u/greybeard45, will check a book out first in a "free" way to see if I want to purchase it. If I do, then I will purchase it from one of my local, independently-run bookstores or metaphysical stores if I possibly can. If my local bookstore or metaphysical store doesn't carry it, I will ask them to order a copy for me so I can purchase it from them.

In my opinion, supporting local or niche businesses is way more important that supporting giant corporations like Amazon or Barnes & Noble, and it is my primary reason for buying books at all (other than the obvious "I want to read books" reason). And regardless of whether I buy it from Amazon or my local bookstore, the publisher is still getting their cut, and the author (or the author's estate) is still getting theirs. If I buy it from a used bookstore, well...tough shit for the publishers and authors.

I have a general dislike of torrent services, which is really more personal than ethical. Put simply, I don't want to get in trouble with my ISP if they find out I'm torrenting.

In my opinion, the advancements of technology are harming the industry - when you buy a "license to read", as mentioned above, that harms the industry in an indirect way, because people will be more inclined to find "free" or pirated copies of the book rather than pay for a specific, non-sharable copy of the book.

ALL OF THAT BEING SAID, I generally support anti-piracy laws. When people pirate small, independent movies, it makes it impossible for such movies to be made. When people pirate huge summer blockbusters, the studios don't give a crap because they're still going to make money hand over fist. Same with music - torrent the music, and the artist's progress is stunted. Buy the music, and the artist gets to keep making music.

Books are a little more complicated.

this is a very complicated issue in my mind. i feel as if it is our responsibility as a community to pay them back, HOWEVER, as a religion, the ease of access to materials is what will bring more people in and allow for the exchange of knowledge which we should be striving for.

it is rare that the bible is pirated because theyre everywhere you look. its also the dominant religion, at least in the US.

The Bible is public domain. There is no copyright held on it, and no author or author's estate to profit from its sales. You can download copies of the Bible until the cows come home and it's perfectly legal. Very much a different thing than pirating a book published in 2008 by an author who relies on its sales for their paycheck, which is what people take issue with.

samata_the_heard
11y ago
Mmm, I'm not sure about that. I think certain translations of the Bible ARE copyrighted. The King James version is public domain, as are a few others. But if you're looking for one of those newfangled Bibles with a fresh, modern translation and a bunch of footnotes and expository text in it, you're going to pay for it.

There is a big difference between a "new" book published in 2008 and an old book published in 1988. Copyright laws should protect new books and other new works, but not older works. Christian book stores still make a decent profit on their bibles.

The bible is actually one of the most shoplifted books in the world. I think people in general feel religious texts should be free.

I think that statistic is based on taking Gideon bibles from hotel rooms, rather than stealing from bookstores.

[deleted]

It's almost moot. Books are only a resource--they can't teach you jack. Only experience does that, and personal practice, and books can't provide that.

Beyond that, most authors losing out on $$ are published by Llewellyn anyway, which pays them very little and treats them like dirt. Frankly, we need a better publisher to dominate the scene.

[deleted]
11y ago
Can you elaborate on Llewellyn paying little and treating authors like dirt? I'm no disagreeing with the statement, I'd just love to know more.

[deleted]
11y ago
Basically, they're not paid much for the work they do, and get a lower percentage of profits than other publishing houses would give. I've had the occasion to chat with authors published by that house. The general feeling (granted, it's a small sample of three or four) was that they're viewed as cash cows. Submit your manuscript and piss off.

In the interest of full disclosure, these convos were about a decade ago. Things may well have improved since then. They were also sued over one of their authors, Kisma Stephanich, who plagiarized her books Faery Wicca Parts One and Two and The Gaia Tradition from other authors.

I got this last week and started chipping away slowly at all the content. It's amazing.

It took awhile for me to download the whole thing since there weren't many seeders, or maybe my ISP didn't want me looking at such powerful documents. ;)

I urge you not to violate the intellectual property of others, especially occult authors. I learned the hard way on this one. Please don't make the same mistake I did and think its ok to make a copy of someone elses IP.

[deleted]

Hmm. How exactly did you learn? You can't just drop something like that and then not elaborate :P

[deleted]

I have it on good source that some authors use Enochian angels. That shit is even worse than the MPAA ;)

Seriously, I have it too. It's awesome. Please seed. And please BUY SOME BOOKS from the author you like, writing occult book is a business in which you hardly break even, so support the authors you like.

Edit: See Robert A Wilson for example? A superstar if there was one. Does anyone remember his death? Guy had to sell his Thoth cards one by one to raise a bit of money for his medical expense. When word got out, everyone sent him 23$ so he could die at home with his family.

Tear jerking story, yes. But not everyone is Bob Wilson.

600 GB corpus of all paywalled scholarly sources of Wikipedia
Scholarly publishing is a racket where research entities pay all the costs for the outputs but publishers seize them for free and get the same research entities to pay exorbitant prices to rent them back. In an open publication like Wikipedia, two thirds of the academic sources are paywalled, although many are green open access (archived by open repositories).

A torrent has been compiled from various sources to provide a corpus with nearly all such paywalled papers for Wikipedia in all languages. It contains about 561k PDFs for as many DOIs, divided in 1529 ZIP files for a total of 600 GB. The archives are sorted by publisher (DOI prefix), so you can download just what you can or are most interested in. There's a list of DOIs inside.

The corpus is only for personal and research use, for instance to help text and data mining and any other effort which requires fast or bulk download.

Please preserve a copy and seed! The info_hash and magnet link are:

f968e22840df243befc6dd123e7d37613002fca8

I wish I had the free space. That's a gold mine!

Although if I want a paper, I just mail the author. 90% of them, they'll send it to you free of charge!

I'll definitely be downloading this. It's a good start to mirroring the vast library that sci-hub has.

Any downloads for studies not cited by wikipedia? Does sci-hub share their set?

7y ago
There's a lot of stuff out there, the problem is how to make a mirror usable and sustainable.

LibGen torrents are probably the biggest collection (20+ million?).

Internet Archive's journals collection is the easiest to download individually (almost 2 million, mostly public domain).

CORE datasets have full-text (unformatted?) for almost 10 million articles (mostly with some Creative Commons license?).

As far as I am aware sci-hub doesn't actually have anything saved on their servers. What they do is source login-credentials from people who attend/work for various schools and colleges across the world (because a lot of school pay subscriptions to the various journals so that the students attending can access them as needed) and then use their subscriptions to generate on-demand access keys to the various scientific and medical journals which the person then downloads from.

Looking for a rare book/pdf
From my father, who is a scholar of the occult but not very savvy when it comes to torrents, etc. Can you guys help us?

I've been searching for the first two volumes of Hoodoo - Conjuration - Witchcraft - Rootwork by Harry Middleton Hyatt, printed by Western Publishing for the Memoirs of the Alma Egan Hyatt Foundation and distributed by the American University Bookstore back in 1970. Someone is selling scans on youtube for $500 each: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Lw84O3Mxlug. These must be out there somewhere in some torrent on the dark web - can you find them for me? I thought maybe the occult digimob would have them, but they look like they've gone belly up.

I don't know where you are, but I found this on Lucky Mojo:

"The bulk of the Hyatt collection is currently archived at the UCLA Center for the Comparative Study of Folklore and Mythology and in the Quincy [Illinois] University Department of Special Collections. "

So the UCLA Center for the Comparative Study of Folklore and Mythology has a link to a page where you can request to view their holdings if you know when you're going to be there.

Quincy University in Illinois has a whole frickin' Hyatt Folklore Collection. You can't look at the whole thing, but you can get permission to view some of it if you write ahead. Their webpage has contact info, but it's got to contain a copy of his best known books.

Family vacation?

Edit: Or go here and put in your zip code and it will tell you what nearby libraries have it. They catalog libraries worldwide.

I know that if a book is over 100 years old, it becomes open source.

That being said, Google has this thing called "The Guttenberg project", in which they scan all those open source books and you can view them for free. I would give that a try.

And if you know other languages, look for it in those languages.

ELI5: C.G. Jung "The Red Book" and his Liber series?
The biggest things I want to know is:

How and where did he start his "journey"

What was his end goal?

I am super broke and can't put out for all the books (especially because the last time I checked, the red book was expensive), so does anyone know if there are good (english) PDF's or audio books out there for free?

His journey started when his life began to fall apart in his early 30s. He had been hiding his mystical/occultist leanings, which were a HUGE part of his childhood (he came from a family full of supernatural, mystical, and psychotic influences), from his professional and academic peers as much as he could, but would discuss his ideas with his mentor and close friend Sigmund Freud. Freud and Jung disagreed about some important psychoanalytic theories, which, after 10 years of friendship, led to a violent end of the relationship, throwing Jung into a deep depression. Around the same time, Jung's marriage was falling apart, partly due to his open affair with a patient/student. He was also increasingly terrified at the prospect of WWI. This personal crisis is what catalyzed his descent into his unconscious. He decided to withdraw from teaching, quit his job at the mental hospital, and kept only a few patients, spending the next 2-3 years basically isolated and experimenting with his consciousness to trigger visions and hold conversations with the spirits he evoked, especially his main guardian and teacher, Philemon. Most of the Red Book was produced during this intensive period.

I don't think he had a specific one, and that they changed over time, depending on personal context and whatever new system of thought he was into. Some important goals: Discovering his personal mythology. Integrating the conscious and unconscious. Achieving self-realization. Being a channel for the birth of a new religion, for which he may or may not have been the messiah.

Already addressed.

He had a natural, inherited inclination toward mystical/supernatura experience. Jung's maternal grandfather was a pastor and possible schizophrenic who "trained" his young daughter (Jung's mother) to ward off evil spirits while he worked on his sermons. As a child, Jung witnessed his mother in conversation with spirits in her room as he hid behind the door. This contrasted with the beliefs of his father, who was also a pastor and had Jung's mother sent to an asylum for long periods at a time. From an early age, Jung had an extremely active dream life, was a strong introvert who spent his free time communing with nature in the woods near his house, and developed many peculiar rituals to protect himself from negative influences. In school he realized he had the power to create and overcome his own neurosis, but he became convinced that he had two personalities: one, a regular Swiss child who followed the boring rules of society, and two, a mysterious 17th century nobleman who was wise and respected scholar with mystical powers (possibly influenced by the legacy of Jung's paternal grandfather, a famous Swiss physician, 33rd degree Freemason, and possible illegitimate child of Goethe). In college, Jung organized seances with his mother and cousin, who seemed a talented medium, to contact the spirit world, and learned how to put himself in a controlled trance and evoke hallucinations.

So you could say Jung was predestined to become who he was. I wrote a bio on Jung in college and obviously it was incredibly fascinating. It's also interesting to see how he changed after college:

Jung at one point realized that his cousin had been faking her medium experiences, after he caught her repeating some stories he had given her to read while she was supposedly channeling a spirit. He became disillusioned and wrote his master's thesis "On the psychology and pathology of so-called occult phenomena", in which he basically labelled his cousin as mentally ill and managed to hide all the details of his own involvement. Soon after this he got a job at a world-renowned mental hospital (Burgholzli), working under the "discoverer" of schizophrenia, Eugene Bleuler, and focused purely on mainstream psychiatry for years, in which he became a famous researcher in his own right. Only after meeting Freud later on did he become interested in psychoanalysis, which eventually led him to study the mythological content of schizophrenic hallucinations. This contributed to his theory of the collective unconscious ("how else could schizophrenics show similar thematology all over the world?") and, I think, gradually reawakened his interest in the occult. I think that tension between keeping up appearances as a mainstream psychiatrist but wanting to explore the deeper truths of mankind was a huge stressor on his psyche, so that when the dams finally burst, he did a complete 180 and got lost in his own mind for a good while. During his "confrontation with the unconscious" he refined his technique of "active imagination", which combined the trance techniques he already knew with the free association methods he had developed as a psychiatrist.

A great read for understanding Jung's life and the development of his thought processes is his quasi-autobiography, Memories, Dreams, and Reflections.

See if your local library has an online catalog, and if you can reserve the book. I did this, and received notification that it was available for pick-up, went in and was shocked at how large it was. It's a beautiful book. By all means grab the torrent or a PDF version, but check out the real thing if you can, even if it's for 30 days -- it's fantastic. Good luck!

ELI5 CG Jung...

I found that a bit funny. Seriously though, if you haven't read it (given 1 and 2 I'm guessing not) I'd recommend reading 'Memories, Dreams, Reflections' first. It's a fairly short, casual read (most of his other publications are a lot more involving) wherein he describes much of his overall motivations (including those for Liber Novus) and methodology. I think it may also be available online. It's not where I started, but in retrospect IMO one of the best places for someone interested in Jung to start.

If you (or anyone else considering it) do want to get the Red Book, you may want a digital version. The actual book is so enormous as to be unwieldy - just reading it at home can be awkward, forget taking it anywhere. It's beautiful, but gigantic (worth the price IMO but also rather expensive). This is assuming that a digital has both the original and English translation and not just the translation (even if you don't know German I'd say it's worth having both).

At the point of questioning.

What do you do after you're enlightened? Now what? I think the non goal was his intent, that the point is simply change. And it's not better or worse, just different.

If you (or anyone else considering it) do want to get the Red Book, you may want a digital version. The actual book is so enormous as to be unwieldy - just reading it at home can be awkward, forget taking it anywhere. It's beautiful, but gigantic (worth the price IMO but also rather expensive). This is assuming that a digital has both the original and English translation and not just the translation (even if you don't know German I'd say it's worth having both).

I think even if you know German it would be pretty damn hard to read all that dense calligraphy!

At the point of questioning.

What do you do after you're enlightened? Now what? I think the non goal was his intent, that the point is simply change. And it's not better or worse, just different.

Questions about this book...

Fragmenta Ex Machina – Glitchium Sacrum

By Ezekiel Redik Yarbrough

🕸 Fragmenta Ex Machina

Project AngelBook – Volume X – Parts 1–36

By Ezekiel Redik Yarbrough

This volume is not made up of my own words.There is no original commentary here, no narrative, no analysis.This is simply me copying and pasting large chunks of text from my bookmarks—pages that were easy to extract, with no hyperlinks or formatting issues, saved from open tabs and archived corners of the web.
It's messy. It's unfiltered. It's chaotic.But it's valuable.
Each piece inside this volume was bookmarked for a reason.Not always because I agreed with it, but because it felt like a fragment of something larger—an insight, a worldview, a download.This is source material, plain and raw.
Fragmenta Ex Machina isn't about authorship.It's about preservation and system-building.It's about feeding the machine—laying bricks for the Operating System I'm constructing across these books.This is the raw intake phase. The memory dump. The zero layer.
Later volumes will be cleaner, more refined, more structured.But this? This is the foundation. The ether stream, bound and frozen before it vanished.
So if you're looking for polished prose, skip this one.But if you're here to explore the roots of something much bigger, this is where the signal begins.
Welcome to the fragments.

Favorite online occult resources
This has all probably been posted before but if not please feel free to add to the list so we can share!

[Sacred Texts] (http://www.sacred-texts.com/) : "the largest freely available archive of online books about religion, mythology, folklore and the esoteric on the Internet. The site is dedicated to religious tolerance and scholarship, and has the largest readership of any similar site on the web."

[Digimob] (http://digimob.forumotion.net/) A decent forum for all things occult AND if one were inclinded to download their torrent links one would have a whole library worth of information.

[Hermetic.com] (http://hermetic.com/) Some interesting hermetic and other resources for the occult mind.

[Twilit Grotto: Archives of Western Esoterica] (http://www.esotericarchives.com/): A good mix of occult authors and topics [Occult Underground] (http://www.occult-underground.com/) A LOT of ads but a lot of books for download as well.

There was a torrent on the pirate bay (digimob something something) it was mostly PDF and plain text but very complete nonetheless (a couple Go).

I'm on my mobile so it's a bit complicated but if you check my post history it was one of the first things I posted on reddit.

Edit: didn't mean to post as a reply to your comment but there you have it

Works of Darkness
Hey guys, I need a pdf of this title by E.A Koetting (or any of his other works). His books are far too pricey. I want to try before I buy. Would anyone be willing to give me the link?

Ok so a quick search shows that this guy has a "Buy my ebook!" site. I never trust those.

After a quick skim, it's really nothing out of the ordinary as far as common LHP writings go. It's a bit "Lulz, look how evels I is!" but no worse than a lot of other writings. Seems to be a lot of rehashed material, similar to Michael Ford's stuff or the Demonic Bible. If you're new to the LHP, it could be an ok introductory text I guess.

Definitely torrent rather than buy, maybe there'll be something of value in there.

Like attracts like. Work with darkness and you'll be surrounded by it. I can't think of a single good reason to immerse myself in such things.

I'm looking for some ANCIENT books. : r/occult

sirelagnithgin

I'm looking for some ANCIENT books.

Hello,

I'm looking for PDF or hard copies of the books below (PREFERABLY FREE):

Simon Necronomicon https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Simon_Necronomicon (YES, I KNOW THIS ISN'T ANCIENT - I'D LIKE TO READ IT ALL THE SAME)

The Prodigies Of Egypt
https://www.amazon.com/Prodigies-Egypt-Murtada-ibn-al-Afif/dp/1515177955

Akhbar Al Zaman (mentioned in The Prodigies of Egypt) The History of Time

The Book of the Son go Gnosis and the subtitles of elevated things.
https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Shams_al-Ma%27arif

If you were able to link me to them, i'd be eternally grateful. Also, feel free to let me know about your experiences or chat about any of these books.

NOTE I'M LOOKING TO READ THESE FOR EDUCATIONAL PURPOSES. I DON'T BELIEVE IN SUPERNATURAL INTERFERENCE, NOR WOULD I WISH TO IF I DID...

Check out the UK Publisher, 'Forgotten Books,' I stumbled upon them recently & is my first go-to for any searches of original texts and the inherent translations

https://www.forgottenbooks.com/en

If its not there....head to the Holy Grail of all ancient texts & closest thing we have to the Library of Alexandria itself IMO.....the Vatican Library's digital archive at the bottom of the page you will find the torrent link :

https://concen.org/sites/default/files/torrents/Magick%20Sorcery%20Occult%20Esoteric%20Hermetics%20ebooks%20archive%202015.02.05.torrent

this torrent library contains Simon Necronomicon you are going to need a torrent downloading software, and definitely a VPN if you live in a country where torrent download of copy right violating content is illegal.

A physical theory of psi phenomena
Speculation
There are no definitive theories yet about how psi phenomena like telepathy, clairvoyance and precognition work. Psi phenomena represent physical anomalies which, when fully understood, will likely lead to breakthroughs in physics, technology, and our understanding of the universe. Any "Theory of Everything" which neglects psi phenomena is automatically incomplete. The key feature of all psi phenomena is nonlocality: an independence from distance and time. Psi phenomena are not mediated by electromagnetic effects, which diminish quickly over distance.

What follows is a good beginning to a physical theory of how psi phenomena work. I'm not here to debate the existence of psi, but rather to move forward. By the standards applied to any other science, psi phenomena are proven real. I've seen unambiguous psi phenomena in my personal life as well.

Initial assumptions and observations:
I start with the assumption that if somebody can sense it, it is physical just like the other senses. But because this sense involves nonlocality, it must be based on something physically different than photons, or anything used for the other conventional senses.

All the psi research, especially from the 1880's to today, points to a nonlocal way for information/energy/matter to transfer. This includes information from the future, demonstrated by some remote viewing experiments and many examples of spontaneous precognitive psi. In order for precognitive psi phenomena to work, it requires physics that are both nonlocal, and deterministic.

Interpretations of Quantum Mechanics: Existence of psi determines winner and losers:
Enter the contenders for quantum mechanics: the mainstream theory is the probabilistic Copenhagen interpretation, with wave-particle duality and all that. Because Copenhagen says particles exist as clouds of probabilities, there is no way that Copenhagen can explain the deterministic nature of psi phenomena. For example, in an experiment where someone uses remote viewing in a precognitive way on a target from a large pool chosen by a random number generator, it would be impossible to work without a highly deterministic physics.

The QM interpretation that is compatible with psi and much more intuitive than the Copenhagen interpretation:
But there are other interpretations of QM that can explain all the experiments of QM. The main contender that can explain psi phenomena is David Bohm's Pilot Wave theory. David Bohm even gave a speech to a psychic organization (ASPR) and believed his physics did provide an explanation of psi. In Pilot Wave theory, rather than try to stuff the wave-like nature of things and the particle-like nature of things into the same objects (particles), Bohm proposed that these two kinds of attributes came from two sources. Particles are point-like in definite locations, and in addition there is a universal pilot wave consistent with Schrodinger's wave function. In the classic double slit experiment, the particles were always in one place at a time, and the influence of the pilot wave is what provides the diffraction pattern.

Bohm's pilot-wave theory is far easier to conceptually understand. The only reason it is not the favored QM theory is because the calculations are much more difficult than the Copenhagen interpretation. I believe this is because Copenhagen is akin to an approximation, whereas Bohm's Pilot Wave theory is what is actually going on. Calculations in the Copenhagen framework utilize linear equations, which are handled much more easily than the nonlinear equations of Pilot Wave. Other than that, Pilot Wave a great theory that vastly simplifies QM. With Pilot Wave, there is no wave-particle duality to grapple with, there are no paradoxes, there is no weirdness transitioning from the micro to the macro, there is no Measurement Problem (which is a huge problem for the Copenhagen theory).

The Measurement Problem:
The Measurement Problem is this: Picture the classic double slit experiment using light (photons). The moment before the photon hits the screen, it exists as a distribution of probabilities. But then in the next moment, the photon is 100% localized in one exact spot, and the position is 0% in all other locations. By what physical means did the wave function "update" from one moment to the next? The Copenhagen interpretation has no answer to this. For Pilot Wave theory, there is no issue at all: the photon always existed in an exact location at all times.

A gigantic missed opportunity in mainstream physics:

According to mainstream physics, there are no experiments that can be carried out or even imagined that could be used to determine which of the many interpretations of QM are correct. Mainstream physicists also do not acknowledge psi phenomena. Psi phenomena are the physical anomalies that are already well documented to exist, and which point the way towards the correct interpretation of QM. The correct interpretations of QM must be deterministic and nonlocal, such as Bohm's Pilot Wave theory.

Bell's Theorem (a.k.a. Bell's Inequality):
The experiments that came about because of Bell's Theorem have ruled out QM interpretations with local hidden variables, but leave open the possibility of nonlocal hidden variables. Many physicists make inaccurate statements like "The Bell experiments rule out hidden variables" forgetting that nonlocal hidden variables are completely consistent with all experiments conducted so far. In Pilot Wave, that nonlocal hidden variable is the universal pilot wave.

Psi and Biology:
All that it takes for psi to work is that biology has evolved a way to physically interact with this nonlocal and physical pilot wave that is everywhere in the universe. The pilot wave is everywhere, and similar to a hologram, every piece of it provides information about the whole. When a human's brain physically tunes into sensing this pilot-wave, information from literally any distance and any time can be tapped into. By using consciousness, e.g. by forming specific intent, one can sample a small portion of the pilot-wave for cognition.

Why aren't all animals super psychic?
Why aren't we all super psychic, since knowing the future would seem very advantageous? This psi information source is nonlocal, and if access is opened up too much, it could provide too much distracting information from far away, or in the past, or too far in the future to be relevant to immediate survival. An animal absorbed in a lot of nonlocal information may get eaten by the predator right next to it. Example I witnessed of this principle: I knew a guy who was very psychic, then became schizophrenic. His psi functioning opened up too much, and I think the voices he "heard" were based on telepathy going off randomly and frequently, and he couldn't function well in society.

Deterministic Psi and Free Will:
While I am advocating for a deterministic physical theory, I still think there is also free will. Whatever it is of us that survives death, some kind of pure consciousness, it exists in some realm beyond 4D space-time. It isn't simply extra dimensions, it's something entirely different and beyond quantum mechanics. A deterministic theorist only eliminates free will if he has the hubris to say that his theory is the final word in physics. I'm proposing a deterministic physics, plus something beyond that which is less well-defined. This something "less well-defined" is evidenced by NDE reports and reincarnation reports.

Psi and the Many World's QM Interpretation:
The "Many Worlds" (MW) interpretation of QM is probably the next most popular after the mainstream Copenhagen interpretation. Psi phenomena rule out the Many Worlds interpretation, unfortunately for fans of MW. The way MW is formulated, it cannot be compatible with precognitive deterministic phenomena. Many Worlds is oddly both kind of deterministic and probabilistic: It is deterministic in that all possible outcomes are realized, but it is probabilistic from the point of view of the observer. As discussed previously, psi phenomena are observed to be nonlocal. MW is probabilistic from the observers viewpoint, therefore MW is not compatible with psi experimental results, and is thus ruled out.

In addition, physicists consider MW to be a local theory, whereas all psi phenomena are nonlocal. The demonstrated nonlocality of psi phenomena automatically rule out any QM theory that is only a local theory.

Psi phenomena show where General Relativity is wrong: Faster-than-light information IS possible:
Nearly all physicists subscribe to the idea that the speed of light is a limit that cannot be broken, which comes from Einstein's General Relativity (GR) theory. However, psi phenomena, especially precognition, provide data that proves faster-than-light (FTL) communication & energy transfer are possible, rather than impossible. The existence of even one instance of precognition disproves the FTL limit of GR.

Again, psi phenomena provide gigantic clues for physicists to follow, but they ignore the data that would lead them forward.

Psi phenomena show that the "No Communication" theorem is dead wrong.
In QM, there is the "No Communication" theorem which is similar to the limit of light speed in GR. The "No Communication" theorem states that while it may look like entanglement could provide information faster than the speed of light, they don't believe that useful information can go faster than light. The existence of even one instance of precognition proves the "No Communication" theorem to be wrong.

Psi phenomena have already proven the existence of worm holes:
Einstein's math (as developed by Karl Schwarzschild around 1915) predicted both black holes and worm holes. At first, we didn't know about black holes, but decades later black holes were confirmed. Worm holes, on the other hand, were predicted but mainstream science hasn't yet identified them. Psi phenomena, 100% of the time, demonstrate information/energy/matter going from Point A to Point B, without traversing the intervening space, which is exactly the definition of a worm hole. In my physical theory of psi I claim that psi phenomena ARE the worm holes that physicists are looking for. Some psi research shows evidence of teleportation: See JB Hasted's book the metal-benders.

Psi and history:
Psi phenomena have been demonstrated over thousands of years of human history. Both Buddhists and Yogis documenting the "siddhis" which are psychic powers attained by doing a large amount of meditation. Those old texts match up well with what modern psi research has rediscovered. Modern experiments show that seasoned meditators have greater psi ability than non-meditators. Experiments also show that meditating just before performing a psi task enhances results.

I presume you're familiar with Penrose-Hameroff's Orchestrated Objective Reduction?

I am fairly familiar with it. While they have yet to show exactly how microtubule actions build up to consciousness, I do like very much how Hameroff shows the negative correlation with anesthetic potency and states of waking consciousness. I also like Bernardo Kastrup's version of Idealism, because it is a Theory of Everything which very nicely deals with the kind of expanded consciousness demonstrated by NDEs and OBEs, which can be their most vivid during states of clinical brain death. Kastrup finds a different and seemingly opposite kind of correlation: Kastrup shows that hallucinogens like LSD and mushrooms actually reduce normal brain function, leading to expanded consciousness.

I think the way to possibly resolve this is that the Penrose-Hameroff consciousness model might apply best to the "normal" consciousness of normal awareness versus anesthetized lack of awareness, whereas Kastrup's theory deals with the aspect of consciousness that comes from whatever it is of our consciousness that survives death and becomes periodically reincarnated.

Edit: Here is a way to put it:
Penrose-Hameroff = brain consciousness,
Kastrup = mind consciousness.

I like the Campbell/Kastrup/Hoffman sort of paradigm. I'm anxiously awaiting the results of the experiments Tom Campbell has running at a couple of universities.

I like Campbell in interviews, but his Big TOE trilogy is a long complicated slog that I would not recommend to people. I have become more and more sure that one of the big questions in quantum mechanics is mostly answered by psi phenomena: In QM, there are several competing interpretations (e.g. Copenhagen, Many Worlds, Pilot Wave, and others) and the mainstream thinking is that there are no experiments that can be performed to determine which is correct. Most people, including the very enlightened people who have moved beyond conventional materialism, are so indoctrinated with the mainstream Copenhagen QM interpretation that they don't take a step back and consider the alternatives. I think psi phenomena, especially precognition, are THE phenomena that have largely answered which QM interpretations are correct. Rather than no experiments being possible to determine the correct QM interpretation, I think that existing information has already given the answer. Only a QM interpretation with nonlocality and determinism can be correct, and the most developed theory along those lines is David Bohm's Pilot Wave theory. It surprises me that someone like Tom Campbell hasn't recognized this as well. What is making his theory not quite right is that he is still working in the probabilistic framework of Copenhagen wave-particle duality, etc., whereas I consider that already proven wrong. Even with authors that support Bohm's Pilot Wave interpretation (for example, Michael Talbot & his very excellent book The Holographic Universe) as an explanation for psi phenomena, they are still attached to ideas like wave-particle duality which are eliminated by Bohm's Pilot Wave interpretation.

I agree about the Big TOE trilogy. I couldn't get through it. It needs to be rewritten, and with all the cruft removed. There was so much stuff in there that didn't need to be. It made it very difficult to read.

Psi and Biology: This sounds EXACTLY like the concept that uses the phrase The Akashic Record. The AR is information that is available to anyone who can tap into it...how I don't know, but a number of people channeling info have said it is from the AR.

Remote Viewing:

Ingo Swann is the most well known Remote Viewer, and wrote some interesting books, to include aliens and their buildings on the Dark Side of the moon and aliens among us.

I have remote viewed, by accident once. Found out someone I know has done it multiple times. Remote Viewing is where you, your actual being, leaves your physical body and travels to another place, where you can see and hear things, and could even interact with other beings (which happened to Ingo Swann, in Resurrecting the Mysterious, by Ingo Swann).

The SRI (Stanford Research Institute) and the CIA would test for it, and then train people that scored high enough.

Other Psychic Phenomenon:

Another person I know did something like this and connected with their relative in an out of body experience that was real. Both of this people met and interacted, and both independently remembered this the next day. The first person said they left their body and the experience happened, and the 2nd person said they were dreaming (but they had an interactive experience, which is not supposed to happen while dreaming).

I have had an "information download", when I was five, that was triggered by???, where I knew information about a dead person, that turned out to be correct. I have had several other instances where I knew something that other people knew, that i was physically present with, so that could have been "mindreading", possibly.

The bottom line is: We have MANY psychic capabilities, that are typically unused, and untaught, so to many people, their experiences are "weird", and they feel strange when it happens to them (usually). One example of this is accessing the Akashic Record, or communicating with supposed alien entities.

Suggested Resource:

Initiated, by Matthew Roberts, is a UFO/Alien/The Journey book about a career Navy intel guy, who was on the carrier in the Pacific during the tictac incidents, and studied the 4k films of them for hours, and determined they were alien spacecraft. He was later visited by aliens and UFOs, and was cured of stage 4 terminal cancer in one visit. His visits with the UFOs/aliens, gave him access to psychic phenomenon. He often felt like he was going crazy, and saw a NAVY psych docter, who encourage him to write a book:

"NOTE TO THE READER

I wrote you this book out of my unconditional love for mankind; to be etched in the timeline of the human experience as a testament to a brutally painful truth; to the difficult journey we all must take; to the beauty of what we must become; and to the strength and resiliency of the human race. We all have value. We will all have a role to play in our journey homeward toward the stars.

I should have included something about the Akashic Records, thanks for bringing that up. I think Bohm's universal pilot wave is the Akashic Records. A discarnate entity probably has total or near total access to it, and can pass information to a channeler.

Ingo Swann: He was awesome. I've read two of his books and intend to read all of his non-fiction books. I've read his unfinished half book Remote Viewing - The Real Story, which goes into detail about the development of his RV methods. I've read Everybody's Guide to Natural ESP, which had a lot of insights. Both of those were excellent, and I was very impressed with him both as a researcher, thinker, and experimenter. I've heard a lot about Penetration, that seems to be his best book. I've read about a dozen other books from people involved in the RV program.

What happened to you was technically not RV, because it is only RV when you follow an RV protocol (procedure). RV us using clairvoyance with one of several similar protocols. What happened to you sounds like spontaneous clairvoyance. The spontaneous psi events tend to be the strongest (compared to intentionally, consciously using psi). My daughter had a strong spontaneous clairvoyant experience once, and I had a precognition once. I hate all these different names. Precognition is exactly the same as clairvoyance, except that the information came from the future instead of the present.

With the theory I've proposed here, I used to view RV and clairvoyance as not requiring any physical travel at all. Since Bohm's universal pilot wave contains the information of the universe everywhere in the universe, wherever you are you have access to all information without moving. In more recent months, I'm learning more about consciousness (Bernardo Kastrup, Edgar Cayce) and I think that our consciousness seems localized in our brain, but really it extends everywhere. Our brain limits/constrains our mind/consciousness to our localized existence in normal 4D space-time.

The bottom line is: We have MANY psychic capabilities

I agree. I think that all the "basic" psi (clairvoyance, telepathy, precognition, psychokinesis) are just slightly different flavors of the exact same thing. Add in that there are discarnate eternal spirits that also have access to the Bohm pilot wave and can interact with us, and you've got the possibilities for mediumship, OOBEs/NDEs, astral projection and reincarnation.

Your psi experiences sound very interesting, I have to admit I'm jealous when I hear about these things. I'm not overtly psychic at all, and I had the wrong (debunker) attitude about it for decades. In the recent years, with a changed attitude and doing meditations and sensory deprivation, I've now had many "suggestive" psi experiences and 1 instance of a mild spontaneous precognition. I've seen my mother and daughter have very strong psi experiences, and I've learned a lot from being able to observe that.

Thanks for the book reference!

I think you hit home with understanding, concerning the Quantum Mechanical action of psionics. From my readings, which are admittedly dated, though are based in scientific research and understanding, the explainable action behind telekinesis and remote viewing are directly related to QM, and a person's ability to influence this force.

Thanks for taking a look. As for dated readings, there is a lot of very good but quite old & obscure information that is really good. The more I am researching psi the more I find there’s a wealth of information that’s been lost or forgotten. Some examples are Extrasensory Perception of Quarks by Phillips, and the metal-benders by JB Hasted.

I have a bit of an argument against the deterministic nature you are proposing. While yes, psychic abilities can predict the future, there isn't anything stopping me from altering that future. I think, and hopefully, this is correct that we are on the same page. That there is a deterministic aspect to it, it isn't totally deterministic, though. I propose timelines as an alternate solution to how psychic abilities work. The timeline we are on, we'll call the main timeline for now, at least, because this gets complicated. Let's say I predict something in the future with an rng like the rng will produce some result. Let's say my prediction is 100% accurate. What's stopping me from destroying the rng and having that prediction never come true? See how timelines begin to get invoked? Now, we've deviated from the main timeline into an alternate timeline where now the prediction never came true. It's not ever right to call this timeline the main one. This is just the one we inhabit. I'm interested in hearing your response on this one.

Thanks for the comment. I have thought a lot about this issue of free will versus determinism.

On the one hand, you can set up an experiment that demonstrates determinism: remote viewers with a very large target pool, and the target is chosen afterwards by RNG. There's no way that the electrons in the RNG could be the probabilistic kind of the mainstream Copenhagen view and still have this experiment work. It would be like trying to pocket a ball in billiards with a combination shot, where the balls are all mushy clouds of probabilities, oh and the combination shot isn't just 2 or 3 balls in sequence, but trillions of balls in a sequence.

On the free will side, I take into consideration what I'm learning about spirit mediumship & reincarnation research, which is that we have a discarnate aspect of ourselves that lives forever and has free will to make choices.

One day I had the realization that in the debate about free will versus determinism, everybody is working with the same unspoken assumption: that the next layer of physics we figure out is the last. If a scientist argues that electrons and quarks behave in a deterministic way, then it seems like everybody agrees that is the same as saying there is no room for free will. But the unspoken assumption needs to be examined.

So the next realization I had was that we can have both free will and determinism if there is more to reality that this one next layer of physics. The one next layer of physics in this case would be "discovering" that Bohm's idea of the pilot wave is correct, and that there is this universal pilot wave that makes everything deterministic.

What I am proposing is that our consciousness, and all the multitude of discarnate entities, exist in some other realm that is outside of our everyday physical realm. I don't like to use the word "dimensions" here, because that word is already taken up in defining the four dimensions of our 4D space-time, so we have to use some other word like "realm" to designate where the discarnate entities are. From that realm, our consciousness (and also discarnate entities) can exert influence on our everyday physical realm, perhaps by direct influence on the universal pilot wave, perhaps by projecting into our realm from that realm.

At this point I get to something that sounds a bit like the Newtonian laws of physics: the particles of our universe (e.g. electrons, quarks, etc.) continue on a completely deterministic path unless acted upon by an outside consciousness.

Quick aside: I don't like to call any of this stuff "nonphysical". My view is that our consciousness and all the discarnate entities are also physical, in a way, if they can exert influence upon the physics of our realm. It's physical in a way we don't understand yet, just like someone from 1,000 years ago would think invisible FM radio waves are nonphysical. Even our thoughts are physical: they leave a trace in the universal pilot wave that can be examined later by psi ability. For example, in the psychic archeology experiments covered in Stephan Schwartz's books, sometimes a psychic examining an ancient artifact can hear the thoughts of the ancient person who possessed the artifact.

there isn't anything stopping me from altering that future.

I agree.

On timelines: I haven't felt the need to invoke them yet, and I'm resisting doing that until it's necessary. It seems like it's hard to observe if there are alternate timelines, so we might not be able to ever resolve that. With the concept of discarnate entities, reincarnation, etc, I think that is a reproducible phenomenon showing us there is something else out there that is both real but mostly outside our normal reality. I think the existence of this other realm of entities, all with free will and all with some potential to influence our realm, provide enough justification for the future to be alterable.

I don't have everything 100% resolved though. As I've presented it, it might seem like there is the possibility for paradoxes like traveling back in time and killing an ancestor. Maybe that creates the need to invoke multiple timelines, but I'd like to consider other ideas. One idea I have been mulling over is whether our conventional view that the past is 100.000% fixed is a wrong assumption. If that assumption is wrong, there is only one direction to go, towards less determinism of the past. My view of how the future works has gone from less to more deterministic, and I wonder if my view of the past needs to go from more to less determinism. Perhaps we exist on a single timeline where both past and future are mostly deterministic but alterable by the effort of consciousness. If things like the "Mandela Effect" are real (I'm not sure myself, but let's suppose), that could be a demonstration of the malleability of the past, along a single timeline, when enough conscious entities exert an influence in our realm. Under this framework, I'm keeping in mind that there are some unknown number of discarnate entities out there. Perhaps some committee of discarnate entities got together, and 100 trillion entities decided that Nelson Mandela should be alive instead of dead, and they each exerted some small but cumulative effect to alter our single timeline, leaving some artefacts like people who "remember" Mandela being dead (like me).

I appreciate this comment. I still have yet to fully understand the pilot wave theory, and I will be doing something to know more about it. There is an experiment i wish to set up, but I'm not sure how which is basically a retro causality experiment. Something that could essentially prove time travel. One way would be to use PK or psychokinesis and use psychokinesis in the future to affect a past rng. Another way would be to be able to predict the future 100%, prove that first that you do indeed know the future, and then make a decision based on knowing the future with rngs again.

The reason I mention timelines and the reason I invoke them so freely is that it seems that the future is affected by the present so much especially knowing the future. If you know the future 100%, then you could essentially veer off from that future with your actions. While yes, you can set up a deterministic experiment, my take still stands that what if I destroyed the rng? The result never happens, something that was supposed to happen because we remotely viewed it, and now it never happens.

A book I recommend checking out is Croiset The Clairvoyant by Pollack, published 1964. Croiset was extremely giftedt. Mostly he solved missing children cases, but he did these amazing "chair tests" administered by professor Tenhaeff (one of the few or only chairs of a university parapsychology department). They'd give Croiset a seating plan for a future event, like a month in advance. A random chair would be selected, and Croiset would say to the best of his ability who would sit in that chair. He gave astonishingly correct information. Sometimes he wouldn't get anything, and it would turn out that nobody sat in that chair on those occasions.

How Rotation Drives Magnetic Levitation
October 13, 2023• Physics 16, 177
A detailed experimental analysis explains the forces by which a spinning magnet can cause another magnet to levitate in midair.
J. M. Hermansen et al. [1]
An experiment with off-the-shelf components uses a magnet glued to the end of a rotary multitool. Its rotation causes a second magnet to levitate millimeters away from the first one.

Magnetic levitation is common in floating trains and high-speed machinery, but two years ago, a new type of levitation was discovered that uses a rapidly rotating magnet to suspend a second magnet in the air. Researchers have now clarified that this phenomenon originates from slight tilts in the magnetic axes of the magnets relative to their rotational axes [1]. The research team's experimental and theoretical work reveals surprises about how magnetic levitation works. The new technique could one day be used as a contact-free tool for manipulating objects.

And yet, many systems harness magnetism to achieve levitation by relying on feedback mechanisms that generate stabilizing adjustments to the magnetic fields. Other systems rely on gyroscopic action to stabilize their position. The Levitron toy, for example, is a magnetic top that is spun by hand and then placed above a magnetic plate that exerts a repulsive upward force on the vertically oriented top.

A unique mechanism appears to be behind the new levitation, first demonstrated in 2021 by Hamdi Ucar, an electronics engineer, then at Göksal Aeronautics in Turkey [2]. He attached one magnet—the "rotor"—to a motor so that the magnet's pole-to-pole axis was oriented perpendicular to the motor's rotation axis. The rotor was rotated at about 10,000 rpm and held above a second magnet—the "floater"—which spun into motion and levitated upward until it floated in space a few centimeters below the first magnet. Unlike the slow-spinning Levitron, the floating magnet is accelerated to a high rotation speed by the rotor's motion. The magnetic forces also do more than just counter gravity—they trap the floater, even as the system is turned sideways to make the rotational axis horizontal. While the initial 2021 study presented many experimental configurations and provided an explanation for the levitational forces, it did not pinpoint the mechanism for stabilizing the floater's rotational motion.

Now Rasmus Bjørk of the Technical University of Denmark and his team have filled that gap. They first designed a do-it-at-home levitation experiment using off-the-shelf neodymium magnets, glue, and power tools. But they also performed a more rigorous experiment in which they attached a 19-mm-diameter spherical rotor magnet, with magnetic field strength of around 1.2 tesla, to the drive shaft of a vertical drill whose rotational speed they varied from 7500 to 17,000 rpm. For floaters, the team used various spherical 1.2-tesla magnets with diameters ranging from 5 to 30 mm. Using recording equipment and motion-tracking software, the researchers uncovered the details of the levitated magnet's motion. "The key highlight in our experiment demonstrating magnetic levitation is how exceedingly simple it is to realize," says Bjørk.

J. M. Hermansen et al. [1]

Spin and lift. A spherical magnet is attached to an upright drill with its magnetization axis in a horizontal orientation. When the drill is turned on, a second spherical magnet is drawn up and levitates just below the first magnet. The close-up image shows how the floater magnet orients its magnetization axis in a nearly perpendicular configuration with that of the rotor magnet.

The researchers made several observations that led them to an explanation of the levitation. Notably, as the floater began rotating, it became locked in frequency with the rotor magnet. Additionally, the levitating magnet assumed a vertical orientation—specifically, its polar axis aligned with the rotation axis but with a few degrees tilt. This configuration, in which the polar axes of the two magnets are nearly perpendicular to each other, would normally be unstable.

To explain this unexpected near-perpendicular configuration, the researchers turned to numerical simulations. They found that the rotor's spinning magnetic field exerts a torque on the floater, drawing it into a locked rotation. Due to the gyroscopic action of this rotation, the floater's polar axis tilts only a little, resisting the torque that would draw it into a parallel configuration with that of the rotor. As for the levitation, a small misalignment of the rotor's polar axis with respect to the horizontal results in a small, static component of the rotor's magnetic field along the rotation axis. With the static field and near-perpendicular configuration, the magnetostatic force exerted on the floater has both an attractive and a repulsive component that balance each other at a point below the rotor.

Ucar says that the new study "provides precise experimental measurements and analytical evaluations." One of the team's conclusions is that induced eddy currents inside the magnets are vanishingly small, and thus these currents cannot be the origin for the levitation. Nevertheless, Ucar suggests that the simulations could be improved by better accounting for the role of eddy currents.

The system has potential applications in magnetic trapping and manipulation, observes Marcel Schuck, CEO and founder of No-Touch Robotics in Zurich, who commercialized a touch-free, magnetic-field-based, gripping robotic arm. He says the rotating magnet system is less complex than an actively controlled magnetic levitation system and incurs lower losses than systems that rely on induced currents.

Correction (18 October 2023): A citation [2] has been added as well as a clarification that this paper contained both a demonstration of the phenomenon and a theoretical explanation of it.

How Rotation Drives Magnetic Levitation

October 13, 2023• Physics 16, 177

A detailed experimental analysis explains the forces by which a spinning magnet can cause another magnet to levitate in midair.

J. M. Hermansen et al. [1]

An experiment with off-the-shelf components uses a magnet glued to the end of a rotary multitool. Its rotation causes a second magnet to levitate millimeters away from the first one.

Magnetic levitation is common in floating trains and high-speed machinery, but two years ago, a new type of levitation was discovered that uses a rapidly rotating magnet to suspend a second magnet in the air. Researchers have now clarified that this phenomenon originates from slight tilts in the magnetic axes of the magnets relative to their rotational axes [1]. The research team's experimental and theoretical work reveals surprises about how magnetic levitation works. The new technique could one day be used as a contact-free tool for manipulating objects.

If you bring together two toy magnets with their north poles facing each other, they will repel each other. You might be tempted to try and use that repulsion to counter the force of gravity by placing one magnet beneath the other. However, common experience shows that this balancing act is unstable.

And yet, many systems harness magnetism to achieve levitation by relying on feedback mechanisms that generate stabilizing adjustments to the magnetic fields. Other systems rely on gyroscopic action to stabilize their position. The Levitron toy, for example, is a magnetic top that is spun by hand and then placed above a magnetic plate that exerts a repulsive upward force on the vertically oriented top.

A unique mechanism appears to be behind the new levitation, first demonstrated in 2021 by Hamdi Ucar, an electronics engineer, then at Göksal Aeronautics in Turkey [2]. He attached one magnet—the "rotor"—to a motor so that the magnet's pole-to-pole axis was oriented perpendicular to the motor's rotation axis. The rotor was rotated at about 10,000 rpm and held above a second magnet—the "floater"—which spun into motion and levitated upward until it floated in space a few centimeters below the first magnet. Unlike the slow-spinning Levitron, the floating magnet is accelerated to a high rotation speed by the rotor's motion. The magnetic forces also do more than just counter gravity—they trap the floater, even as the system is turned sideways to make the rotational axis horizontal. While the initial 2021 study presented many experimental configurations and provided an explanation for the levitational forces, it did not pinpoint the mechanism for stabilizing the floater's rotational motion.

Now Rasmus Bjørk of the Technical University of Denmark and his team have filled that gap. They first designed a do-it-at-home levitation experiment using off-the-shelf neodymium magnets, glue, and power tools. But they also performed a more rigorous experiment in which they attached a 19-mm-diameter spherical rotor magnet, with magnetic field strength of around 1.2 tesla, to the drive shaft of a vertical drill whose rotational speed they varied from 7500 to 17,000 rpm. For floaters, the team used various spherical 1.2-tesla magnets with diameters ranging from 5 to 30 mm. Using recording equipment and motion-tracking software, the researchers uncovered the details of the levitated magnet's motion. "The key highlight in our experiment demonstrating magnetic levitation is how exceedingly simple it is to realize," says Bjørk.

J. M. Hermansen et al. [1]
Spin and lift. A spherical magnet is attached to an upright drill with its magnetization axis in a horizontal orientation. When the drill is turned on, a second spherical magnet is drawn up and levitates just below the first magnet. The close-up image shows how the floater magnet orients its magnetization axis in a nearly perpendicular configuration with that of the rotor magnet.
The researchers made several observations that led them to an explanation of the levitation. Notably, as the floater began rotating, it became locked in frequency with the rotor magnet. Additionally, the levitating magnet assumed a vertical orientation—specifically, its polar axis aligned with the rotation axis but with a few degrees tilt. This configuration, in which the polar axes of the two magnets are nearly perpendicular to each other, would normally be unstable.

To explain this unexpected near-perpendicular configuration, the researchers turned to numerical simulations. They found that the rotor's spinning magnetic field exerts a torque on the floater, drawing it into a locked rotation. Due to the gyroscopic action of this rotation, the floater's polar axis tilts only a little, resisting the torque that would draw it into a parallel configuration with that of the rotor. As for the levitation, a small misalignment of the rotor's polar axis with respect to the horizontal results in a small, static component of the rotor's magnetic field along the rotation axis. With the static field and near-perpendicular configuration, the magnetostatic force exerted on the floater has both an attractive and a repulsive component that balance each other at a point below the rotor.

Ucar says that the new study "provides precise experimental measurements and analytical evaluations." One of the team's conclusions is that induced eddy currents inside the magnets are vanishingly small, and thus these currents cannot be the origin for the levitation. Nevertheless, Ucar suggests that the simulations could be improved by better accounting for the role of eddy currents.

The system has potential applications in magnetic trapping and manipulation, observes Marcel Schuck, CEO and founder of No-Touch Robotics in Zurich, who commercialized a touch-free, magnetic-field-based, gripping robotic arm. He says the rotating magnet system is less complex than an actively controlled magnetic levitation system and incurs lower losses than systems that rely on induced currents.

Correction (18 October 2023): A citation [2] has been added as well as a clarification that this paper contained both a demonstration of the phenomenon and a theoretical explanation of it.

Abstract
Introduction; Vedic Astrology is certainly the oldest, most elaborate, complicated and precise astrology, what makes it correct, unique and saves it is the nakshatras and dasa system, for predictions especially. The problem is that Modern "Hindu" astrology have, since middle ages or so, adopted a different zodiac system aligned to the constellations (named mostly by the Greeks) instead of the equinoxes. Is it correct?…..let us see.

MJ2 – Purple Programming – Monarch Mind Control Programming

Posted on 2021, January, 29 by foxblog

Purple was noticeable colour in the Biden inauguration. Hillary Clinton, Michelle Obama and Kamala Harris all wore variations.

Jill Biden also wore purple a day or so before.

Gina Phillips explains how the purple is part of Monarch Programming.

This is split into 4 videos. She explains how Level 1 programming spreads down to Level 2 media, models, holywood etc and down to the masses…

Update 2021 Feb 13 I have now added the transcripts which have kindly been provided to me. They are towards the end.

Update 2022 Sept 12 The blog has been largely deyoutubised due to their absurd censorship

Update 2021 Feb 13 I have now added the transcripts which have kindly been provided to me. They are towards the end Rough Notes on videos…

The BLM purple that Gina spoke out, may well have been caused by a purple filter on the camera, not clothing.

Gina explains that purple is injected into peoples base programming. Red and blue programming is on different halves of the brain, which in programming are normally kept separate. Purple programming brings this together, with all the consequences that that will bring.

Some imagery of the inauguration Gina thinks is similar to the movie The Cell.

The Cell

The insect may represent Apollo. Apollo is connected to cicadas… Move to purple flood of Noah.

The plan is for the Antichrist to bring peace for those programmed, by changing the programme and it appears to others as though he brought peace.

Cicadas harvest energies from underground, to grow hybrid beings, which come out when Apollo becomes tied to Queen of Heaven. Bees and poison released all over. Poison is in blood of the elite, fallen angels etc. Movie Lucy, Scarlett Johansson, shows how this is played out for commons Level 3. Poison injection, water ?? Mix of humanity, blood, giving Human 2.0.

Kamala and Hillary both similar colour, equal rank in hierarchy, and this causes stress to programmees. They harvest this stress/loosh about who is higher for maybe 3 months until they release. They say Aphrodite or whoever, will come and take stress away, which programmee will accept to get rid of stress and and this “legitimises” the choice as being of the programmee, even though it is made under duress and not of their own free will.

Gina expects more purple programming in the Superbowl Sun Feb 7th, which will give more instructions to the programmees.

You need to watch the videos, I cannot sumamrise in short time.

There is also purple on the tree of life /kabbalah, which is often used as a template for programming as shown by this tree of life mirror drawn by ritual abuse survivor Kim Noble.

Foxyfoxblog Kim Noble – No Ordinary Artist [9]

The purple is on Yesod

I don't understand the significance of this, if anyone would like to write on this, let me know.

I think Jessie did a decode on purple, which maybe would be interesting. Searching through her twitter unfortunately the link she gave is only to a search for Right on Radio, not a specific program. Tweet re Purple [10]. No program seems apparent on the day of tweet 24th Jan, and then I would have to waste time finding the section. Programmes should be easily identifable and properly labelled. If they are not they dont get used.

It is a shame that much of Jessie's valuable perspective gets lost on various radio shows due to pathetic indexing. Until Jeff and Jessie show get their act together with proper show notes and indexing, and by this show some respect to researchers, I do not intend to waste further time looking for items in their shows. I have made my thoughts crystal clear to Jessie on this issue for months now, and there has been no change.

Update Jan 29th- Jessie has now added this…

Gina was right on and did an excellent decode on this. I am only adding some of the deeper layers to the decode. The major book you want to look into is: Initiates of the Flame

https://cathyfox.wordpress.com/wp-content/uploads/2021/01/initiates-of-the-flame-1quick.pdf

Manly Hall Initiates of the Flame wordpress cfox pdf [16]

The above copy is quicker to load and better as an embedded copy, but if you want a better quality copy try this link – Manly Hall Initiates of the Flame [13] pdf

It also is available on You Tube separated into 16 chapters. Most of what you want is in Chapter 5.

So important to draw out that the 3 women wearing purple represent the triune goddess aka the triune mothers of darkness (maid, maiden, crone).

Pearls = Wisdom – Notice the pearl color on 2nd Kabbalah ladder.
Pearl represents wisdom, the crown, the enlightened self, godhood, and priesthood.
The connection with "Priesthood" is vital to understand.

Purple = Saturn, Scorpio, Ashteroth, ISIS, CERN
Blue = Rome, Moloch
Red = Judea (Israel), Baal
Blue & Red = Jupiter, Anti-Christ
Gold and Dove = Base elemental man, love

So with the clothing the red & blue Gaga was wearing represents the antichrist & Rome and Judea which together are considered the double ruling empire of the Ancients. Two Empires ruling together yet always in constant opposition to each other. Dove Gaga is wearing is gold representing the refined base elemental man, it also represents love, it also represents the bird, the symbol of AIR Magik.

Pearls represent Water Elemental Magik. The Pearls being worn over the purple clothing represents the Crowned man or wisdom being laid over the purple or former kingdom of ISIS (A kingdom run by women being handed over to the perfected man). Or Purple, the kingdom of Saturn or Satan being handed over to Jupiter the perfected man.

In Chapter 5 of Initiates of the Flame we see some of the beliefs of the higher Orders of the Flames…

When they do not wear their robes, they make their credentials known by what they wear. Credentials displayed are…

Knowledge = Pearls
Love = Dove
Together Knowledge and Love represent the sign of the coiled serpent Priests are seen by white
Counselors by Blue

The greater credentials displayed are that those who wear Pearls are part of the Order of Melchezedek. The Priest who has no beginning or end. He represents eternal life.

The 3 women also represent the 3 fold staffs of the ruling Priesthood of Egypt. The three staffs are pictured

Staff of Anubis: Symobizes master of mind, able to weild powers of government over others.
Shepherd Crook: guardian of emotions
Whip: Subjugate of physical body
The staffs Jessie refers to are these – the Crook and Whip often seen together, and the staff of anubis which often has a two forked prong on the bottom, but not here.

Screen Shot 2022-09-13 at 9.19.07 AM(4)

Wayne Herschel associates the Ankh with Omega Tau , Omega on top Tau under it, representing a stargate.Wayne Herschel 3 – Alpha Omega Taurus Stargate Revelation Part 3 [40] For password email me. (cathyfoxblog)

Compare this to the 3 items that were contained in the ARK of God.

Jar of Manna represents bread of life vs Shepherds Crook. Instead of God providing manna of life from heaven these priests are proclaiming that they are the Shepherds of life and in charge of emotions like satisfaction.
Aaron's Staff that Budded which represented life budding out of something that was dead vs Whip which represents eternal physical suffering and subjugation.
Tablets of the Law which represented the will and commands of God vs Anubis Staff which represents mastering and ruling in life alone.
There is a lot you can glean from the other chapters of Initiates of the Flame.

These are main points I covered in Video Decode I did on Right on Radio. EP.90 Dark to Light. Know the Future [14] end of Jessie's part of decode

Holocaust Memorial Day in the UK on 27th Jan, lit up various buildings and objects. UK monuments bathed in purple light to mark Holocaust Memorial Day [1]

Prince Charles apparently requested it! Also 2018 they did the same and lit our buildings up in Purple to highlight diversity and disability.

Video Summary

(00:00:01) Gina greets viewers and tells them she'll be doing a decode of the communications and symbolism that took place during the inauguration.

(00:00:16) "Pretty surprising how many people were wearing purple that day, huh? A lot of ex-Presidents and their wives… people all dressed in purple. It does have significance."

(00:00:33) Gina encourages people to view her McFiles interview where she break's down what the 'purple color revolution'/'end time programming' means.

(*The videos were taken down by YouTube, Gina is working on a remedy)

(00:00:50) "You may remember that in 2016, the first time we ever saw anybody in politics wearing this purple was when Hillary and Bill came out for the concession speech in 2016 and Hillary had the purple lapel and shirt… Bill had the purple tie. That was an activation… the people that I work with, the mind control victims that I work with, have dubbed it 'end of the world' program. Purple is a very huge program. The purple 'end of the world' program has many sub programs… it was activated in 2016, and it has 2 stages. So, we've seen the first 4 years – Hillary Clinton activated it at the concession speech. She thought she was coming in as President, but they went ahead and activated it anyway."

(00:01:43) Gina encourages people to check out her website, www.gina-phillips.com, to watch the interview with McFiles if they haven't so they'll understand the decode better. (*The videos were taken down by YouTube, Gina is working on a remedy)

(00:01:55) Gina reviews that Hillary activated stage 1 of 'purple programming' 4 years ago, and she believes that they are now activating stage 2 after seeing the clothing at the inauguration. At the inauguration it escalated from Hillary just wearing purple lapels to all purple outfits.

(00:02:36) Gina takes a minute to address comments she's received in the past from people that have expressed confusion regarding purple programming:

"Before I get into it, I often get people who maybe don't have the background of what I'm doing, so they'll say, 'purple doesn't mean all of that negative stuff- it means royalty in the Bible.' It totally does, I believe and get the symbolism in the Bible of all of the redemptive symbols, but that's not what I'm doing… I have deprogrammed survivors of ritual abuse, mind control, and people who were victims of programming from the cabal, government people, preschools, etc. [for years]. I've been able to see this language-this code that they have… I don't understand it all/don't claim to understand it all, but some of the basics I do. So, I'm decoding them, I'm saying what's happening in the enemy's camp. I'm not saying this has to happen, I believe in the power of prayer, but I just wanted to clarify for folks that this is what it means for 'them.'"

(00:03:43) Gina says there is a 3-tier system used to spread their program activations. The top leaders (President, pope, government world leaders, someone highly visible and 'important') are considered 'Tier 1.' Once 'Tier 1' signals what's supposed to occur, 'Tier 2' (media, music, television, Hollywood) will implement that signal in culture, leading to program activation on a regional level in local groups, which are 'Tier 3.'

(00:05:09) Gina notes that Michelle Obama, Hillary Clinton, and Kamala Harris were in all purple.

(00:05:16) Gina begins with Kamala, citing that Town and Country did an article about her within an hour of the inauguration. The reason that articles were immediately put out referencing what they wore at inauguration is because they want as many people as possible to see it since it's an activation communication.

(00:05:47) Regarding Kamala:

"Kamala is wearing all purple… she's wearing pearls, that's significant. We also saw pearls around the neckline of Jill Biden even though she was wearing a different color. So, there's this article in Town and Country and the headline says, 'Kamala's Pearls Hold a Deep Significance; the VP is Sending a Message with Her Jewelry.' She is! The article goes on to say, "…pearls are the symbol of Kamala's sorority; Alpha Kappa Alpha. Alpha Kappa Alpha is the first African American Greek letter sorority." In the article it talks about how the founders of this sorority are called 'The 20 Pearls.' Each member gets a badge with 20 pearls. Kamala Harris calls her sorority her 'secret weapon.' I don't know what that means, but that's interesting. We see here that pearls are an identifier with Kamala Harris, so it's not just that she wore them that day, she identifies strongly with pearls and her sorority… In the article is says, "pearls have been tied to our notion of femininity since ancient times. In ancient Greece, the goddess Venus, was said to have been born from the sea and was often depicted emerging from a clam shell." They made a mistake, Venus was actually a Roman goddess, not a Greek goddess…"

(00:07:45) Gina mentions that she saw articles saying that purple was chosen because it represented unity. The articles said that if you unite the red from Republicans and the blue from Democrats together it creates purple.

"I want you guys to know that's a code for programming. They always have the cover story for what it means- and it means that in programming as well. You may have seen in previous videos that when a child is first programmed they want to split and divide the mind so you have the 'right brain' and the 'left brain.' One side is color-coded red, and one is blue. They don't want both sides of the brain communicating fully- it's a way of gaining control to put in programming."

(00:08:47) Delving into the history of red and blue programming, Gina says that they've kept the two sides separate for decades, constantly warning programmed individuals to never 'mix' the two and create purple. When people are deprogrammed there is a 'flooding of purple,' meaning their amnesic walled traumas are released in order to prevent programmed individuals from trying to get deprogrammed.

(00:09:17) For the first time, they're beginning the early stages of purposefully bringing the red and blue sides of the mind together to activate the 'end of the world purple program.'

"It hasn't fully gone out yet, but they're saying let's line it up in this second stage. It's going to cause the mind to come together and flood both left and right, both blue and red…The articles going out, it [bringing red and blue together] does mean unity, but it's not talking about [the country], it's talking about the programmed people."

(00:10:18) "Kamala Harris and Lady Gaga both represent Venus. It was said that Kamala represented Venus with the pearls and the outfit, but Lady Gaga does also…note that Kamala has all purple with pearls, and Lady Gaga is wearing a red and blue outfit with the dove… Kamala is going to represent the older/elder Venus or Aphrodite, and Gaga the younger. In the younger with Gaga you have the red and blue dress, and Kamala you have all purple in the mature/older."

(00:11:12) Venus is a Roman goddess. She's been worshipped since antiquity and she's an important principality that operates in the 2nd heaven. In other cultures she's referred to by names other names: Venus in Rome, Aphrodite in Greek culture, Astarte in Phoenician, Isis in Egyptian, Ishtar in Semitic culture, Inanna 'Queen of Heaven' in Sumerian culture). Lady Liberty actually represents Venus/Aphrodite. Even though we were taught she represents freedom and liberty, the liberty she represents is sexual. Aphrodite is the patron of prostitutes, ritual prostitution, sexual desire, and procreation. Symbols associated with Aphrodite include pearls and doves, which is why Jill Biden, Kamala Harris, and Lady Gaga were wearing those items.

(00:14:25) Plato believed Aphrodite represented two forms. The elder form, the 'heavenly, spiritual, god' Aphrodite Ourania, was represented by Kamala in 'united red and blue' purple. The younger form, the 'earthly, common man' Aphrodite Pandemos, was represented by Lady Gaga in her red and blue with the dove.

(00:16:36) There are different 'groups' of programmed individuals: 'the elite' and 'the pawns/commoners.' People are ranked according to their bloodline, role in society, royal placement, and intelligence. Those in the system that are high intelligence, from important bloodlines, in government, or have an important role in society are considered 'the elites.' The cabal refers to programmed individuals used for things like BLM and Antifa as 'the pawns/commoners'. Kamala was activating 'the elite' programmed individuals with her purple dress to begin the 2nd stage of the 'end of the world' purple program. Lady Gaga, the 'young' Aphrodite, communicated to 'the commoner' programmed individuals by wearing red and blue to say that they're not activated for purple, yet. However, by wearing the dove and representing the younger Aphrodite, she was communicating that 'Aphrodite is rising.'

(00:19:23) Gina explains what they are trying to usher Aphrodite into our culture as the principality leader while they are activating 'end time' programming:

"Aphrodite Urania is the inspiration for all male homosexuality and desire, specifically geared toward adolescent males. That type of love, that homosexual love- as they call it, that adolescent homosexual 'love' with males under 20 is considered a spiritual kind of love. It's spiritual because it's used in rituals and activation. That's what Kamala also represents from that entity. Then you have Gaga, Aphrodite Pandemos for the common man. That entity…is associated with heterosexual desire and heterosexual promiscuity. The heterosexual 'love' [with the younger version of Aphrodite] is considered a physical love, a lesser love, and subordinate to the adolescent homosexual 'spiritual love' that Kamala represents. You're going to see the entities try to influence our culture with sexual perversion, 'freedom…do whatever you want.'"

(00:21:48) Even though Gina didn't see the male form of Aphrodite represented at the inauguration, she reviews what it represents:

"The male form of Aphrodite is called Aphroditus. He's depicted in a dress of a woman but he has a beard. You'll see him represented with the dress lifted up to reveal an erect phallus. We may begin to see that rising up soon. That's another form of the same Aphrodite with her sexual perversions and 'sexual liberty'…that's a symbol they use in magic, that male twisted version."

(00:22:25) Gina echoes her belief (that she's previously shared in other videos) that 'the gods' in mythology are entities that really exist after working with programmed clients. They are fallen entities that have realms and dominions, and their stories are used in the programs of mind control victims as a form of worship. Aphrodite's story:

"She had no mother, she was born from sea foam in the ocean (sea foam represents semen in programming and mythology storylines). Cronus severed the phallus of Uranus and threw it into the sea. The semen that came from that phallus birthed Aphrodite and from the blood from severing it…came other things. In victims you'll find this type of ritual and trauma tied to Aphrodite. If you're deprogramming someone you're going to find memories. If you want to break off connections with Aphrodite it's going to be memories that relate to sexual acts and then the severing of a phallus. 'The semen' will form a part in the mind tied to Aphrodite in the survivor…they'll take one of the fragmented parts of the mind and…give this part of the mind, this alter, to Aphrodite. They'll do a ritual that forms her birth that involves a trauma of sexual 'love' and the severing of the phallus…she'll think she's birthed that way…"

(00:25:03) "In antiquity, they'd purify Aphrodite's temple by sacrificing a dove. It's common in ‘magic love potions’ to sacrifice a dove and use it’s heart.”

(00:25:29) Gina references a link to Corinth:

“Some of you may remember in the Bible the town of Corinth (where the books of Corinthians come from). Corinth was known back in the time of Paul as the place where the most skilled and most expensive prostitutes were…you had prostitutes in the temple and they used ritual prostitution for their magic.”

(00:27:01) “That’s just the beginning of what they’re activating…we’ll need to watch the Super Bowl… and see what comes out in Tier 2 comms”

Video Summary

(00:00:25) Gina says there are people who are confused about the decode. She wanted to refer them to her website with previous interviews, but YouTube has deleted them. Since those interviews were wiped, she’s working on creating a foundational video explaining mind control programming and ‘the purple revolution.’ In the videos that were removed, she talked about Hillary activating the end time/purple program with her purple lapel. Hillary’s activation signal was followed with the Super Bowl in Minneapolis doing a Prince tribute and washing the city in purple light that included his pagan symbol. We also saw the Emmy Awards use a purple carpet in place of a red carpet.

(00:02:40) Gina returns to the inauguration decode, reviewing what she discussed in part one with Hillary activating the purple program in 2016 with her lapel, and now we've moved on to the ladies wearing all purple.

"That is an activation code…key in a lock. They have locked themselves in time by going all purple…they set into motion the second phase of the 'purple revolution.' They've now locked themselves into a timeframe of the beginning of this purple plan that will eventually usher in the anti-christ system. There's no turning back for them once they've locked it in now, it's a go… they have to play it out. There will be different plays within it that they can alter, but they have activated their New World Order (end time/purple program) plan."

(00:04:10) Gina goes back to discuss them 'going all purple' at the inauguration and she wonders if Aphrodite is the Biblical 'Whore of Babylon':

"It reminds me of the 'Whore of Babylon.' She also wears pearls, like Aphrodite… she wears other gems, but the Bible specifically names pearls. She's called the 'Whore of Babylon,' she wears purple, and she rides the scarlet beast. It makes me wonder if Aphrodite as an entity is the 'Whore of Babylon.' Remember, Aphrodite is 'the patron of prostitutes,' and that goes back to the sex rituals and sex magic in antiquity."

(00:05:27) "The 'Whore of Babylon' sits on the 7 hills, which are those 7 mountains that we see in programming. The 7 mountains are the 7 influences of our culture: government, media, entertainment, business, education, religion, and family… in Revelations 17 it says the 7 hills are also equated to 7 heads of the beast where she rules. The 7 heads are like 7 rulers… we do know from the cabal that there is a ruler and hierarchy on the top of the mountains where the 'Whore of Babylon' sits. The beast and the 10 kings in Revelation 17, they're going to end up hating and turning on the 'Whore of Babylon.' She rode the beast for a while, but they're going to turn on her. In Revelations 17 it says they'll bring her to ruin, they will leave her naked, they will eat her flesh, and burn her with fire. The scripture says that the cabal is doing this to Mystery Babylon…because God has put it in their hearts to accomplish His purpose. Again, I'm just speculating, but I wonder…when we have all of these arrests [exposure], could that be when the cabal turns on Mystery Babylon/Aphrodite/The Whore of Babylon? Cutting off their arm to save their body?… this is prophesied in scripture, that Babylon/'the system' is going to fall, because God is forcing them to do it… I'm just wondering if this coming judgment is fulfilling that part of scripture in Revelations 17."

(00:08:33) Biblically, we know that the 'Whore of Babylon' world system will fall, but the New World Order rises up in its place. Gina takes a minute to expand on this…

(00:09:30) Returning to the decode, Gina reviews what she covered in the first decode video regarding Kamala, Lady Gaga, and the forms of Aphrodite.

(00:10:08) Gina is now pulling Hillary Clinton into the decode because she was also wearing all purple. Not only was she wearing all purple, she was wearing the same color of purple as Kamala Harris, and that was done for a specific reason that she'll address at a later time.

(00:10:34) Before explaining why Kamala and Hillary were wearing the same shade of purple, Gina is going to show a clip from the movie 'The Cell.'

"This clip is going to show what the inner programming looks like in the minds eye of the elite who are being activated right now… When programming is put in, a certain type of torture is done. They'll pull up a disassociated part of the mind, a fragmented part of the soul, they'll put programming in it (can be one part or many parts), and they'll do a very specific type of torture. The one we're dealing with now is drowning, there's near drowning in the early foundational programming along with graphic sexual trauma. They'll have movies that are played so there'll be a visual put inside of the mind of the survivor to play out a story line. So, I can have just a picture or an image activate a whole line of events…I'm going to put up a picture of Hillary Clinton at the inauguration, dressed in full purple, and she's walking down stone steps, with stone walls, and a stone floor. A survivor would say 'that's The Cell'… that activating all purple, would call up the movie The Cell in 'the elite' to begin playing out that storyline and activation. It just takes a small outside memory cue, like Hillary's that's similar to the movie, and it activates an internal program to be played out in the mind of the victim."

(00:12:55) Picture of Hillary in all purple walking down stone steps, surrounded by stone walls and stone flooring.

Video Summary

(00:00:04) "You see in this clip in 'The Cell' movie the stone walls, stone stairs, and stone flooring. You see Jennifer Lopez lying on the floor. That black and white she's wearing represents base programming…the initial programming. This particular foundational programming involves near drowning as the trauma. This entity symbolically injects the purple program into the base program. You see the Mark of the Beast appear on the hand of Jlo after that entity comes down the stairs. So it's injecting into the base program, that's what the mind control victim would have…follow that key, letting that purple flood everything and come into the base program. There existed a stone wall in the inner mind of the mind control victim and that's coming down. You're blending together multiple different programs."

(00:01:37) "Notice that this entity…he's insect like, he makes you think of an insect. I think that that entity may be Apollo, but there are so many entities in this program. [He floods the walls with his purple wings]"

(00:02:19) Gina discusses 'the insect race of fallen beings' that exist according to the survivors she has worked with in deprogramming.

(00:02:38) "Tied into the 'insect race' are Epimetheus and Prometheus. They each represent the split brain in red and blue. "

(00:02:54) "We know that tied to Apollo is the symbol of the cicada (the cicada and the locust are often used interchangeably). So he's coming down [in The Cell] and having the brain merge and unite the purple with the base black and white programming. It's not happening yet, but eventually we're going to have the purple flood, it'll be acting out the flood of Noah in the programming inside like Ragnarok*… all the programming will flood and there'll be chaos. Programmed individuals will act that out on earth…"

(00:03:59) During the 'purple flood' activation, resulting in total chaos, that's when the anti-christ will enter and 'bring peace' by changing the program. The anti-christ will look like the hero.

(00:04:22) [Referring back to the clip from The Cell]

"The insect coming down the stairs, he is setting up the way for the 'Queen of Heaven'…another name for Inanna, Aphrodite, Venus…they're all the same entity. 'Queen of Heaven' is also the image of Mary in the Catholic Church… it's really that entity, the 'Queen of Heaven.' We're going to see a lot of that happening as Aphrodite rises up. You'll see the rise of female power… she's worshipped in the occult because they worship the reproductive parts of the female. It's from the reproductive parts of the female that human 2.0 can come forth. "

(00:05:27) "The locust beings, Epimetheus and Prometheus… have been using and harvesting the energies underground from mind control victims to grow the hybrid beings that are said to come up out of the earth with Apollo…"

(00:05:57) "Remember in the Bible there's a meteor or something that falls and the locust come out and they sting for 5 months… this is tied to this locust entity [in the occult]. Again, I don't understand how all of this works because we're watching this play out, but they know this, and they worship this entity [Apollo]."

(00:06:28) Gina reviews that Apollo (locust/cicada) is tied to the 'Queen of Heaven.' She's associated with bees, stinging, insects, and poison. Survivors have told Gina 'there'll be a poison released by a sting' according to what they were taught in programming. They say it's in the blood of the elite (blood-liners believe their blood has evil in it, that their blood is black since they have blood from the fallen angels). This is to create Human 2.0.

(00:08:01) Gina says 'the commoners' that are programmed (remember, there are two tiers of programmed individuals in the system; the elite and the commoners) align with the movie 'Lucie' that stars Scarlett Johansson. Just like 'The Cell' showed how the purple programming plays out in the minds eye of the elite, 'Lucie' shows how that purple flood scenario plays out in the minds of 'the commoners' in activation. In 'Lucie' there's a poison, one the blood-liners chose, but others hadn't that'll be flooded with it, leading the world into 'Human 2.0'.

(00:09:47) "I'm told a kind of poison will come out across mankind and it's needed for Human 2.0. It'll be humanity tied into AI and tied into the DNA of fallen entities, creating a super human…that's how it's been explained to me [by deprogrammed survivors]"

(00:10:49) Moving back to the inauguration decode, Gina highlights that Hillary Clinton and Kamala Harris were both wearing the same shade of purple.

"They both are people that 'the elite' tier would look to for programming changes. By having the two of them dressed in the same shade of purple on inauguration day, the powers that be have made both Kamala and Hillary equal in the hierarchy…a programmed person is not allowed to have two people as equals… by them watching the cabal set them up as equals, that causes stress to begin to rise in their system."

(00:12:38) Gina says the extended stress in their system from Kamala and Hillary being presented as equals is by design.

"the fallen entities harvest the stress and trauma emotions. While stress is building in the system of the elite watching two people in leadership being equal, the entities- Aphrodite, probably Apollo, maybe others- are harvesting that stress… that's a huge amount of stress that the entities can flood back into the system all at one time for that mind control victim."

(00:13:47) In regard to harvesting the energy from a victim and using it to flood their system:

“It’s going to have a two-fold purpose. It’s much more traumatic for a person to be flooded with 3 months worth of stress in one day…that’s one of the strategies the entities use. Remember, when a person is being tortured and hurt, at the end of the programming they say, “If you’ll ask this entity [in this case let’s say Aphrodite], if you’ll ask her to come and take the pain and the trauma she will.” So they invite and give legal rights to that entity to come in and harvest/take the emotional, psychological, and spiritual energy tied to that trauma. So the stress is building… and the entities will eventually use that when the time is right to flood the victim with huge stress to make them do what they want them to… like the next step in the purple activation code.”

(00:15:07) Gina will be watching the Super Bowl to look for any activation instructions. She mentions that while they say a person has free will, when entities flood them with traumas to force their hand into the next purple activation, it’s incredibly hard. However, she’s seen incredible fight in survivors.

*In Norse mythology, Ragnarök (American pronunciation: /ˈrægnəˌrɒk, ˈrɑːg-/ is a series of events, including a great battle, foretold to lead to the death of a number of great figures (including the gods Odin, Thor, Týr, Freyr, Heimdallr, and Loki), natural disasters and the submersion of the world in water. After these events, the world will resurface anew and fertile, the surviving and returning gods will meet and the world will be repopulated by two human survivors.

Video Summary

(00:00:06) A survivor sent Gina a video of BLM with purple light/purple clothing incorporated into what used to be solid black bloc- it’s symbolic and not by chance. [BLM would be on the influence level 2/tier 2 for communicating activations to level 3/tier 3, which is the regional and local media].

(00:01:05) “Until 2016, who in their right mind ever wore purple to a patriotic United States inauguration or event? Now they’re telling you, “Oh, it means we’re uniting.” …Wearing purple is not a normal, organic progression.”

(00:01:49) Reviewing where the ‘purple program’ is currently:

“It’s at level 1 [activation]. You get codes from level 1 [tier 1]- they’re your world leaders, top politicians, the pope over the religious system, some mega church leaders (world level type). Level 1 [tier 1] sends out code activations that are picked up by level 2 [tier 2]- they’re the media, commercials, and the entertainment industry. So we’re going to start seeing them, definitely in the halftime Super Bowl show, picking up what came out at the inauguration and giving more details of how to move forward. From level 2 [tier 2], you’ll see it move to local media. They’ll send out more program details for your area. Programmed people have specific people that they follow… they may know when they see this code that they need to go and watch what Jimmy Kimmel is going to say, or what Ellen DeGeneres is going to say. It creates a rabbit trail of codes and messages specific to the individual.

(00:03:34) Gina highlights that while Jennifer Lopez takes The Mark in ‘The Cell,’ that doesn’t mean that’s where we are right now in the program. It symbolizes the finality of choosing a side: God or Satan.

(00:04:30) Gina remarks that this is the moment of choice on their side and ours as well, like in the Bible where God is separating the wheat from the tares.

“She woke up [in The Cell], she was able to see reality. God in His great mercy, somehow in programmed people, they’re going to be able to have that moment to choose.”

Both in ‘The Cell’ and ‘Lucie’ the characters had no choice, but once they were ‘woken up’ they were given the choice to join the dark system. In both movies we see them choose the dark side.

(00:06:10) “I hope this helps… this is not a [full] decode, I tell you when it’s scripture, and I tell you when it’s me sharing what I see the deep state messaging and activating… those are two separate things.”

(00:06:50) “God has given me a unique ability to see into the enemy’s camp…I’m trying to use that so we’re aware of the devil’s schemes, so we know how to pray, and so we’re not believing that this chaos taking place is organic. God wants the church to know that this was a planned set up by the enemy, from long ago, being executed.”

My contacts follow, then some resources for survivors, which I had left out of the last few posts by mistake and then some useful links of sources of information, some of which will need updating in this turbulent censorship times of the New World Order.

[18] Sam added – The castle is in Cardiff. It is still lit up purple 2 days after the Holocaust Memorial Day. Also the Senedd building in Cardiff was purple and still is. Prince Charles apparently requested it. Also 2018 they did the same and lit our buildings up in Purple to highlight diversity and disability.

I will gradually build up this list of sources that I read or listen for more general news. Naturally, as with all sources, use with discernment, question everything, do your own research and come to your own conclusions. The time is over for propaganda on a plate served to you… we are the news now, research and seek the truth…

Left right one dimensional politics means little to me. They are both corrupted by the globalist satanic illuminati cabal.

No one source of information will give all the truth. Listen to many and use your discernment. Choose those with integrity, not those you agree with.

I will not commit suicide and if it appears I have, then people may judge for themselves why this is so, after blogging these exposes of the top level of illuminati. I do not wish to live in the kind of world that the psychopathic illuminati want to bring in, which is a world wholly and absolutely controlled by them, and commits horrific crimes of child rape, child torture, child cannibalism, child mind control and much more, which is why I wish to speak out and expose them. This carries some risk but if I am killed or go silent, my wish is for more people to tell the truth, they cannot kill us all…

MJ1- Majestic 12 – 100,000 foot view…
Posted on 2021, January, 28 by foxblog
Many people are disorientated after Trump did not get a second term after blatant voter fraud and election fraud.

The fraud is evident to anyone who investigates it but state and federal courts have refused to look at the evidence and a false flag “insurrection” was arranged so that the results were approved by Congress and Senate without scrutiny.

So it is unsurprising that people feel aggrieved and perplexed, especially after it might have been expected that arrests of the criminal cabal cult would come at the inauguration when many eyes were watching, to help wake people up and allow Trump back into power.

But nothing appeared to happen…

That was obviously not the plan of those running this. Biden and Harris have been allowed into power, or at the very least a facade of power.

It seems inexplicable to let the globalist satanic cabal have the reins of democratic power when they could do so much damage with it.

So are the people behind “the plan” evil /aligned to satanic cult globalists?
Is Biden Administration a facade with the military actually in power and Biden admin a veneer just for optics at the moment? Optics maybe to catch more cabal (logistically globally it must be huge exercise) or to somehow wake up many in the future, and show how they were so easily fooled.
If satanists had power there is no doubt some would use the nuclear button. There is no way IMHO that power has really been given to Biden administration, though they might think they have it. They would only find out if they had the correct nuclear football and codes when they come to actually use it.

There are various indicators Biden might not be in power or even in the Whitehouse, which I will not go into now.

E has said Trump was bait. Presumably bait so that the cabal expended their energy on attempting to remove him and then exagerrated theri normal election fixing blatantly to steal an election via obvious voter fraud and election fraud.

Of course the mockingbird media created the false narrative that the election fraud claims were baseless or without foundation but never examined the abundant evidence.

Similarly they have refused to look at the facts surrounding the people in the Capitol. So the fraudulent election result was certified in a pathetically weak and see through plot twist that even a cheesy 1970s soap opera would have balked at.

However this perhaps was always the intent. That Trump was always intended to serve just one term, to expose the criminal satanic pedophile cartel to the greatest extent. His job was to attract all the attention and ammunition of the satanic forces, so that were so desperate to get rid of him that would be willing to do anything to get rid of him.

From spygate /obamagate back as far as 2015 when Obama used the office of President to spy on a political rival, Hillary funding fake Russian dirt dossiers, the cabals satanic rituals, sacrifices, rapes to being caught red handed stealing an election, which they have been stealing for decades, usurping judicial oversight, as well as cabals contribution to the coronavirus reaction – there must be a mass of evidence.

However its not just Trump and the Q team bringing down the 6,000 year old death cult, but Majestic 12 as well, whose remit is wider.

This video introduces another layer of complexity into who and why events are being controlled.

It is a masterclass in preparing a video, with 150,000 tweets researched, whichever needed ready to use and be shown, and script/voice over never straying off topic and edited afterwards so there is not a moment of wasted time in watching. So different to many ego driven podcasts and vids.

Carl Deacon I salute you, excellent research, collation, summary and relevant video/pics, with of course great show notes under the video, giving masses of useful links to do follow up research. Others can learn from this. A quality piece of work and a delight to listen to and a pleasure to research.

Carl explains…

This is a video digging into the old Majestic 12 tweets and summarising several related subjects. I will do digs into their old posts in the down time of when not much is happening in the news, for me to cover. I say this because making constant videos about the news is like squeezing water from stone at times. I'll check the feedback on this video to see whether my subscribers want to see more videos like this or not. This is the first video in a new series. I'll still make other videos about the news/new posts or when enough is happening.

For some reason the vids are not embedding, even youtube, so click on image and it will open in new tab.

You Tube Carl Deacon 100,000 foot view MJ12 [1]

or watch on hooktube to avoid much Google data theft etc. Avoiding google/youtube use as much as possible is part of this battle /information war against mockingbird media and big tech. eg use duckduckgo not google search, and use other video alternative to Youtube perhaps Rumble, Bitchute, Odysee

Hooktube is a front end for google, in which you replace the You part of you tube with hook eg [1a] – https://hooktube.com/watch?v=Jm2mkZqO_sU&feature=youtu.be

Summary

Majestic 12 or MJ12 was formed at the instigation of President Truman to cover up the crash of extra terrestrials at Roswell in 1947. The US had been trying since the 1920s to deliberately make the Nazi bell vessels crash using microwave technology, in order to examine them and reverse engineer them. They were surprised that this was actually a Zeta Reticulans craft with extraterrestrials inside.

MJ12 judged that the leaders of countries were not ready for the first contact with ET's, as the technology would have ended up in nuclear war and destruction of the earth, as it has before. Nuclear war always ends in total destruction. The use of nuclear weapons also has reverberations further up dimensions, so starseeds are sent to try to speed human development. The aim was to reach a stage when there was an end to global war based on national identity, and then first contact would be publically allowed and then access to that technology. The Holy See also wanted Roswell covered up.

MJ12 operates above government to protect earth and life. It formulated a 90 year plan to disclose ET truth, which if it started in 1947 ends in 2037. They justify non disclosure in 1947 due to the dangers of pedophilic negative entities.

The ET's worked with the Nazis, and these Nazis were also spread over the world after the Sencond World War, eg to the US as part of Operation Paperclip. They reversed engineered the technology. The US military set up the Secret Space Program.

Thus MJ12 seeded the matrix of the mind, information secrecy to keep the people in the dark about the Roswell ET's. This included teaching 1 billion people false maths. The matrix was also made to keep ET a secret no matter who was president. Presumably fake news is part of the information matrix that MJ12 is responsible for.

Although information about the ET's was officially banned Majestic did allow soft disclosure via Hollywood.

The information cover up mind matrix did enabled the satanic cabal to carry on sacrificing children, although they have done so for centuries.

The compartmentalised nature of black and dark projects enabled the advanced technology to be hidden from the cabal. Majestic handed over technology including surveillance to the cabal. The cabal used it to traffick more children, blackmail pedophiles and consolidate and spread their power.

However when the tech was handed to the cabal then the surveillance was used by Majestic via the National Security Agency, NSA, to be able to surveill the cabal and so the information to use against the cabal now exists.

Just to explain there are two matrices, the first Majestic made mind matrix, the other natural world one. Control people by distorting their reality.

MJ 12 was infiltrated by George Bush senior and 3 others controlled by the 322 faction. this enabled them to carry out 911, and prevent previous disclosure plans.

Just before 911, MJ12 orchestrated Majestic NWO game and Stargate SG1 as well.

Since 2011 MJ12 is now separate from the 322 satanic entities.

The Plan

A plan to take down the 6,000 yr old cult worth $30 trillion needs to be a good plan, and takes time.

Q is NSA, MJ12 is Pentagon. Q personnel and MJ12 personnel can overlap.

If information released in MJ12 and Q psyops is 100% true then the enemy would be able to take action based on this to change their plans and thwart the plan. Hence part of the cost of giving us information is that maybe 20% is disinformation. So bear this in mind when I try and summarise!

Sicne 2011 MJ12 has thrown out the Clinton Foundation/ skull and bones/ muslim brotherhood factions ie cf/322/mb and now is part of Defence Intelligence Agency (DIA). The plan was then created.

MJ12 ‘s job is to prepare for ET disclosure and first contact
Q is to prepare for Great Awakening of cabals misdeeds, pedophililia, sacrifice, and the info Matrix, and after that Disclosure of ET, and then first contact with ET.
The people are the plan. Mass arrests must come by demand from we the people.
Part of the plan will necessitate a financial collapse. Replace fiat paper currency which gives approx $21 trillion cabal trmendous power and control and replaced with silver and gold backed money.

Part of the cabal plan was to include a fake alien invasion to induce fear, featuring holograms. That plan also that needs to be averted before First Contact Space force is light, Secret Space Programme was dark.

New World Order v1 or the New World Order v2

However it still appears that the people have no choice – The Majestic NWO plan merely replaces the Bush 41 /Clinton 42 /Clinton Foundation/ nuclear satanic NWO. So now we are in for MJ12 NWO with disclosure and ET contact and 10,000 year leap in ten years, whether we want it or not.

World War 3

This is an information war, replacing the intended Bush NWO nuclear war which they thought they would survive in DUNB’s.

The info war is to wake those up who are asleep through matrix of mind, intentionally imposed by MJ12.

Majestic handed over technology including surveillance to the cabal. Cabal used it to blackmail pedophiles and consolidate their power.

However when it was handed to the cabal then the surveillance was used by Majestic via the NSA to be able to expose the cabal and so the information to use agaisnt the cabal is now in existence.

There is evidence to prove pizzagate is real. When Epstein is unsealed and unwrapped in public that will unravel pizzagate. There is evidence of everything…

Trump

So it appears Trump knew about Majestic from his Uncle, who I think received Tesla's documents. The Generals were making decisions for Trump and Trump was the front man. Trump it appears was to appear weak, let the deep state satanic cult attack him mercilessly and steal the election, whilst trying to last his full term.

He played a blinder.

What can you do?

Critical mass needs to be achieved offline.

Spread information truth offline
Spread information truth online
Meditate
Unlock pineal gland
Grow food locally and increase your local community
Live the life you wish, causing no harm to others
Follow your hear, follow your passions
Awakening

Rough levels I have just made up perhaps illustrate the levels of awakening

Level 0 Agree with mainstream news
Level 1 Aware something is wrong- blame political party
Level 2 Aware something is wrong blame -CFR/Trilateral commission/WTO/World Bank
Level 3 Aware of Satanic Cult/Illuminati/ Swamp/ Q Level 4 Aware of Interdimensional /Demonic /Negative ET element/ Majestic Level 5 ?
Now many people may not like or agree with some of information revealed in this video.

Some dispute existence of satanic pedophilic cabal
Some dispute existence of ET
Some dispute existence of satan/ demons/attachement to humans
Some will dispute that the answer is inside of you
Some will not like NWO fait accompli
Some will not like other information
Some will wonder how this fits in with coronavirus overreaction
Take what resonates with you.

I will not enter discussions on this. I am presenting information as best I can from the people presenting it as I try and do. This naturally means people think I agree with all I write. I have my own opinions, which change depending on information presented.

It is an exciting time, it is a time of change, do nto worry about that which you cannot change, and change what you can if you so wish.

My contacts follow, then some resources for survivors, which I had left out of the last few posts by mistake and then some useful links of sources of information, some of which will need updating in this turbulent censorship times of the New World Order.

I will gradually build up this list of sources that I read or listen for more general news. Naturally, as with all sources, use with discernment, question everything, do your own research and come to your own conclusions. The time is over for propaganda on a plate served to you… we are the news now, research and seek the truth…

Left right one dimensional politics means little to me. They are both corrupted by the globalist satanic illuminati cabal.

No one source of information will give all the truth. Listen to many and use your discernment. Choose those with integrity, not those you agree with.

“He who does not bellow the truth when he knows the truth makes himself the accomplice of liars and forgers.” Charles Peguy

To sin by silence when we should protest makes cowards out of men – Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Every time we act in the face of fear, we dilute it’s power and increase our confidence

Only the small secrets need to be protected, the large ones are kept secret by public incredulity – Marshall McLuhan

Let justice be done though the heavens fall – Fiat justitia ruat cælum

Put the enemy at unease by making information they do not want known to be known…

The individual is handicapped by coming face-to-face with a conspiracy so monstrous he cannot believe it exists. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover

I only post on Twitter at present, if you have found this post useful, please post on other social media – facebook, instagram, pinterest, gab – whichever ones you are on. This is most helpful to spread the information. The people who do this are essential. Thankyou.

I am not connected to anyones Patreon accounts, nor do I receive any money for my writing. I believe it is important to provide this information not hidden behind paywalls, and yes I suffer financial hardship for doing so.

I will not commit suicide and if it appears I have, then people may judge for themselves why this is so, after blogging these exposes of the top level of illuminati. I do not wish to live in the kind of world that the psychopathic illuminati want to bring in, which is a world wholly and absolutely controlled by them, and commits horrific crimes of child rape, child torture, child cannibalism, child mind control and much more, which is why I wish to speak out and expose them. This carries some risk but if I am killed or go silent, my wish is for more people to tell the truth, they cannot kill us all…

Belenoff and Q
Posted on 2021, January, 23 by foxblog
I first heard of Somerset Belenoff in early 2020 when this site was being passed around social media. Who is Somerset Belenoff Who is Somerset Belenoff? [7]

However on first blush that site appeared a bit cloak and dagger and sensationalist, as well as a couple of things didn't appear to add up.

People familiar with the illuminati did not recognise the name "World Governing Council" (WGC) or the "World Security Office". On quick research there did not appear to be a Countess of Arran.

There were however some superficially interesting aspects, however as always there was the suspicion that this type sites may be set ups.

I did complete a thread on the Cannibal Cravings 2020 Jul 30 cathyfoxblog Cannibal Cravings Thread thread Reader App [10]

Cannibal Thread Tweet 2 [10a]

Later someone who I will call Bob contacted me and had investigated further. He found that there was a 3rd generation Countess of Arran.

Lady Arran is the 14th generation of the Fortescue family to live at Castle Hill, Devon. Lady Arran's great-grandfather, the Rt Hon Earl Fortescue, was the first member of the family to become Show President in 1923.

Meet Lady Arran the new President of Devon County Show [12a]

This may or may not tie in with Belenoff on further research.

(Although I had to block Bob on social media, I hold no hard feelings against him. He did some valuable research, but like a few people, they think their research subject should instantly be of overwhelming paramount importance to me, at the expense of everything else)

Some areas or sites for further research

There were at least a couple of articles written on Belenoff from Jan 2020, but one from infamouse Mike Rothschild who could be described as NWO shill.

2020 Jan 22 State of the Nation ELABORATE HOAX: Countess Somerset Belenoff & Wettin World Governing Council [8]
2020 Jan 13 Mike Rothschild Who is Somerset Belenoff? [9]

Wettin Dynasty

Major European dynasty, genealogically traceable to the start of the 10th century AD. Its earliest known ancestors were active in pushing Germany's frontier eastward into formerly Slav territory; and by the end of the 1080s two of their descendants, brothers, held not only the countship of Wettin (on a crossing of the Saale River downstream from Halle), but also, farther east, the margravate of Meissen (on the Elbe River). The Wettins of Meissen vastly enlarged their line's territory by becoming landgraves of Thuringia in 1264 and electors of Saxony in 1423.

Of major importance was the division of the Wettin dynasty into Ernestine and Albertine lines in 1485. The Albertines secured the electorate of Saxony from the Ernestines in 1547. The Ernestines retained thereafter some less important possessions in Thuringia which they constantly subdivided between themselves. Their possessions became known as the Saxon duchies and included Saxe-Weimar, Saxe-Coburg, Saxe-Eisenach, Saxe-Altenburg, and Saxe-Gotha, among others. In the 19th and 20th centuries the Ernestine Wettins of the Saxe-Coburg branch rose to unprecedented heights. One became king of the Belgians as Leopold I in 1831, and another, Albert, married the British queen Victoria in 1840 and was the ancestor of five successive British sovereigns (though the name Wettin was rarely cited in England, and that of the house of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha was officially changed, for the British, to the house of Windsor in 1917). Yet another Ernestine, Ferdinand, married Maria II of Portugal in 1836 and was the founder of the Portuguese royal house that reigned from 1853 to 1910. And finally, a fourth Ernestine became prince of Bulgaria in 1887 and king in 1908, as Ferdinand I, with his descendant reigning until 1946.

The Albertines were electors of Saxony from 1547 and kings from 1806 to 1918. They also provided two kings of Poland, Augustus II and Augustus III, between 1697 and 1763. See also Saxon duchies; Windsor, house of. Wikipedia House of Wettin [4]

Interestingly the motto on the Wettin “logo” along with the all-seing eye of Horus – “Proditio mors es” literally translated is “Surrender death of”, so I guess with a 500 year adjustment it could mean “surrender to death” [19]

It would appear then as though the Wettin’s are a powerful family and that the UK Royals are a mere branch of this.

Since my first research I have found that World Council can be another name for the Satanic Council. So the WGC may be just part of the mass council or if there may be another group outside the overall Satanic Council, the Council of all the heads of the Wolves. [18]

The House of Windsor is the reigning royal house of the United Kingdom and the other Commonwealth realms. In 1901, the House of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha (a branch of the House of Wettin) succeeded the House of Hanover to the British monarchy with the accession of King Edward VII, son of Queen Victoria and Prince Albert of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. So it did appear the Belenoffs were worthy of further research. The Glamis Calling [6] website showed itself to be an interesting site of coded communications.

The primary reason for the sites possible importance to many people is because of these two messages about Q from August 31 and October 27th 2017 approving Intitiative Q and saying All shall awaken.

Dated 2017 Aug 31

Dated 2017 Oct 27

If posted when actually dated, then this predated the first Q posts, and seemed to be contrary to the commonly accepted theory that Q was just a mix of Military Intelligence and National Security Agency, with Trump as Q plus and two or three other civilians. It seems to be directed by Belenoff.

The date for the first Q post "on the boards", I think at this stage it was 4chan, 28 October 2017 the day after the second Glamis Q post!

So it raises the possibility/ probability that Q , the psychological operation was actually on behalf of the illuminati…

Perhaps it is one faction of the illuminati against another?
Perhaps it is a trap to out the people who follow Q? cf Operation Trust Perhaps Trump is a player?
Perhaps Trump has been tricked or double crossed?
Who knows?

I don't know nor am likely to. I am just presenting what appear to be a few facts and asking a few questions.

The following article deals with some reasons why Q is not a pacification psyop, without considering this Glamis revelation. But some of the reasons may still be valid. 2021 Jan 21 Stillness In The Storm No, Q and "Trust The Plan" is Nothing Like OPERATION TRUST, It's not a Pacification PSYOP and Here's Why. [17]

What difference does it make if Q is run by Belenoff's?

It may well make a difference to some people, but to me not a lot. I keep plodding on trying to spread knowledge of the child abuse, ritual abuse, child sacrifice and the illuminati.

I don't want to live in a world that is ruled by people who perpetrate that. I wish to expose it whatever the consequences.

Of course I hope that the death and torture and rape cult are taken down, and hopefully the apparent Biden Presidency is in fact a sham and under military control, as a scare event to take us to the precipice to ensure most people awaken to the realities of this world.

Hopefully the satanic cult are all dealt with with the couple of hundred thousand sealed indictments.

What is the Belenoff plan? Do they control Q?

Again of course I do not know.

So who are the Belenoffs?

Glamis Castle, Scotland is Somerset's inherited family home. It is set in 14,000 acres. Connection between House of Wettin and York is the Kent and Cabot families. Somerset Belenoff and Laurie Cabot Kent are cousins on maternal sides.

Glamis is one of the homes of the wolves.

A couple of "legends" are

The most famous legend connected with the castle is that of the Monster of Glamis, a hideously deformed child born to the family. Some accounts came from singer and composer Virginia Gabriel who stayed at the castle in 1870. In the story, the monster was kept in the castle all his life and his suite of rooms bricked up after his death.[10]Another monster is supposed to have dwelt in Loch Calder near the castle.

An alternative version of the legend is that to every generation of the family a vampire child is born and is walled up in that room.

The legend of the monster may have been inspired by the true story of the Ogilvies. Somewhere in the 16-foot-thick (4.9 m) walls is the famous room of skulls, where the Ogilvie family, who sought protection from their enemies the Lindsays, were walled up to die of starvation.

Earl Beardie
Several versions exist, but they all involve "Earl Beardie" playing cards. A stranger appears at the castle and joins Lord Beardie in a game of cards. The stranger is identified with the Devil, who takes Earl Beardie's soul and, in some versions, condemns the Earl to play cards until doomsday.

The wolves are one of the sets of the assassins for the illuminati.

Jessie has done a radio programme with Right on Radio, about the Belenoffs. I do not listen to radio programmes as they take too much time to listen to, and then even more time to transfer to a useable format for blogging.

However there is an autotranscript, albeit vastly imperfect, included at the very end of this article. It is somewhat readable with difficulty, but it is hard to tell on transcript when Jeff is speaking and when Jessie. Obviously coming from the system Jessie's information is alot more reliable than Jeffs which are from websites. The "um's" are usually Jessie, the repeated info from websites, the quality of which I do not know is Jeffs.

If anyone wants to transcribe this to help the cause, I will post it here.

What information I can glean from the transcript however is that Jessie says Somerset Belenoff is head of the Head of Green Dragon family, North Quadrant, a slightly higher position than her husband. She surmises that Somerset may be the senior Grand High Priestess and international rather than just the US.

Her husband runs one of the six departments for the protector assassins, so that's where she gets a lot of military power, pretty much their own army, and she can order assassination of those who are going against the system.

So an important figure, but still I surmise not one of the higest level 25/30 non mind controlled individuals at the top. Somerset will unfortunately have gone through the trauma based Monarch mind control programme, splitting the mind into hundreds of "alters" causing tremendous damage to people, and that is perhaps seen in her staring eyes.

I include the transcript at the very very end, as it causes technical problems, altering the formatting of the whole blog.

I will not go further in case I misinterpret and hence mislead. You can listen to the programme if you have time.

2020 Oct? Right on Radio with Jessie EP.49 Somerset Decode [18]

Transcript at very very end of post

The genetic wolves are derived from I think from the Romanov or Rasputin lines, I would have to check my notes for which.

If you want further research into bloodlines, then of course use Deprogramwiki Bloodlines of the Illuminati [22] but also check the Payseurs who are connected to the Hapsbergs, Lorraine, and Plantagenets. The French Bloodline, this is where the French, Russian (Romanov and Rasputin), German, Italian, and several other major bloodlines meet with the Drago bloodlines. Plantagenets are one of the main hidden bloodlines that links to the Collins and Freeman Bloodlines of the Illuminati. All the very top levels in the Illuminati are born of these lines, which intersects through Germany, France and Russia via Vlad Impaler bloodline.

On the Glamis website, the twitter accounts and sites listed there is much that can be followed up and researched. Talk of Kushner and border security, even talk of Lucifer not being allowed to address the Council.

Recently on the site there were notices supporting patriots, warning about provocateurs affecting the inuguration, saying that she has sold Bohemian Grove and the last one regardings communication channels with old passwords. Check for yourself – Glamis Calling [6]

There is also much information on the Who is Somerset website, but do not know the accuracy. Who is Somerset Belenoff Who is Somerset Belenoff? [7] eg Elizabeth Somerset Feodorovna Bowes-Lyon Belenoff (born May 1, 1953) is a British aristocrat, born at Glamis Castle, Scotland (a well-known location to veteran Illuminati researchers). She shared a strong bond with the late Queen Mother and is a favorite cousin of Queen Elizabeth II. Within the hierarchy of British nobility, she holds the rank of Countess, having been granted that title by Queen Elizabeth II in 1979 when she was appointed to represent the UK in the House of Wettin's Upper Chamber. Her official title is Countess of Banbury and Arran.

Just a couple of my thoughts. As head of the extended branch which includes the Windsor family, perhaps Somerset has turned her back on Prince Andrew, which is enabling progress to be made in the Epstein related case.

Is the recent case against Simon Bowes Lyon, evidence that this branch of bloodlines is turning its back on paedophilia?

As there is enough important detail in this post and links and sources /resources for people to follow up on their own, and Q is not my speciality, but is the speciality of others, I probably will not be returning to this, preferring to concentrate on what I specialise in and can influence.

I hope Somerset and others are turning their back on Lucifer and working for the good of all the earths people…

My contacts follow, then some resources for survivors, which I had left out of the last few posts by mistake and then some useful links of sources of information, some of which will need updating in this turbulent censorship times of the New World Order.

I will gradually build up this list of sources that I read or listen for more general news. Naturally, as with all sources, use with discernment, question everything, do your own research and come to your own conclusions. The time is over for propaganda on a plate served to you… we are the news now, research and seek the truth…

Left right one dimensional politics means little to me. They are both corrupted by the globalist satanic illuminati cabal.

No one source of information will give all the truth. Listen to many and use your discernment. Choose those with integrity, not those you agree with.

Sayings

The truth will out, the truth will shout, the truth will set us free

“The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing” – Edmund Burke

“He who does not bellow the truth when he knows the truth makes himself the accomplice of liars and forgers.” Charles Peguy

To sin by silence when we should protest makes cowards out of men – Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Every time we act in the face of fear, we dilute it’s power and increase our confidence

Only the small secrets need to be protected, the large ones are kept secret by public incredulity – Marshall McLuhan

Let justice be done though the heavens fall – Fiat justitia ruat cælum

Put the enemy at unease by making information they do not want known to be known…

The individual is handicapped by coming face-to-face with a conspiracy so monstrous he cannot believe it exists. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover

I am not connected to anyones Patreon accounts, nor do I receive any money for my writing. I believe it is important to provide this information not hidden behind paywalls, and yes I suffer financial hardship for doing so.

I will not commit suicide and if it appears I have, then people may judge for themselves why this is so, after blogging these exposes of the top level of illuminati. I do not wish to live in the kind of world that the psychopathic illuminati want to bring in, which is a world wholly and absolutely controlled by them, and commits horrific crimes of child rape, child torture, child cannibalism, child mind control and much more, which is why I wish to speak out and expose them. This carries some risk but if I am killed or go silent, my wish is for more people to tell the truth, they cannot kill us all…

Right on Radio EP.49 Somerset Decode right onradio right on radioand welcome back to right on radio thisis a very exciting podcast we had ascheduling change first thing thismorningand that allowed us to do a show that iwanted to dofor quite some time but this timingwas spectacular because there is a newcommunicationwhat am i talking about and why is thisso powerfulit's powerful because i'm talking aboutone of the most powerful people in theworldthe very few people know in factsome people claim sheis the most powerful person in the worldi cannot confirm that but there are somereally interesting things to be foundoutand this person she makes acommunicationdirectly to the patriotsin the united states now which patriotsis she talking to is the first questionthat gets answered in this but alsois her communication really calmswell we decode and i rely so much onjesseas always to decode some of this stuffand some of the things that come out andthe layers that pop out inthis particular episode about thissubjectare extremely relevant to today becausethis letter that she wrote to thepatriots waspost election and it almost readsthat it's a love letter but is ittune in and find out because thisis gonna blow your mindright on right on right onand welcome back to right on radio thisis a specialfriday night edition of the broadcastand because it's friday nightand the election is driving everybodywild these days their speculation isdurhamcoming out is a.g bar going to prosecutedoes do they have enough votes to flipitand there's so much conjecture on bothsides of the aislejesse and i thought we would give youa break from it and we're gonna pull upsomething it really impromptu this was alast minute change in our programmingscheduletoday but this is something that hasbeen on my heart tobring out for a little while and i thinkyou're gonna findit fascinating before i bring onmy illustrious co-host i justwant to introduce the subject and i'mgoing to introduce itwith a quote from the subjectof this broadcast and itis i quotei pull the strings and the elitedance the quote is bysomerset bellanoff countessof banbury and iran she claims to be atthe headof the world governing councilwhich is very interesting because jessehas some perspectiveon the hierarchy now we're not sayingshe is notwe're not saying she is we're justsayingthere is a perspective so just as we getinto thisvery interesting broadcastplease remember that your way of takingactionin this fight for the lightis really it is an informational warfareyour neighbors your friends yoursocial uh contactsmany have been asleep and we need towake themup one of the ways you do that is withyour actions and your actions couldinclude liking this broadcast so thetech tyrantsyou know it'll bypass your algorithms alittle bitsubscribe to this so you getnotifications of when we have a newbroadcast as you've seen we're puttingout some pretty high level stuffbecause you people are going to be thenextones to shepherd the sheepleinto the great awakening andlastly share share sharedon't be afraid to share this indifferent platforms not just theplatformthat you got it on share it in multipleplatforms if you can part of the reasonwe're doingaudio only at this time we will be goingto video but part of the reason we'redoing audio onlyis because we fly under the radar withcensorship but we're not flyingunder the radar in listenership we havecrossedover 30 000 listeners which isabsolutelyphenomenal for an audioonly podcast at this time with nomarketing or anything so thanks to yougood patron and good listener with lovein our heartswe are thankful and we pray for youas well so let me continuefirst of all introduce myself my name isjeff and iam a shepherd of the sheeplejust as we want to help you become thatfor your neighbors and i'm joined i'lluse the same introduction as i didyesterday because we got a greatreactionshe is the formermother of darkness electemphasis on electelect just because of the timing oftodayeveryone is president or something electbut she was actually chosenfor a very very ultimately highposition in the cabal but she was savedand she walked awayshe is none other than jessezaboter good morning jesse good morningjeffjesse this is a fascinating topicand no one will be able to give theperspectivethat you do on this just before we getinto it andwhat i want to start out with jesse isjust somefast facts about who she isyou know by these researchers who haveyou know followedevery post she's done every uhyou know her when she was a socialiteback in the 70s and stuff like thatshe really you know has been out therebut there's only oneknown photo of her in existenceright now this person is definitelyup there and wait to hear some of thestuff that she has doneand the things that you know haverevolved around herthis is an absolutely incredible uhbit of information we're not going to gothrough it word for wordbut we are going to do a decode becauseshe just sent out a messageand if she is one of the puppet mastersin the worldmaybe we should listen solet me start out with some fun factsabout her somerset bellanoff countess ofbanbury and iranchairs the world governing counciland is the chief executive officer ofthe world securityoffice which is the prosecutional andenforcementarm of the house of wetton's upperchamberthis is the powerful cabal that controlsas it says here all of the eliteilluminati groups familiarto researchers jesse i know you want tomake a commentright there yeah so if we break thatdown i've talked aboutum the elite structure of the systemso the world governing council isanother namefor the satanic or druidic counciland um the upper chambers would meanthere's different um groups within thatcouncil so you've got theyou know the whole group is usually madeup of 300 people but they'rerotating seats so you could haveyou know anywhere from two to fivepeople representingeach of those 300 seats so you can havequite a bit of people involved in thisum and the upper chambers then would beyou know the groups would be broken downwhere you've got the council 21the council of 13 and the council ofnineum so the 9 and 13and 21 would be considered upper chambercouncilsso they're the ones who the finaldecisions are going to come through themum so that's what that meansbut wow so thatyou know ladies and gentlemen to getthis perspective from jesselike who else has this intimateknowledgevery very few people unless you'reactually involved she'son the good side she claims the lordjesus christas her lord and savior and by the waythis person we're reading about somersetbellanoffshe's trying to come off as maybe aperson of light perhaps she switched whoknowsso let me i'm gonna make one more pointand i know jesse's gonnacomment on this and then i'll just blastthrough a fewdifferent points and uh just to speed upthe podcast because there's so there'stoo much information to go through atall today we'd have to do two or threebroadcasts and perhaps we willbut let me read this one she is aregistered ownerof the bohemian grove domainand is the likely owner of the actualproperty where bohemian groveis located why is that important jesseuh that's highly important that's uh oneof the ritual groundswhere um all of our presidents and majorpoliticians meetto do ritual sacrifices can i jump inright there just real quick and somechurch leadersthat's very true yes a lot of the upperandescalant meet there to do their ritualsand um it has been documented withpicture proofthat they have a statue of molech and umso that's where a lot of rituals happenokay next fun fact these are fun factsby the wayhere's a quote from vladimir putinhe has said the countess of banburyand iran both the most beautiful womanand the most terrifying person he hasever metthat's quite a statement[Laughter]because he's a pretty scary dude himselfthat's a big statementlike does doesn't he wrestle bears andyou know ride lines with his shirt off[Laughter]i mean uh and he'she rules with an iron thumb too so forhim to have somebody that he'sterrified of yeahjust real quick jesse what is the houseof wettonfor people who don't know wellit's connected to the british royal lineum you have several different royallines that make up the house of wettonbutuh we would know you know queenelizabeth is part of thatum the scottish line so you do haveglamis castleyou've got somerset falling under thatumso it it's just um[Music]yeah i'll just end it there you've got abunch of royal lines that are puttogetherthat make up the house of wetton okaythe reason i want to establish thatis for this next fun fact she rules thehouse of wetton'supper chamber with an iron fistand is likely responsible for theexecutionof dozens of illuminatithe most recent executions are thoseof the three elite international bankbankers murdered in californiaof may 2018. by the way i saw the postwhere shecalled for it she called for it to bebrutaland they absolutely lived up to the callyep well the bankers didn't live up butthe people who did the jobwow so this is important to break downthis is part ofi've talked a little bit about who sheis umyou know she she's from the ancientbloodlineso you know i grew up

Jessie we knew she was um you know the head of the green dragonfamily so there the green dragons are over the north quadrants and she would be over the north internationally um she's a grand high priestess from what i've known and you know i i believe or speculate thatout of the four grand high priestesses who run the quadrants internationally ithink that she's the one who oversees the others so she's in a slightly higher position um her husband i knew more than i knew herum he runs one of the six departmentsfor the protector assassinsso that's where she gets a lot of thewhat we would call either the militarypower oryou know i called it the protector assassin departmentum they have individuals pretty much their own army who you know do their bidding so you know for her to call for assassinations and then for it to be done that is not an uncommon thing to meso this is this is like no problem forher right she's doing her job you know she's the there was a reason she called for their assassination um you know and she saw that through that uh people who were not faithful to the system um that she she took care of them so listen to this statement this backs upwhat you just said bellanoff has made it very clearrecently that she considers groups such as the bilderberg's council on foreign relations trilateral commissionetc to hold a lower position in the cabal than those born into nobility she refers to these lesser illuminati members as grubby downstairs staff inferior rank and intellect commonsense and breedingthat sounds like her you have met heron the jessie i i met her a couple timesbriefly yesokay and by the way really little whenthat happenedum i think i believe it was in 19early 1982 so spring of 1982.and so can you tell us about thatmeetingum yeah i don't i don't have fullmemories but i knowwe were there um in that areaumi'm trying to think with uh umwhen exactly was at the house that mighthave beenin the fall of 1982 but i was learningat first how to how those departmentsranum who was in charge of the differentprotector departments that i could workwithand call on so you know i got to go toum what i call the pack house andthat's where that's the majorheadquarters for the wolvesum which is the department thatsomerset'shusband overseas umso that was interesting and umyou know i remember being what i wouldcall the basement or tunnel areasin the castle and i remember thatyou know there was a room thatwas vlad's that he umwhat do you call them trophies he he dida lot ofanimal hunting so there was a room thatwas filled wall to wallwith uh with different animal headsand that was like the first time youknow i had aum a relative that was a major hunterfor grizzly bears so i grew up withyou know the trophies on the walls andyou know the deer or the bearbut he had a lot of the exotic animalsand i had never seen like real exoticanimalsso that was probably the mostinteresting thingand then they do have a chapel in thecastleand i was asked to light a candle intherei did not but i just remember it wasveryto me there was a lot of spiritualheaviness thereand i knew that was the place umsomerset goes every morningand talks with satan umso it's it was interesting is she asbeautiful as they claimshe is a very beautiful woman yes i willgive her thatno yeah and i i'll get into that alittle bit more but because you talkedaboutthe wolves and stuff stuff like thatthis next funfact she has beenin the occult since a very early ageclaims to have met the devil at glamiscastle when she was a child and frankly was notimpressed now i've actually seenmore detailed reporting on this i'mgonna paraphrase itbut apparently when she was a very youngage i believe about12 the devil came to herand offered her the world similar towhat he didwith jesus christ and she told him totake his silly trinketsaway because she already had ita lot of pride yeah i would sayright and there's also reports of herbeing sostrong even at the age of five and sixin the occult and stuff like that shewas being trained bydead relatives apparently to play cardsandshocked everyone so who are her deadrelativeswell she is the great granddaughter ofrasputinthe great great granddaughter of queenvictorialisten to this because of her positionshe travels regularly to the kremlinthe white house and of course buckinghampalaceshe arrives unannounced and without aninvitationand she is probably the only person inthe world who does thisand she can just walk in and get anaudienceimmediately and we'llwe'll add to that that that the traveldoes not need to bephysical so she literally can justphysically manifest in a placeand and demands immediate attentionso jesse can you teach us how to do thatbecause airportssuck i wish i know i wish i'dlike that but i can't because this godhas to give that power for it to existright right and that's the whole thingis that the lord hasit has to be his will for his purposeotherwise it's it's basically witchcraftand divinationand you know give usgive us teleportationyou give us it lord i hate sitting inairports and iyou know before covent i traveled a lotphillip phillip in the bible experiencedsome of thisyou know it says a whirlwind picked himup andtook him and he landed in front of theethiopianand began to explain to him thescripture sothe lord has used it at times you knowboth daniel and johnthat literally their spirit was calledup their bodies were left on earth andthe lord took him tothe to the seventh heaven you knowthat's rightthat's right able to do it it'sbiblically provenbut oh i think you're feeding into my uhthat thing i've been working on oh i gotsome good ideas from thatnow i have to go back into the word okayso i'm gonna readjust three more quick fun facts andwe're gonna get to hermessage that came out just recentlythis month just after the electionand this actually might these threepoints jessemight explain a little bit of the toneof this letter and we're not going toleave read the entire letter to youladies and gentlemen becauseit's long it's really long and i justthink some of the decode that we'regoing to do from this isgoing to be you know really fascinatingokay she was the driving forcebehind the rise of mccallgorbachev in the soviet union and theultimate fall of the sovietcommunist party she refers tointernationalcommunism as a filthy cabalfull of incompetent lazy dogswho should be thrown from the castlewallsat our earliest conveniencesheordered barack obama to bring downthe government of muammar gaddafi andtold him to besure that the dictatorwould be shot in the street like a dogthat all happenedyeah you can look it up and find it inthe news sojust just before we transition i want toadd a couple otherfun things that i found about herso when she was in the 70sby the way the summerset if you get thiswe're nice people and we're not we'renot saying bad stuff about youwe might serve a different god hopefullyyou uhwe'll pray for you that uh you come toour god but uh we're nice peoplenow that matters so fun fact she was asocialite in the 70s and she wasfrequently seen around town in londonand stuff like thatand she used to be very good friendswith a guy who pretty much got me intothe occult as a young person and myguitar herojimmy page now jimmy pageactually ended up buying aleistercrowley's castle and living in ithis suits that he wore on stage werebasically mimics of the the uh the garbthat aleister crowley would wearjimmy page was very powerful they becamethe biggest band in the world theyoutsoldeverybody tragic story behind them aswell but jimmy pagenot only with the crowley stuff but heopenly came out and said he was part ofthe golden dawnand looking into it heavily in the cultand apparentlyhe used to sit there with somerset andthey would playgames to see who was strongerin the magics nowand by the way the infamous songstairway to heavenis apparently about her she was knownas the may queenand that song kind of went bigapparently so i i could do i can tellyou a lot of stuff about led zeppelintragedy andyou know the the children of robertplantuh dying and things like thatthere's a whole bunch of stuff that wecould speculate about butlet me get into her website and this iswhere we'll get into her letter solet's just say what her website is it'scalled glamiscalling.org it used to beuh be bohemian grove but it's glamiscallingand they realize now i've been followingthis for a whilebefore it was just heavily coated kindof like the cucumber club doesthey wrote and code and only certainpeople would be able to understand itthey recognize that many more people arecoming to the site and they're actuallyputting less code in therebut so it's glamis g-l-a-m-m-i-scalling dot org and right on the homepage there's a very short note from herwhich i willread to you because it's important andthen we'll get into the letterwelcome to the information portal thissiteserves as the official externalcommunicationvehicle for the world governing counciland the wetton upper chamberi wish i could do an english accent itwould be so much more impressiveif you've been directed here i could buti don't want to try it after practiceright try it if you've been directed ican't if you've been directed hereor for instruction note that mostmessages are intentionally obscureaudio files are up to date as of march2019let's see i can't hold on to it andunderlying messagesalternate between kesteland tenninger nodesif you have difficulty understandingthis are you laughing at me no i'mliking it go ahead keep goingit makes it so much betterif you have difficulty understanding aparticular messageyou may reach out to luxembourgcathedralon node 9 of the forgottenfrequency after authenticationyou may receive additional instructionin the upper chamberwe often say debateis required respectful dissentis allowed and betrayal isdeath delegates and electorsmust bear this in mind whilst readingthe instructionswritten herein by the timeinformation is posted here the debate isoverand descent has beennoted best regards somersettell it off it was charlie goodjolly and by the way toto my great brit friends and peoplearound the worldi apologize that that was brutal but youcan you canleave a comment back to me in anamerican accent andequally mock us you're more than welcomei'll play it onair well soyou know the the messages actually evenstart here in this firstum you know informationum thing that she put upum so it helps people to understandyou know when she talks about you knowfirstsays yeah well i'm gonna go before thatevenshe says you've been you've beendirected here forinstruction so everything that ison this site must be viewed in thatlight with those intentions thatevery message she sends out is givinginstructionsum who are the instructions from theinstructions aregoing to be coming down from the worldgoverning counciland the upper chamber councils andyou know it's really not intended forthose who are not in the illuminatisystembut they are picking up that more peoplenow are comingand watching so they the codes are goingto be gettingmore difficult and harder soshe tells the individuals for theinstructionsyou know that um the other placesbesides this websitewhere the instructions will be given arewill alternate between kestrel andtanninger nodesnow a node is a communication channelso um you know kestrel is connected tobolt castle which is out of alexandriabay new yorkand tanninger is connected to berg elswhich is in germanyum so those are the other places wherethese are going to be coming out andjust just just one second jessebolt castle you know what waterwaysand that it's connected to yeah thegreat lakesbut it this is directly abovethe area seneca that we just did abouthunter bidenright the finger lakes as well yes oh mygoodnessyeah oh my goodness okay sorry i didn'twant to interrupt there butthen just wow let me get more and i havemore stuff on the finger lakes and redcrossthere we go that’s another dayso um so that’s these are the placeswhere you can get the messageseither from the sweats website fromkestrel ortanninger nodes then she says if youneed to reach outyou can reach out through luxembourgcathedral onnode 9 of the forgotten frequency nowforgotten frequency is kind of like thename of the channelsso like if you had a a radio the radiois going to be called the forgottenfrequency but thenthe different channels are called youknow each have a nodename um a lot of people forgetabout luxembourg cathedral so this wasi’m going to go into a little back storyhere because it’s really interestingum you mentioned jeff that she um ownsand oversees bohemian grovewell when bohemian grove closed itspublic doorsin april of 2018um somerset put up a messageon bohemian website and it directedpeople that if they had questions aboutbohemian groveto contact luxembourg cathedralon node 9. now what’s interesting aboutthatis that the luxembourg cathedral is theoriginal name for notre damein france so you have to think whyin the world are the illuminati havingpeople who have questions about bohemiangrovecontacting the catholic cathedralof notre dame in france that questionwould come up in my mindyou know you just gotta ask thequestions it gets kind of interestingbut it shows the connectionsthat you know this system it isconnected to the masonicto the jesuit catholic um all of thesechurches and cathedrals have been placesthatum the illuminati just openly and freelyuseso that’s what i wanted to point outabout that first part before we get intothe newest messageum or anything else you wanted to saytherewell so the newest message is it’swritten right after the electionand i’ll just say right now it startsoff the headeris my dear ones in the united statesand to me a general impression of thisis she sympathizing with trump votersit’s kind of like a love letter to behonest like she comes offas a really super nice person in thisletter and by the way justi’ve seen some great decodes and i wantto give credit where credit is due thechannel was down now due to setcensorship butuh there’s a person a channel calleddeception bytes who did a greatgreat decode on this it took about threehoursum but this this like the codes thatcome out of this websiteshe’s literally steering usmillet naval fleets off of their missionno she’s telling the admirals no turnthe boat go this way and they dolike that’s how much you know uhwell listen that the three heads youknow areliterally the vatican london and thepentagonyou know uh so keep that in mindbut this is really interesting jesseyou well read and talk about what youlike in thiswell i don’t know if it’s what i likebut i’m just gonnasee yeah so so first off you got toremember that umthe illuminati has um individuals whoare very high level who are basicallystuck here in the united states umtrump closed off a lot of theinternational traveland the easy access for that um severalwaysum a lot of these higher level membersyou know they they have so many ways oftravel butsome of the easiest ways for them youknow they did use the seveni think they’re 757 pla boeing planeswe know that trump put out a while backthat those planes were groundedthey weren’t allowed to be used anymoreum they’ve been monitoring more theprivate jets and planes soum and then they you know with theirmonitoring of the water the boats thethe super yachts the portswhat’s coming in what’s coming out fromother countriesum it’s been really hard for though forthe high level eliteum who are here in the united states toleaveso you know what i really believe or whoi believe this is really toois to those high-level individualswho are in the united states and youknow that because she calls them herdear onesyou know just from your one of thestatementsum that you made earlier and i wouldconcursomerset has no loyalty to people thatare not of this the same ancientbloodlineum she’s very particular about thatand really considers everybody elsegarbage and not worth investing toso why would she call the generalpublic you know or people who aresupporting trump in america dear onesyou know she wouldn’t so she’s talkingtoyou know the elite the people who arepart of this systemand you know she doesn’t want she wantspeople to believe thisis for the general patriots in publicso that’s some of the terminology sheuses to throw people offso that um when you seethat you’re reading this letter at atthe surface level you’re taking it justas it iswhich you know what it says at surfacelevelis that you know people have beenreading these blogs and they’ve beencommentingand asking for help asking her to helpsave themand she’s heard that and we’re allpeople we all matter andyou know of course we’re all workingtogether to surviveand she’s telling him to hang in tightand even ends itwith you know yours forever somersetum so it seems like you know a niceletter she even throws god in here a fewtimes you know what jesse i’m justlooking at it i’m looking at the timei think we should read it and i i justsaid on yesterday’s broadcast that wedon’t read all these things buti’m just going to read part by part as idecode ityeah so i’ll tell you what why don’t ii’ll read the first sectionup till a brief history of us and thenif you could read that section and thenwe’ll just go and do a quick decode onit how does that sound that way theypeople have it in contextbecause it’s not as long as i thought asi read it so i’llstart out uh so my dear ones in theunited statesi’m posting this as a general responseto a multitude of messages coming frompatriots in the u.s requestingassistancein what is turbulent and very difficulttimefirst i know my heart and prayers arewith youmy post i send my heartfelt love andsupport for i feel asyou feel the trouble within your soulresonates acrossall frequencies and is the most ferventdesire to send you hope and comfortyou are not alone many who have writtenhaveasked that we intervene save usis a common refrain that arises from themessages leftin the private comments section of thisblogin many ways i wish it were possible tointervene and crush the enemies offreedombut it is precisely because of yourfreedomi cannot and i’ll try to explain soplease bear with me as i fumble throughwhat a truthfully very complex issueit is not just a legal issue it’s aspiritual issuethat involves well familyyours mine ours we have a uniquerelationship with the usdue to our shared history it is a deephistory that extendsto a time much earlier than youramericanrevolution i know i’m using a highlycharged term herebut those who seek will understandi’m speaking of the ancient sharedbloodlinesthat bind us together the people of theunited statesengland scotland wales ireland andnorthern ireland now iof all people am well awareof the term ancient bloodlines conjuresupthe worst possible images of illuminatireptilian despotsbent on world domination orfamilies that share demonic entity as acommon progenator that isnot what ancient bloodlines really meansi speak plainly to you and tell you thatthese negative images are a perversionof our sacred shared and very ancientbloodlines yours and minewe must reclaim that term and use itopenlyfor the last causes to be writtenstoriesabout our malignant characters who arerelated byblood and who work in secret to bringabout the enslavement of the common manthese authors who are not part of ourfamilyyours and mine designed these storiesfor a very specific purposeof distracting you from the truth of ourshared bloodlinescertainly there have been despots in ourfamily treeand of some ancestors we are notproud but it is time you knew the truthabout our shared past you probably heardthat most of the past presidents of theunited states have beenrelated to another i believemartin van buren is actually is usuallynoted as the only exceptionto this rule while that's truethere's much much more to the storyand it's a story that prevents usfrom interfering in your politicalmannersall right you want to go from there letme go from thereso so in this umyou know a lot of that language tells methatshe's talking to these elite who arereaching out to hersaying you know it's your duty to helpuswhy is it her duty um because herhusbanddoes run a majorsection of the protector assassindepartmentsyou know so what do these illuminatiwant they want protection they want helpthey want to get out of the of thecountry becauseum you know their freedom is at stakebut it's notfreedom in the sense that we're speakingyou know they'rethey're looking at possibly gettingarrest arrested getting found outso you know she's addressingyou know that that this issue ofhelping or saving them that it's not alegal issueyou know that if there was somethinglegal she could maybe help out with thatbut but she gets to the core that thisis a spiritualissue um with the families butmore importantly with god and i reallythink that that's the key there is thatthe lordis you know not allowing or giving thepermission for these people to leave theunited statesor for her to help we've talked abouthow satan has to go before the throneto get permission for everything that hedoesum so her hands are kind of tied hereshe can't just come in with blazing gunsand help these people out um when she'stalking to patriots she's not talking toyou and meshe's talking about the people who aresubject because remember this isinstruction right this is instruction toshe's talking to a very specificaudience but what was noteworthy in thefunfacts is that she hates communism soshe's not a joe biden fanand neither am i somerset we can agreedon't kill us[Laughter]um but so she goes intoyou know starts to break down thisspiritual issue and she goes tothe land to the united states in thehistoryof the united states andyou know it goes before the americanrevolution where you had twoyou know two different groups of peoplefightingum within the united states for controland she's saying it goes much deeperthan thatum i do find it interesting that sheuses the wordhighly charged term and she says thosewho seekwill understand okay so highly chargedthat's a that's a military term you knowit's used when you're gonnadetonate something um a lot of timesthat was used when they were buildingtheold mines and the railroads or they werelikeyou know building railroads or roadsthrough the mountainsokay so to me when i hear that termhighly chargedi think of of passages throughhard rock okay umso you know she's i think that this isreally where this is turning and shesays that those whoseek will understand so she'stelling you that there's a deepermeaning to all of this than what is justwrittenat the surface level andum you knowshe's talking about ancient things thatwere shared among the bloodlines sowe're talkingyou know things that aren't commonknowledge to most peopleum what what do you think about the partwhere she saysit's not about illuminati and reptiliansand and stuff like that that was areally interesting part yeahthat's very interesting um[Music]yeah she you knowone they don't call themselves reptilianum they are of the dragon bloodlineswhich is where people get that termreptilian and she does useyou know it's interesting that she evenshows that thereare familiar spirits that aregenerationally passed downso she's like it's not a matter aboutthe reptilian bloodline it's not amatter aboutyou know the spirit that we've allreceivedthis goes even deeper than thatum soi'm trying to think how to explain thisumwhen you've got you you're talkinglevels reptilians in that world would beviewedas you know you've got these spiritsthat areon the actual earth surfaceand they can you know possess peoplethey can take human formthe generational spirits are going to beconsidered in the realms belowthat and what she's getting at is thatthere's a realmeven deeper in the middle of the earthand that's what she's talking about theancientbloodlines the dragons come out of thecenter of the earthso that's what she's alluding tothe center of the earth hmmis that where hell is nothat's not no now thisis i i gotta give a disclaimer herebecause this is not your flat earthcenter normal center of the earththeoriesum you know this istheir understanding of the world that'sbelowthey they literally have built worldsbelow and we've started to bring outyou know in conversations the tunnelsystemsand i've talked about you know you'vegot your above groundand then below that you've got thetunnels that the cities usefor you know water for electricityfor running cable internet all of thatstuffum is there an emerald citythere is where does that sound familiarfromyes the land of oz andthere's a little tiny dude behind thecurtainyeah the wizard[Music]they've been telling you folks all thelongthey've been telling you folks all alongwhat do they do for light down there allartificial noyou want to expand um[Music]you know there arethe easiest way to explain it is evenwhen people have goneinto caves that there are natural thingsthat give lightso whether it's um creatures likefirefly type bugs umthere's luminescence yeah there's otherluminescent creatures down therethat help provide light there's alsoways that they've set upum ways totake sunlight but they would there's alot of reflectingthings that they do to get the lightwhere they wantit to go andwe won't talk about i mean yeah i guessiprobably can't go much deeper but theareum there are other things withsome of its technology that takes thelightor can create light fromenergy itself like the tests like teslatype energy um so lightcan naturally be created just fromwhat's down thereand and let's not forget so and by theway this is just myparticular thoughts other people thinkdifferentlybut you know these little uh funny ufosthat go around and stuff like that ifirmly believethat is they're not extraterrestrial ithink they werecast out of heaven and put here and theyarevery advanced in their technology theythey know a lot of stuff sowhy don't i do i'll read the nextsection of the letterjesse because this is the part where ithink you're really gonna shinehere um and then i'll stop and we'lldecode this partor did you finish with the first sectionum let me seeumyeah i think that's yeah i i think hewent pretty deeplike actually really deep like under theearth deep all rightthe next section is a brief historyabout usyour ancestors founded a new branch ofour family when they set across theatlantic to settlein what would become the united statesof americawhether they were part of the greatpuritan migration whose pioneers settledin present daynew england or wherever they weresettlers who were granted land from thenorthernneck of virginia most of them ultimatelydescended fromthe great families george washington'sancestorswere cousins of diana spencersancestors and they lived on neighboringfarmsat allthorpe the family seat of thespencer familyand the current home of charles theninth earl of spencerthere's a lovely piece of furniturecalled the washingtonchest which was a gift from thewashingtonsto their cousins the spencersthis post isn't about the famous peopleor presidents though unbeknownst to manyamericanstheir pioneer ancestors were carrying onbloodlines that could be traced to thetime of william the conqueror's arrivalinengland in 1066.many of your ancestors traveled onwilliams warshipson the journey from normandy to hastingsmine did too our ancestorsfought alongside william and wereawarded land and titlesin the aftermath of the conquestyou should do some research on this andi believe you'll discovered a multitudeof interesting lines but continuing withour explanation of ourshared connections we are not machineswe are external beings with a soul andwe are spiritually connected to oneanotherfamilies share both bloodline connectionwhich isup to a point can be measured by dnatestsalso a spiritual connection which iswhich our current signs cannot measurei told you this was a complex issue andi must admitone that i find difficulty to articulatei can feel it and i can see some of iti can convey you the image of extendedspider webmade of spiritual dna that concertconnects uswhen one member vibrates so doothers when your ancestors crossed theatlantic they extended both the physicaland the spiritual web of our familythough our shores may be miles apartthey are eternally connected to themysticchords of memory i humbly borrow thephrasefrom one of my heroes if we go deeper inthe storywe feel the resonance of god's intentionto send people to found a nationbased on his capital hprinciples and i admit at this pointin the story i begin to lose my sightfor i am not a prophet and i cannotpretend to know the will of godi can only tell you what i intuitivelyfeelwithin me and i believe in the core ofmy beingthat the almighty capital a inspired themigrations from my shores to yoursand he inspired your foundersno one can destroy from the outside whatgod has givenas a gift and for that reasoni hope that we will recoverfrom the current setbackwow yeah sothere's a lot of code in there so westarted to talk about the tunnel systemsum you know she mentions earlier aboutthethe family tree andand now she's talking about you know theancestors found ita new branch of our family when they setout across the atlanticto settle in the united statesso i think she's talkingtunnel systems here that deeper thanyou know the tunnels that the systemsthat the dumb bases run onum deeper than the ones that theprotectors useum you know she's talking this deepersystem where they have this entireum whole networkand world going on and she's namingpreciselocations in a coded wayum you know talking about migrationso i think that she is telling them heyyou know we don't need to save youi'm gonna tell you where the accesspointsto these deeper locations are in yourcountryand you can go there for safety umso she tells them exactly where thingsare locatedum that that there's an entrance way inthe northern neck of virginiaum you know and you know that's ourwhole point of going into georgewashington and the story about dianaspencer's ancestorsum you know why does she bring out thespencerswell the spencer company was major inthat whole new england virginia areaum you know they sothink about where those old companiesarewhy is she bringing this out becausewell that's that's one of the gatewaysto get into the lower cityum so she's telling them exactly wherethese gateways areum you know even we can't intervene butthis is where youwill find your safety right and so likedeanna spencer's ancestorsand they lived on a on neighboring farmsyou know so evenyou know she's telling you above groundindicatorsthat are going to tell you the locationsofum where to find these thingsuh these entrance ways and stuff andthere'syou know it even goes into details aboutyou know the ninth earl spencerhe's got lovely pieces of furniturecalled the washington chestwhich was a gift from washington thewashingtons to their cousinsum so if i remember correctly some ofthose buildings havesome of those have pictures of some ofthose things that were paintedso you're going to be looking forpictures that havethe pictures of washington's chest orhim giving that to the spencer familyum and around that area is where thatentranceis going to be that they need to accessumand you know it's funny i love thatshe's like unbeknownst to many americanstheir pioneer ancestors were carrying onbloodlines that can be tracedto the time of william the conqueror'sarrival in englandin 1066. many of your ancestors traveledon williamswarships on the journey from normandy tohastingsmine did too okay soyou know she's bringing out that pointthati think that that's brought out becauseshe's telling him thatthe tunnels extend below the oceanbelow the uh land that's under the oceanso she's saying that there is extensionsfromengland to the united statesum and she said you should do someresearch on this i believe you'lldiscovera multitude of interesting lineswow so ii knew there was something about thiswashington chest and stuff like thatwhat about 1066 does that bring upanythinglike it could be something yeah siryeah i believe that it's it's uh it'sit's a number code so you know she'stelling them which one is going to leadto england which of those lines umso i i believe that the tunnelsare labeled bythe years that they were built and whobuilt themso or they had major connections withpeople who crossed overso you know my my guess is that thethe tunnel's name is william theconqueror 1066and that's the line that they're goingto follow and that's going to take themum from hastings to normandyonce they're in there so she's givingthem specific directions this is like amapit's in for me and by the way if you'reskeptical and you don't thinkyou know back a thousand years agothey didn't have the technology to dothis they absolutely did have thetechnologyto do this oh yeah and it's just allbeen hidden from usright and some of the further languageyou know that's key key words to pick upsheshe talks about the extended spider webum that's what the tunnel system reallyis like it's like a massive spider webbut it is very int you know you think ofa spider webit's very coordinated you have linesthat go verticallyon you know plus you've got lines thatgohorizontally so that's the way thetunnel systems are builtum they goyou know in one of those two directionsumand jesse she highlighted i didn't saythis when iwhen i read the paragraph but this onesentence in the middle is in boldand it says when your ancestors crossedthe atlanticthe extended both physical andspiritual web of our familywhy would that be bold wellshe only has a few other things that arebolded the first wordin all of this that's bolded is peopleso what's bolded it would sit readpeoplea brief history of usand it says when your ancestors crossedthe atlantic they extendedboth the physical and the spiritual webof our familyso what does that mean forthe wentin umglamis castle's relationship to the usthat's what's boldedso what is she really telling them isthat everything's connected umphysically as well as so theseyou know we also call them ley lines butyou've got the physical tunnelsthat connect everything but you alsohave spiritual tunnels as wellso that's like that's what i'm seeingyep so she's giving directions for bothuh and they're connected by the mysticchords of memorywhich is italicized she is apparentlyquotingbut she says she's quoting from one ofher heroes sothis again is directions rightso so it's access points how do youhow do you connect with the mystic cordum she's telling you the keyword there is the herowilliam the conqueror washingtonso these are going to be access codes tothose gates when youum enter them they all operate bysongs they can some of them can beoperated bywords um so she's even giving them thewordsyou know washington is gonna be thefirst accesscode uh williamum what was the full one there williamthe conqueroris gonna be the second umso you know andshe gives the lord the credit for thisyou know she says but again i don'tbelieve it'sour god but she says no one can destroyfrom theoutside what god has givenas a gift okay so she's saying that allof thisterritory that is below the surfacenobody who's above the surfaceon the outside is going to be able todestroytheir this deep deep deep tunnelsystem and world that they haveundergroundyou know that was given to them as agiftand you know i think her statement ihope we willrecover from this current setback youknow she's just seeing it as a setbackshe's really saying you know we'llrecover this isminor um so i had a little bit of adifferent interpretation of thatand it doesn't mean both could becorrect or you could be correcti could be wrong which would not beuncommonespecially in this realm but you'regonna admit you might be wrong[Laughter]listen jesse so i know the who's righthe's right thing that's kind of funnyi'm willing to say on record i knownothing and i can prove itas long as we can agree but go ahead butlisten no i i think she's actuallybeing truthful here um about godalmightylisten even even satan has to admit godalmighty isas the supreme control and you know i'vebeen listening and i'm probablyinterpreting it this way because i'vebeenreally pouring into like kim clement'sprophecies and listening over and overand it's actually been building my faiththrough this timeand i think that you know america reallyisgod's gift to the world and i believethat it is going to bring inthe next harvest and i i think i thinkin some ways she's saying toyou know in context of who she'sspeaking toshe's saying look you knowyou're not gonna be able to stop what'scoming you know for somaybe you know you better get down theresort of thingum you know otherwise it's not gonna endwell for you uhalthough she claims not to be a prophetor anything but that's just the way thati felt when i read that that'sjust a few could be taken that way youknow the urgencyto take shelter um[Music]you know but that implies that she knowsthat there's gonna the things are gonnaget much worseyou know yeah so let me finish off theletter here there's awell about the same length as the lastsection it's not too bad but then uhyeah by the way the patriots i i thinkthisthis episode is just really pertinent toour timeright now like today where we sit in thein the wholeglobal scheme of things this is reallyspeaking to it and i think jesse'sdecode on this has just been phenomenalso farso the the heading in bold is what doesthis meanfor the wgc's relationship to the usquestion mark in pastimes global actorsworking from the council overwhich i now preside enjoyed almostunfettered access and influence tosocial economic and political affairsin us just as many other countriesthroughout the worldwhen i was elected to the position ofdirector generali was determined to implement changesthat would be set for the united statesapartwith regard to global influence iauthorized new rules for the counciland many of these rules are informed byan understanding of our shared historyboth spiritual and temporalput simply the house of wetton is boundto certain inviable rulesand the foremost of these that we mustrespect the sovereignty of the unitedstatesthe world governing council is forbiddenby its owncharter from taking any action withinthe usor of its territories asi am the author of this particular rulei find myselfcaught in my own trap but i hope you seethe rule wasimplemented to protect the sacredsovereignsovereignty of your great nation familyfirstwhen we encounter enemies of freedom inareasoutside the u.s we have influencewe exercise it with enthusiasmbut when dealing with your citizens wemust alwayserr on the side of respectand i dare say reverencesome of you have noted my missiveto the scotus in february of 2018has a tone much different from many ofmyother posts in this blog and you haveasked why we approach your lawlords with more respectful tone than weused in communicating with other worldleadersit is specifically because of the uniquerelationshipwhen the council speaks to us leaderswe speak as equals in closingi feel the hurt that you feel and ishare your worriesi also shed tears at

Jessie – Trust and Light at the End of the Tunnel
Posted on 2021, January, 22 by foxblog
Jessie shares some thoughts about trust, which is something many survivors and illuminati find hard to do, as they have been constantly betrayed.

She shared this a few days ago, on the 16th January before the inauguration but it perhaps even more apt now.

The video of her speaking is at the end but helpfully she has made a transcript…

Transcript

I am sharing this because we are at a place where so many are struggling to TRUST.

I wrestled with it too.

And wrote this as I prayed thru coming forward with my testimony at a Federal Level.

Draining the Swamp is no easy feat.

I believe a faithful heart somehow got this for our President to see.

If not, maybe the Lord himself put it on our President's heart.

Ask yourselves, what are we seeing happening?

The Lord is teaching us all to trust Him and one another.

Will we trust the plan?

TRUST (Written to a listening ear)

As I fasted this week, I prayed through one of the greatest struggles and challenges for me through all this-TRUST!

As I have shared before this was not something I ever learned to rely on in this world. Pretty much, the only person I do trust is the Lord. This struggle began when I was asked to rest and be still in the life long fight against the Swamp and in that I felt silenced. I have shared that the Lord has told me that I shall speak forth my testimony and He has called me to do this and to do so right before those who serve Satan eyes.

As a child I have always heard the cries of the captives and the men and women who serve in the Illuminati- spiritually I hear their hearts cries…but I also hear their hearts songs…the full potential of who they are if they choose to follow the Lord. I hear the cries of these people and the hardest thing to do is trust….

Feelings are not something we know nor are they taught nor are they ever shared. The only feelings ok to express were anger, sad, and good.

I was taught to always distrust, to question everything, to look for the second, third, and fourth layer in every thing done…even when things sounded and appeared to be going in a good direction, the ball always dropped somewhere, there was always a nasty turn, a game, a twist. So seeing all this…in my heart that is what I found myself feeling and waiting for. In this world every decision always leads to someone's death…so now to see the President meeting with Pastors about trafficking and prison reform, I am seeing the direction he is preparing…the path being paved and I am so excited and want to rejoice…and at the same time, there are so many mismatched feelings and thoughts…my heart hopes for so much…yet I deeply question…is it really true?

Could that plan really include healing for those who have been bound by Satan?

Would the government really INVEST in their deliverance?

Would the government really bring to these captives the hope of Jesus Christ?

Would the men and women in our government really offer these captives the TRUE HEALING, the TRUE DELIVERANCE,not putting band-aids on deep infected wounds, but TRUE HEALING, TRUE LIFE IN CHRIST JESUS?

The Illuminati are so good at their games…their cover lives…the dual way of living….that I struggle, I deeply struggle to trust. I feel like I can't trust those coming out.I struggle to trust those helping to bring them out. I long for that trust to be there. I long to just do it….but I can't get the thoughts out of my heart even after I have given them to the Lord. I see too many Red Flags and with each red flag raised I automatically go to that default of distrust just waiting for the BOMBS to drop. So I am left asking myself, what do I need to be able to trust others. I know the Lord has not designed me to function alone…so what do I need to be able to trust?

With the government because so many people I have known in the Illuminati were involved in government it is hard to trust. As a deserter….I know the consequences…my life will only last as long as they still feel I have purpose to them. Do you know five times I have tried to turn in what I know to the government starting at age 10. Guess what happened? Nothing…swept under the table…TOLD TO BE SILENT! (Even though it involved murder of children). When all you have seen are the wicked…it is SO HARD to BELIEVE there really are a few good men and women. As good as this work that is happening looks and knowing how deep this Illuminati goes and the layers and depths of evil…how can I trust that those currently serving in the government won't just toss me aside and see me as an expendable…that they won't toss the captives aside once out of the darkness and deem that we are unnecessary to the community as a whole and choose to live without us? I long for the Body of Christ….to be one with the Body as a whole (at a personal level, at a Church level, at a Community level, at a national level)….I long for that oneness, that TOGETHERNESS!!!! But I have never experienced it…and worse, never felt it could ever happen…

Even deeper comes the fear…for those who broke or tried to get out or report…they always sent the Gatekeepers (I never experienced this personally but observed their work over and over again)…these are the Illuminati therapists, mental health workers whose job is to use whatever means necessary to control and maintain information about the system….How can I trust that the government is not going to hand me or the captives over to these people? These therapists keep the hearts and minds of the people in bondage thru “so called therapies and medications” that never bring healing like hypnotism, behavior modification, electric shock therapy and more…so much more…These therapists tell lies…they tell people they have mental illness and diseases when in fact these clients tell the horrific truths of what we have had to endure and experience. We speak the truth about things we have seen and heard that others do not want to acknowledge nor admit and most of all-NO ONE WANTS TO BELIEVE!

These therapists do not deal with the real problem…they tell people that they have hallucinations and give them medications because they do not want to rebuke and break the root problem which is the demonic strongholds of oppression and possession.

Is the government really willing to deal with the demons…to rebuke…to bind…to give freedom to these captives from this supernatural bondage?

In truth-do they want to see the captive set free and offer second chances to those who come out of this thick darkness?

I even question if those who claim to want to come out really do? Or is it a game, an act to gain access and get rid of what is set up by those few good men and women?

I am thankful for your listening ear because do you know how many times I really have tried TO TELL, even after I believed my Training Partner, his two year old brother, and his grandfather were killed in the fire. First, there were the police both in our city and those outside the city? Then there were higher government officials….The story was always the same…evidence is hard to corroborate, the danger to great…if we I wanted to live it was best to just remain silent. Do you know that it was that fire…the day my Training Partner died that I made a promise to the Lord…that promise was I would never serve Satan…I would never remain silent…no matter what it took…I would reveal the truth…I would always TELL….

So when turning to police and government did not work I tried a different route…you would think that the Church would be a good shot because after all these people believe in the Devil. I was certain they would believe my story…but you know what happened…they didn’t even want to hear it…the moment I mentioned satanism the conversation ended…I was told by my Pastor and youth pastor to “stop lying and get real and to start telling the truth.” Now, in all fairness, these two men really do love the Lord, they were God fearing men that became prim examples for me to follow in my walk with the Lord. They taught me what I could trust…those I could trust were those who read the Word of God, Spoke the Word of God, and Lived the Word of God. So that is my only measure, my only standard in all this…if someone can’t meet all three of those things…I can’t give them my trust.

But going back to the Church I learned other things that hindered my trust. The greatest hindrance was that it was ok to tell very watered downed stories about one’s life..but it was never ok to share the truth…that you had experienced abuse, that you suffered depression because you could not share with anyone the traumatic horrific things that you experienced that there were no words for…or that you experienced the warfare with demons every day of your life and no one else believed it nor stepped on the battlefield with you…

And not being one to be silent…I never stopped trying…when I attempted to be brave and bold and to share with them anyway, even after being warned that the things I wanted to share were not on the Churches "approved conversation list", that they did not want to hear my real testimony, they would only listen if I found ways to water it down significantly. So in those brave moments, even when the Lord divinely planned them I was wounded, deeply hurt and treated like I had a disease. Every time I dared to tell my story…I lost friends, whole Churches, and community acquaintances. At one church the Pastor had no idea what my testimony was but asked me to give it before his sermon that morning. So I did…I spoke about my being born into Satanism and how I had come to Christ…do you know what his sermon was on? "Satanism is real in America." Pretty divinely planned moment don't you think? Yet, do you know what happened after I shared…the whole Church shunned me…they literally stopped talking to me in person or by phone and the fellowship I had experienced with them immediately stopped. It was made clear thru the non verbal language that I was no longer wanted nor desired in that church. And I was sharing about coming out…about the redemption of God…sharing how my life is a living testimony of just how much God loves people even those in the deepest darkness.

But this is not the greatest wound those in the Church cause…the hardest to endure is when they play the "Free Will" card. If you tell the truth and admit that you have had involvement or experience in satanism -you are automatically labeled, a big fat sticker is put on your head that you chose this life-you chose to be involved. (Now there are some who do, but the percentage really is that less than 5 % really choose this life). The other 95 % are forced into servitude. Satan has his ways. The horrors of his tactics to "meld ones will" to his are unspeakable. He goes after the heart until one is so numb that they become action figures-always acting, always doing as he commands, forgetting that they have their own thoughts, their own will, the ability to make their own choice even and they can make that choice without someone dying or suffering horrific abuse or black mail.

When all is said and done we want just Jesus…and we know Him only by His Word…We want to EXPERIENCE the LORD….we want to know the healing redemption and the new life promised…and more than anything we want to live it…but without trust in others it is almost impossible to get to this point…because more than anything we want to EXPERIENCE CHRIST AMONG THE FELLOWSHIP OF BELIEVERS…but the majority of those 95% will never vocalize that desire….

So my dear friend, thank you for listening, and when I say "to you I give my heart" I want you to know that it is a statement made with the highest respect, devotion, and willingness to serve with you wherever the Lord sends us to go…it means that I have your back in prayer and in all things….and I am giving my complete trust to you….but as you know we all fall short…there are times the questions, the red flags, everything that I grew up knowing overwhelms what I want to hold on to thru the Word…so at those moments…when I ask to you to give me your heart…it is not because I don't trust you…I believe you are a good man and know your heart…but in those moments I need to do more than just believe…I NEED TO EXPERIENCE IT! There has never been a time in my life when I have not been on the front lines…I was raised on them…I experience the Lord on them…all I know is the war and those the Lord fights…I believe I'm not alone on this field anymore…but there are times I need to experience it….So thank you for giving me that…I know this journey has not been easy to walk with me…but thank you for walking with me.

Now, I know getting off the battle field is another subject we have to address…it's hard to comprehend how to go somewhere you have never been and how to experience something other than all you have ever known…as hard as it may be to understand…I have never been off the battlefield…the Lord has brought me to where I am thru the midst of the harsh battle. It's the only way I know to experience the Lord…I will share how I experience Him…we may be talking the exact same thing only different settings….but I'll save that for another day….

I will gradually build up this list of sources that I read or listen for more general news. Naturally, as with all sources, use with discernment, question everything, do your own research and come to your own conclusions. The time is over for propaganda on a plate served to you… we are the news now, research and seek the truth…

Left right one dimensional politics means little to me. They are both corrupted by the globalist satanic illuminati cabal.

No one source of information will give all the truth. Listen to many and use your discernment. Choose those with integrity, not those you agree with.

I will not commit suicide and if it appears I have, then people may judge for themselves why this is so, after blogging these exposes of the top level of illuminati. I do not wish to live in the kind of world that the psychopathic illuminati want to bring in, which is a world wholly and absolutely controlled by them, and commits horrific crimes of child rape, child torture, child cannibalism, child mind control and much more, which is why I wish to speak out and expose them. This carries some risk but if I am killed or go silent, my wish is for more people to tell the truth, they cannot kill us all…

I3 – Inauguration Malarkey
Posted on 2021, January, 21 by foxblog
Nail biting stuff.

I had assumed that the “white hats” needed to take advantage of the inauguration to hold the sheep awakening event when maximum sheeps eyes were upon it.

Yes I had hoped naively that the armed forces were going to walk down the stairs and arrest Biden during his speech to shocked looks from the veritable who’s who of satanic mobsters, and those watching.

Or at least arrested them as they walked back in after the ceremony. But it wasn’t ever going to happen. Too much room for things to go wrong.

And what an assembly of the movers and shakers of evil!!

I had also assumed that the satanists would never be allowed back into “democratic” power.

No doubt many truthers have had to take more abuse from nearest and dearest along the lines of – paranoid, fantasist, mentally ill etc, – the whinings and crowings of the ignorant and cognitively dissonant.

Ignorance is bliss and those who follow the mockingbird media are in that blissful ignorance, and in that ignorance they seek to mock those who research and have more knowledge, even though imperfect.

Unfortunately we have to suck that up for a bit longer…

The basics are still the same

There is a satanic pedophile cult aka illuminati /swamp / brotherhood etc
The cult have infiltrated every level of every democratic institution – legislative, executive, and judicial courts, executive, legislature in fact they set up many of them
The cult has infiltrated every other organisation of importance at both ends of the one dimensional spectrum that they keep everyone framed in
The cult committed vast voter fraud and election fraud to get Biden and democrats in power as their party of choice to govern at this time
The cult control all big tech and mockingbird media
The cult created a false flag "insurrection" to justify hiding the election fraud, confirming Biden and attacking Trump
The cult has in place their chosen figures – antichrist, phoenix etc to bring down the current system and rebuild it from the ashes, to achieve their aim of bringing about the Great Reset and the New World Order, and the storming the gates of heaven to usurp the throne of god.
We are still unsure as to the exact allegiance of the "white" hats, Trump, Q, Somerset Belenoff /Glamis, various video makers and commentators etc but we of course want to believe that the cruel, evil, satanic cult is being taken down.

On the election fraud, covid and capitol protest this looks a good crowdsourced website https://hereistheevidence.com

Here is the Evidence – Covid, Capitol Protest, Election Fraud [3]

Evidence takes a long time to research, collate and summarise, more people are needed to help on the above website or other platforms. If you specialise in one type of information, you will soon learn your subject and people will come to you for your specialist knowledge.

So what did happen at the inauguration?

I do not know and those few that do know, if they did choose to say would do it cloaked in disinformation.

I do not intend to spend much time delving into the theories. Time is better spent carrying on researching and writing on exposing the verifiable crimes and how the cult works…

The child sexual abuse, child trafficking, ritual abuse and massive corruption existed and still exists. This can be researched, succinctly summarised and spread. Whistleblowers can be helped and their stories told by all sorts of media – poetry, drawing, painting, writing, video, radio. This is a far better use of time than speculation. I do wish more people would start blogging and helping rather than be passive passengers just absorbing information for selfish benefit. We need everyone active and helping!!

This is also an information war by and now against big tech and mockingbird media. Knowledge is power, and the more we can spread that truth and knowledge, the wider our power and the power of truth spreads, and diminishes their power.

We should stop using the tools of the cult, as much as possible, which help give them power and money as well as your data. Still, according to the stats on my blog, 97% of people still use google as a search engine Why? There really is no excuse…

Firstly I have seen some people saying that Q is not a psyop. Quite obviously it is a psyop. I have always said it is a psychological operation. But some people use the word psyop as a purely perjorative term, and thus some Q supporters think that Q being labelled a psyop is a bad thing. However, factually, it is a psychological operation.

The real question is what are the aims of the Q psychological operation? Are they good or bad for mankind?

Q has been the biggest intelligence drop of all time, irrespective.

I am not a Q specialist. It is one information source, albeit influential to take into account, but as the information, can be ambiguous, by design, then definitive analysis is almost impossible.

Whilst many who are solely Q followers may have lost faith in the plan or in Q, then my knowledge of the child trafficking, child abuse and ritual abuse and the illuminati are independent of Q. My work on child abuse predated Q by 5 years.

It is however disgusting to see the sick parasites and vultures at BBC disinformation unit delighting in their cognitive dissonance and ignorance. They spy on people, they pick on child campaigners and for 30 pieces of silver. They are disgraceful. 2021 Jan 21 BBC Biden inauguration leaves QAnon believers in disarray [4]

Just because many assumed from Q's drops what was going to happen does not reflect on the veracity of Q. Note also the disinformation specialists at the BBC never reproduce the the Q drops or analyse them, they focus on the what appear to them to be interpretations that are beyond their ken. But of course so is the extent of child trafficking and ritual abuse. I pity them.

It's impossible to research everything and write as well. The writing takes by far the longest, limiting research time. Everyone is speculating, many on video/radio which takes time to view, so I will just take a few points, and not from videos/radio programmes. If the information is worth passing on, it can be done in written form.

At the minute it is looking like that the power is in the hands of the military, even though it has not been officially announced…

This would make sense of the fact that the ring of steel and armed forces are in DC for a month.

This would enable arrests to happen more easily, and presumably either no guns are allowed on people who are not wanted to have them or at least it is known who has them.

I have no idea whether Nancy has been arrested but it is worth looking at.

https://www.bitchute.com/video/3PIrf2riDgGn/

Bitchute Nancy Pelosi's Arrest? [1]

The video appears to be a composite of after the inauguration and perhaps the day of the second impeachment. If genuine, who filmed it, and why release it? If these arrests are happening then some of the cabal must know. The "arrest" or control of Pelosi though subtle is still open to be seen by other cabal members, as is walking with 4 secret service agents.

There is some evidence that the inauguration was prerecorded, from shadow length, anecdotal evidence and it being shown early in Spain. If anyone has already done a brief summary of this – 4/5 paragraphs with links, please put a link in the comments.

I will not put in any more of the many speculative videos as 90% is waffle or presenters ego, and wastes much time, although some information is valuable.

Jessie has made some valuable points on twitter…

I lived and walked amongst them. Let me ask… Where is the pride, the mocking, the gloating, the blasphemous double talk.
Ask yourself if this is their greatest victory…why to they not display it in their posture?
This Victory is anothers

They are not as effusive as could be expected…

A few pictures from the inauguration… I haven't got the hang of the gallery function on this blog, so they are one after another…

Kamala Bible

Is there really a bible inside and which one?

The Biden Bible…

A family heirloom… Beau with the bible

Fashion

…and the “ladies” wore purple/violet/plum and black masks…

More fashion…

Hunger Games

Satanist Gaga was in Hunger Games mode… the sick circuses of a dystopian society that they crave, drunk on their own power…

The satanists delight in these two faced symbols – peace /violence

Memed hunger games ala Gaga…

Jessie, whistleblower on the illuminati, suggests on twitter, that the women in purple may share a power circle 3,5,7,9,11 and 13 and asks what elements and dark angelic powers they represent…

Jessie implies that the event was a Golden Dawn ritual, a high masonic degree, so research on that may be worthwhile…

Search terms useful to research may be Aleister Crowley, Adam Kadmon, Tree of Life, Kabbala

More on the Golden Dawn from Pat Zalewski , its a 181 page pdf, so scroll it down. Gardiner, Felkin, Anne Davies

Pat Zalewski – Secret Inner Order Rituals of the Golden Dawn – 1986 Download from cfox wordpress [8b] Rabbithole wiki [8] wayback archive [8a]

Is the inauguration an Isis/Osiris ritual with dome of the capitol representing the womb of the goddess and the obelisk the phallus of Osiris.

Is this true for the other two independent square mile cities of London and the Vatican?

The following video makes the case for the Isis /Osiris symbolism…

The Inauguration Ritual – Raising Osiris Reloaded [6]

The Osiris story feeds into the famous John Podesta photograph…

I have been sent this apparently as a reply to Jessie’s puzzle request for the bad guys. Thankyou. So perhaps the purples are attached to the demon Lilith, but that is my conjecture…

Apparently also the book, Nightside of Eden by Kenneth Grant lists and described the tunnels of set sentinels.

Biden in Power

Part of the reason I suspect for allowing Biden to take apparent power is to get the administration to show its hand and for the people around the world to show theirs and their allegiances. The “give them enough rope” or “rope a dope” principle.

E states that Trump is bait. As such Trump as the hate figure of the satanists, rightly worried for their lives, reveal themselves in their hopium that they have seen the back of the Trump threat to them.

John Brennan as of the heads of Monarch Programming MK Ultra, experimented extensively and mercilessly on innocent children.

He wastes no time in voicing his fascistic view of wiping out any dissent to the satanic narrative, hidden as the democratic one…

https://www.thegatewaypundit.com/2021/01/huge-john-brennan-gives-plan-away-biden-officials-moving-laser-light-fashion-identify-root-political-opposition-population-video/

Gateway Pundit John Brennan Gives the Plan Away: Biden Officials Moving in “Laser Light Fashion” to Identify and “Root Out” Political Opposition from Population [7]

Similarly for the foreign powers.

China welcomed the apparent change in power from Trump to their blackmailed asset…

A tiny part of Biden data that China has…

LFH1- More than a Malarkey Joe, its a Sordid Swamp [17]
Laptop from Hell 2 – The Swamp being Revealed… [18]
LFH3 Ashley Biden’s Diary [19]

LFH4 Beau Biden Foundation for the Protection of Children [20]
Certainly Boris in UK has welcomed Biden, as most globalist leaders have.

This has just touched on some aspects of the inauguration.

Before I finish I will just mention the hypocritical breaking of social distancing at the inauguration with no comment by mockingbirds, and of course the antifa violence around the country – keep an eye on the blowback pigeons coming home to roost.

Whether we have to wait 3 days (very biblical) or 30 days (Q) or even 40 days in the wilderness, that is time well spent to bring down these satanic psychopaths.

Carry on researching, collating, summarising the information, so others do not have to repeat the research you have, though give then the opportunity to by including sources.

I do not want to live in a world controlled by them, never has there been a better chance to take them down…

Make no mistake the cult know they are under threat like never before…

…but like most cowards they will choose self preservation and cooperation over any principles they might have.

I will gradually build up this list of sources that I read or listen for more general news. Naturally, as with all sources, use with discernment, question everything, do your own research and come to your own conclusions. The time is over for propaganda on a plate served to you… we are the news now, research and seek the truth…

Left right one dimensional politics means little to me. They are both corrupted by the globalist satanic illuminati cabal.

No one source of information will give all the truth. Listen to many and use your discernment. Choose those with integrity, not those you agree with.

I am not connected to anyones Patreon accounts, nor do I receive any money for my writing. I believe it is important to provide this information not hidden behind paywalls, and yes I suffer financial hardship for doing so.

I will not commit suicide and if it appears I have, then people may judge for themselves why this is so, after blogging these exposes of the top level of illuminati. I do not wish to live in the kind of world that the psychopathic illuminati want to bring in, which is a world wholly and absolutely controlled by them, and commits horrific crimes of child rape, child torture, child cannibalism, child mind control and much more, which is why I wish to speak out and expose them. This carries some risk but if I am killed or go silent, my wish is for more people to tell the truth, they cannot kill us all…

I2 Pre – Inauguration

Posted on 2021, January, 20 by foxblog

As of about 11.00pm British Time ie 6pm I think US eastern time the Biden inauguration seems to have gone ahead without mishap for them…

I will deal with that in a future post, this is the blog I prepared on the events yesterday and pre-inauguration.

So what will the inauguration bring?

A satanic ritual celebrating Biden and the forces of satan having regained the reigns of democratic power in the US?

Or the arrest of Biden, Obama and satanic worshipping elite justifying the massive efforts of brave whistleblowers and survivors, and the efforts of so many around the world for shining a spotlight on the wall of corruption and depravity that most of our current leaders

It of course may not be as black and white as this, but it is much more difficult to foresee a way forward with the satanists back in “democratic” power.

Recap

Things are moving fast, but not all going as we would like…

There was a decision to release documents re Maxwell, but nothing has happened yet AFAIK See Maxwell for link where documents will be released [7]

There was declassification – late but not very much but welcome all the same as it was a marker as the “start”

There was no pardon for Assange or Snowden. Arguments about this apparently went on and on. Apparently Mitch McConnell “sent word over to the White House: if you pardon Julian Assange, we are much more likely to convict you in an impeachment trial.”

So a bit more detail. The declassification was delayed and delayed,

Whitehouse Pool Declass Crossfire Hurricane [11]

These were the pages released…

Declass 1 Steele2017 FBI Debriefing 28 pages 9mb [8] cfoxblog [8a]

Declass 2 Notes of FBI Int Steele 2017 10 pages 2mb pdf [9] cfoxblog [9a]

Not had time to do anything other than scan through them.

I do not know if there was any other declass. If anyone knows there was please leave link in comments.

Pardons

There were 73 pardons and roughly as many commutations- Whitehouse – Pardons etc [10]

Assange was not amongst them nor Snowden. Nor have I any idea of the "quality" of this list. He did pardon Steve Bannon apparently, though not himself as mockingbird media were afraid of.

I do not believe Trump will have taken Mitch McConnell threat into account.

https://twitter.com/danielchaitin7/status/1351707348373557253

Dan Chaitin Video re Assange pardon [12]

Whilst certainly a disappointment re Assange, it would not matter if Biden is arrested and Trump gets back in.

Trumps 1776 Report which someone said has already been taken off the Whitehouse website. The-Presidents-Advisory-1776-Commission-Final-Report

Other Happenings

CIA put out a tweet at 1.29 about Gina Haspel after her resignation, perhaps suggesting that the CIA has been dismantled…

Kayleigh McKenna perhaps gave a clue as to was the mirrored signal to confirm the DC military rule 113 and at 6.54, News unlocks MAP

Trump Address

Trump address last night, which many mainstream did not bother to cover. It was covered by RSBN who twitter banned beforehand for 12 hours.

LIVE: PRESIDENT TRUMP FAREWELL ADDRESS TO THE NATION 1/19/21 [2]

Helicopter trip Trump leaving Whitehouse and said Goodbye but hopefully not a long goodbye…

Speech in front of 17 flags at Andrews Air Force Base…

At Andrews Air Force base… Trump statement…

You will, see incredible things happening, remember us when you see incredible things happening… a rocketship up… “luck” comment

[16] LIVE: President Trump Speaks at Sendoff Ceremony at Joint Base Andrews/Arrival in FL 1/20/21

The video above covers several events live and so as yet there are no timecodes for specific ones.

Trump then flew to Mar-a-lago Florida…

Oddly schools warned not to watch inauguration… Dallas News Some Texas school districts don't want to show Biden's inauguration live to students [13]

Not sure when this was taken, did Biden attend a rehearsal? Biden but not Harris behind a bullet proof screen Operation Martyr – false flag to kill Biden?

Biden does not have many options, he has served his purpose, to cheat the election and cover up Ukraine and China corruption so far. Biden is not capable of functioning even as a puppet of Obama and will soon be removed by Kamala with 25th Amendment, or Biden will be killed via operation Martyr and blamed on Trump supporters, or he will be arrested by military…

Biden is apparently attending a Catholic mass at Cathedral of St Matthew the Apostle in central Washington before the inauguration.

Pence is attending Biden's inauguration…

So what will happen?

If Biden is allowed to take the Presidency, then there will be a satanist and Head of Biden Crime Family as President. He has been involved with corruption in Ukraine and is of course a puppet of China.

There is absolutely not one iota of doubt that the election saw huge voter fraud, huge election fraud and then every state court and federal courts refusal to look at any fraud of the election. There was NO court remedy for fraud, and furthermore it was orchestrated by foreign powers China and Rome.

Congress disgracefully rushed though a whitewash of the election after the deep state organised "insurrection" event to allow this.

Kamala is also illuminati and implicated in child trafficking of Jonah Rief, a child of many bloodlines.

The inauguration is a who's who of satanic illuminati bloodlines. They think they have won and they nearly have with just over an hour to go…

The satanists talking points about Trump are that his presidency was about two things Covid handling and the “Capitol” insurrection. Both of course are deep state illuminati bloodline operations.

If mockingbird media actually believed that the claims were baseless or unfounded, they would actually look at all the evidence.

If the mockingbird media actually believed this was an insurrection which was Trumps fault, they would look at the evidence of the democrats taking part.

They do not and the mockingbird media are up to their neck in these satanic plans.

If Biden gets in, expect devastation as per the NWO plan not the peace, normality etc that these psychopaths lies about…

I will gradually build up this list of sources that I read or listen for more general news. Naturally, as with all sources, use with discernment, question everything, do your own research and come to your own conclusions. The time is over for propaganda on a plate served to you… we are the news now, research and seek the truth…

Left right one dimensional politics means little to me. They are both corrupted by the globalist satanic illuminati cabal.

No one source of information will give all the truth. Listen to many and use your discernment. Choose those with integrity, not those you agree with.

I am not connected to anyones Patreon accounts, nor do I receive any money for my writing. I believe it is important to provide this information not hidden behind paywalls, and yes I suffer financial hardship for doing so.

I will not commit suicide and if it appears I have, then people may judge for themselves why this is so, after blogging these exposes of the top level of illuminati. I do not wish to live in the kind of world that the psychopathic illuminati want to bring in, which is a world wholly and absolutely controlled by them, and commits horrific crimes of child rape, child torture, child cannibalism, child mind control and much more, which is why I wish to speak out and expose them. This carries some risk but if I am killed or go silent, my wish is for more people to tell the truth, they cannot kill us all…

I1 The Stage is Set…
Posted on 2021, January, 19 by foxblog
The stage is set…

What is expected today, 19th January is a massive declassification of documents to prove Obamagate, essentially illegal treasonous spying on Trump and Cruz authorised by Obama, back to 2015. Then documents proving the Steele Russia, Russia, Russia dossier against Trump was fake and paid for by Hillary. A release should include Seth Rich's death and that Seth Rich leaked the info from democrat servers to wikileaks, and it was not a Russian leak as per the Crowdstrike conclusion who were chosen as the "investigators", as the FBI were refused access. Crowdstrike also leads us into Ukraine and the four democrat leaders children in energy companies there, and the Hunter Biden information.

As relatively little information has been declassified so far it is an indication that it has not been needed, Trump still holds these facecards.

A pardon is hoped for/expected for Assange, which would tie in with the Seth Rich revelations. It should be remembered that Assange himself is not a stranger to the system (illuminati).

Some people hope for a pardon for Snowden, though to some he was a CIA traitor designed to weaken the NSA, who was trying to take down the deep state. We shall see.

It is said that Pompeo is arguing against the pardon for Assange, perhaps he is worried.

If we are to trust Kansas then he has done his fair share of evil in the past, he needs to atone for much… We lied, we cheated, we stole…

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qfrhATD4nM0

Pompeo re Lying in the CIA [7]

It is perhaps strange that Pompeo is posting photos (outing?) Secret service personnel on his twitter account.

Also expected today is a ruling on more Maxwell / Epstein documents perhaps revealing more child rapists and traffickers, though release may be delayed even if permission given, or even permission denied.

Documents will be listed here when court post them today:
https://www.courtlistener.com/docket/17318376/united-states-v-maxwell/

4.49 Some would say today we are expecting a development at 4.49 pm, though whose timezone?

Yesterday 18th January was calm, apart from a fire which caused the cancellation apparently of Biden's inauguration.

Whilst looking from one angle it looked as though it was near the Capitol building…

…then from another angle it was nowhere near. It was blamed on a homeless person's gas cylinder and belongings.

It perhaps suited both sides – Biden as they didn't want him to turn up, and he wanted more kip or the military side so that Biden got no clue as to the lay of the land and what is going to go on at the inauguration.

Kamala resigned her seat finally from the Senate, in order to take her place as Vice President.

Michelle also had her birthday recently but doesn't look too happy, was that a clue?

So what is going to happen at on inauguration day?

The hope of course is that the global criminal cabal /illuminati /swamp are arrested whilst inside the ring of steel with the 30,000 plus troops at least, that are said to be in there. High profile political arrests would be Obama and Biden. Obama is current head of Satanic Council – the Phoenix whose job is to rebuild the satanic system after its destruction. Obama took over from Soros earlier this year. Biden is more a useful idiot / Head of Biden Crime Family compromised by Chinese Communist Party.

Celebs at the event include Lady Gaga, Jennifer Lopez, Tom Hanks, Jon Bon Jovi and these would of course be high profile celeb arrests at High Priest /Priestess level or probably above.

The real controllers of the Illuminati are of course not household names and not Monarch mind controlled like the above high level pawns. The Mothers of Darkness may already be in custody, if not then is hoped they would be taken at the same time, though they may be skulking down any of their tunnels that have not yet been cleared.

What may point towards the possibility of any arrests?

DNI Report – The Director of National Intelligence published a report regarding Chinese interference in the 2020 election [6]

Biden, if he actually became President would be a Chinese asset, and would allow takeover of the US by China as part of the globalist NWO plans.

It is already publically clear since the release of Hunter Bidens hard drives, that Biden has been compromised LFH1- More than a Malarkey Joe, its a Sordid Swamp [4] Big tech and mockingbird media have attempted to suppress this truth in favour of their narrative.

So with the information that China interfered in the election (massive voter and election fraud) and that Biden is a CCP asset and the CIA clowns have tried to cover this up then various paths forward are open to the President, one of which is the Insurrection Act.

This video may be worth a watch, but again I have not had time to view it, unless it is one I viewed some time ago. The journalist Lu De is the person who set up GTV and G News to expose the CCP.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=nI3uQq7UuYk&feature=youtu.be

Chinese Journalist, talking about Hunter Biden & Nancy Pelosi laptop. [9]

Back in October I posted a link on twitter to the GTV and GNews website and twitter was so scared and determined to shape the narrative that they banned me for 12 hours.

Gnews [13]

GTV [14]

The sites are good, however be aware that certainly on GTV, the public are allowed to post and so there may be unproven allegations or speculation, which I believe the Hunter / Malia allegations to be, and which caught me out at first.

Presidential Executive Orders in place cover other variations of scenarios for the Military to take power instead of a traitor. We will find out soon enough which, if any of these paths have been taken.

Peaceful transition to military power.

DC Military Occupation Rules

Interpretation of a QDrop appears to reveal that the 11.3 11.6 numbers are not dates but relate to documents relating to the rules governing military occupation of

Washington DC.

Washington DC is regarded as an independent corporate entity and not part of the USA. Similarly the City of London and the Vatican. These three have long thought to be the 3 centres of illuminati power – military, financial and spiritual, each with an obelisk.

It raises the question as to whether there are any supporting events there for the satanic ritual that the Biden inauguration is intended to be, and if any counteractions are planned.

Lin Wood

Lin Wood is starting to make waves again. Apparently after Mike Adams downbeat interpretation of the troops issue, Lin has spoken to Mike Adams and given him more information. He supports Mike as a person genuinely searching for the truth.

This is Lin's latest interview. In the interests of getting this blog out quickly, I have not had time to listen to it, but include it for readers benefit.

Red Voice Media Lin Wood interview [10] Video [10a]

Mike Adams

Armed with more information from Lin Wood, this is Mike's latest upbeat broadcast indicating he now thinks cabal arrests will happen and a way forward for the future of America…

2021 Jan 18 Mike Adams Situation Update, Jan. 18, 2021 – Game-changing intel grants Trump new pathways to VICTORY [3]

Emergency Broadcast System – this is when we will truly know if action is being taken against the cabal. The later it has to be used the better, some think later today, but maybe that would stop an inauguration taking place, so maybe only after inauguration has begun.

A couple of other points.

Manchurian Candidates – Mike Adams mentions possible Manchurian candidates ie specialist form of aggressively trained killer Monarch mind controlled slaves for end times, but talks about possibly 100,000.

Estimates of Monarch mind controlled slaves I believe to be higher, up in the region of 20-30 million. This would indicate possibly many more than 100,000 trained for violent end times action, and many others whose programming can be adjusted to cause trouble. I mentioned this in my last blog, and previous blog about Manchurian candidates.

Manchurian Candidates – MK Ultra Mind Control Assassins [16]
What is Happening? Psyops Abound… [17]
I hope planning has been made to take these into account.

Electro Magnetic Pulse weapons EMP , that Mike Adams mentioned may indeed be used in a limited way where needed as the action of least damage and death.

When the cabal knows they are going down they will have last ditch plans to cause death and destruction and if they can will release whatever they have eg nuclear, biological, and Manchurian candidates and the kitchen sink.

Hopefully these plans have been carefully watched and neutralised already or quickly.

Trump is posting executive orders of things that are due to take place after Biden is supposed to be President. What would be the point if Biden was due to become President?

Jan 22 Sanctity of Human Life Day

National Schools Choice Week Jan 24-30

Stopping some coronavirus travel restrictions Jan 26 2021

The criminal cabals big tech and mockingbird media will keep trying to set a different narrative, missing out any of the massive election fraud, the links to China of election fraud and Biden, and will try any psyop they can. So far we have had exaggerated coronavirus, BLM, climate change, trans/ transhumanism and still reputedly to come the fake Project Bluebeam fake alien invasion with lasers and holograms.

Carrying on from the false flag Capitol coup, the pretend Boogaloo boys get a bit mixed up with symbolism… but there will be many such. All the right wing groups have said they will be staying away from the inauguration…

Trump is said not to be at the inauguration, but will be at a red carpet event with a 21 gun salute…

We need everyone, play your part…

I would not recommend just sitting back and enjoying the show with popcorn.

Some of us are working flat out to make a good outcome happen. Don't be a passenger.

Spread information on different platforms. Take something posted on one platform and post on another, and add a comment. Repost on the same platform.

Stay alert, stay safe and keep spreading as accurate information you can. This is an information war, be active in it…

I will gradually build up this list of sources that I read or listen for more general news. Naturally, as with all sources, use with discernment, question everything, do your own research and come to your own conclusions. The time is over for propaganda on a plate served to you… we are the news now, research and seek the truth…

Left right one dimensional politics means little to me. They are both corrupted by the globalist satanic illuminati cabal.

No one source of information will give all the truth. Listen to many and use your discernment. Choose those with integrity, not those you agree with.

I am not connected to anyones Patreon accounts, nor do I receive any money for my writing. I believe it is important to provide this information not hidden behind paywalls, and yes I suffer financial hardship for doing so.

I will not commit suicide and if it appears I have, then people may judge for themselves why this is so, after blogging these exposes of the top level of illuminati. I do not wish to live in the kind of world that the psychopathic illuminati want to bring in, which is a world wholly and absolutely controlled by them, and commits horrific crimes of child rape, child torture, child cannibalism, child mind control and much more, which is why I wish to speak out and expose them. This carries some risk but if I am killed or go silent, my wish is for more people to tell the truth, they cannot kill us all…

What is Happening? Psyops Abound…
Posted on 2021, January, 17 by foxblog
Psychological warfare is going on all around, leaving most people confused.

So whats happening? Each person has to decide for themselves and use their own discernment. Here are a few sources to help make up your mind…

This is a message from E on gab, which neatly sums up some of the current geopolitical events, and saves me making a list. More from E later.

1. Netherlands Gov resigned.
2. Merkel step down.
3. Estonia PM missing.
4. Italian gov. collapse.
5. Russia's gov resigned, Putin rewriting constitution.
6. Declass Obama-gate
7. DC lockdown. 25k soldiers
8. Kuwait PM resign.
9. Wuhan lab = Chinese Military since 2017- per State Dept.
10. Rothschild death (Suicide/HA cover).

Steve Pieczenik goes on Alex Jones and insists it will come out to everyone that the election was stolen and Trump will carry on [5]

The is zero percent doubt in my mind that there was massive election fraud, there is abundant evidence, and evidence of foreign interference from Rome Italy or Vatican, Germany and Pakistan. This is outside the scope of this article and also still short on time to put in the facts about the Coup at the Capitol.

Robert David Steele (who I have not trusted for years, but forget the incident why) is doing the rounds with Charlie Ward and Simon Parkes saying everything is going to be ok, which is worrying as they may well be CIA.

Lin Wood, libel lawyer, dropped massive bombshells child trafficking, the satanic pedoelite and John Roberts SCOTUS being blackmailed about adopting his child via Epstein. Banned from twitter, and quieter now on Telegram – Lin Wood [9]

Rudy Giuliani via his show Common Sense [7] Rudy Giluani's show Common Sense- does he really need the money advertisin cigars though? –

General Flynn is on clouthub, which at present is just US and Canada https://tinyurl.com/yy8853et

There is no doubt that the banning of accounts from twitter and the takedown of Parler by big tech has split people up, made people spend masses of time setting up new platforms and supporters as well as made communications more difficult.

E gives the impression he is a maverick. Who knows if he is, but his information is often useful. Now he is only posting on Gab @EWillHelpYou [10]

E has been counting down from 10, presumably on the Q ten days of darkness and about 7-9 hours ago, from posting of this blog, was on T-1. I am not sure if the timing of the tweet is hour or minute specific, but according to him expect something big in 15 hours or so. Does it align with a watch time?

E maintains that is is more than just a normal election, the whole future is at stake and that Trump is bait.

Listen carefully:

This is not a battle for control of an office. This is not a battle for control of a dying and corrupt system. This is not a battle for the day. The system in front of you is failing rapidly, it will not last much longer.

This is a silent war that has waged since long before any of you were born, and the true field of fight is more expansive than you can imagine
They pit you against one another continuously, and you let them.
Q told you, I told you. Repeatedly.

Why have you not listened?

They want you like flocks of sheep.
I told you, “Trump, is bait”. A statement that still holds true. Have you figured out why and to what end?
Who is the real enemy? How do we destroy them?
Both I and Q have told you this as well.

Public Awakening is their greatest fear.
WHY?
This is a game played on an exponential scale. Where the constant of growth is multiplied by the base of support.
You are looking at momentary political enemies, most of them near death. But this is a battle for the future.
This is a battle against a repetitive system designed to enslave you and keep you from realizing the truth.

This is important to understand, because the way in which you perceive the fight you are in determines the road you will take to arrive at a solution.
Tell me, after you strike your enemies down, how do you stop new ones from rising?
And after Trump leaves office one day; what will you do?
You cannot hope to hold power forever, that is neither wise or possible.

If you slow down, you will see a road ahead clearly.

You have not been betrayed, except by those who used your trust to line their pockets. Nor have those of us actually freely fighting for you left the field. We could not, and will not lay down our swords.

It is up to you, whether you will last out the day and rise once more to join the battle. No one can force your steps there, but remember what is at stake.
Remember all the knowledge you have gained over the course of the last several years. And remember what we all sacrifice daily to help bring the light. There are those of us who have traded everything, so that you might be free, informed; and in the end, victorious.

It is my fervent hope that you begin to learn the ways in which we will circumvent and overcome them actively. Because we are winning, despite the outward appearance of the moment. We have forced them into a position in which they must react drastically to every element of dissent; and in doing so; evinced their true goals.
This may seem small to you, but it is the culminating effort of years of work to display the enemy across the board.
And people see them. People on all of the manufactured sides across the earth.
And this, is how awakening happens.
One day at a time, over a long period of time.

They cannot walk down the street safely anymore. Any of them.

Hold tightly to all that is good, and keep walking forward, together.
You will yet see miracles happen.

Q is quiet but I had missed the tweet from a John F Kennedy account , since banned, which is perhaps the famous Storm tweet long predicted by Q

This was Q's tweet that gave the signal for the start of the storm…

10 days of darkness drop

This drop says it will be at shutdown.

This tweet apparently came just after the storm tweet, was this official/unofficial confirmation of red1?

Red 6 – was this confirmed by this Defense Secretary instruction?

Now onto Mike Adams who I might not have passed on before. With his truth telling Natural News website he was banned repeatedly years ago by big tech/mainstream so he founded his own video platform now called Brighteon. He is also called the Health Ranger, and he now has many special ops friends and sources.

His latest programme is interesting, and is a slightly different take to many who think this is all a cakewalk for Trump.

Brighteon Mike Adams Situation Update, Jan. 16th, 2021 – Psyop revealed, DC prepares for large-scale WAR [1]

Mike sees and describes how the military build up in Washington DC has increased by the day to massive proportions, which appears to be more than just to arrest any "deep state". also military appears to be ready and active all over the US. Mike postulates that it might be to deal with any attempt by China to take advantage of this sensitive, perhaps vulnerable time with troops positioned around the US. If Biden is to be inaugurated, then he is a blackmailed asset of China and could invite them in.

Mike also outlines Project Martyr, a possible plan to assassinate Biden and blame the far right. To me this sounds like a Gladio op.

Trump is of course meant to have space force, and this will entail a great advantage and a new type of warfare.

I recommend Mike as a good source to keep an eye on.

I will just add some more possibilities…

Is Trump just acting on behalf of a second illuminati faction ie Glamis Calling Somerset Belenoff [12]

Why does no-one ever mentioned the Monarch programme MK Ultra army?

I have just come across a post I blogged last May, which still holds up very well. In it I wrote about the up to 30 million Monarch mind programmed individuals in the US alone. 99.99% of bloodline families are mind controlled, as well as many not bloodline, making approx 10% of US population.

Many of this army have received military type end times programming, to bring about the New World Order, and no doubt under false flags as well. Is this what the military is defending against. Part of this is Mr Rogers neighbourhood programming – See Manchurian Candidates – MK Ultra Mind Control Assassins [6]

Is it a coincidence that Mrs Rogers has just died? Joanne Rogers, Mister Rogers's Mrs., Is Dead at 92 [18]

A source, for those not aware, Tim Holmseth who reports on the child trafficking. Do not forget about the tunnels underground as a means for the swamp, and that children need to be rescued from. This is yet another consideration. #picaziogate will be huge in the future as regard child trafficking.

Of course keep an eye on Jessie Czebotar, her links are here Jessie Czebotar – My Whistleblower and Woman of the Year 2020 [14]

Massive declassification is still to come, hopefully any time now, though much has been dropped quietly for some time. The big drops on spying on Trump, Steel Dossier , false Russia narrative are still to come.

Whatever is happening, it is a pivotal time.

Play your part, we are still in the information war.

Perhaps we shall know best when the Emergency Broadcasting System is activated, particularly if it is done by taking control of mainstream channels. I did see one report of system being tested in Germany this morning at 0600.

Its worth looking at Bidens face of horror when asked about if there were any scenario in which he would not be inaugurated

I will gradually build up this list of sources that I read or listen for more general news. Naturally, as with all sources, use with discernment, question everything, do your own research and come to your own conclusions. The time is over for propaganda on a plate served to you… we are the news now, research and seek the truth…

Left right one dimensional politics means little to me. They are both corrupted by the globalist satanic illuminati cabal.

No one source of information will give all the truth. Listen to many and use your discernment. Choose those with integrity, not those you agree with.

I am not connected to anyones Patreon accounts, nor do I receive any money for my writing. I believe it is important to provide this information not hidden behind paywalls, and yes I suffer financial hardship for doing so.

I will not commit suicide and if it appears I have, then people may judge for themselves why this is so, after blogging these exposes of the top level of illuminati. I do not wish to live in the kind of world that the psychopathic illuminati want to bring in, which is a world wholly and absolutely controlled by them, and commits horrific crimes of child rape, child torture, child cannibalism, child mind control and much more, which is why I wish to speak out and expose them. This carries some risk but if I am killed or go silent, my wish is for more people to tell the truth, they cannot kill us all…

Jessie Czebotar – My Whistleblower and Woman of the Year 2020

Posted on 2021, January, 15 by foxblog
This is a tribute to a remarkable woman who I have had the privilege to make blogs with over the past year. This is a summary of my work with her over 2020.

Firstly just a word on new platforms caused by big techs digital equivalent of massive censorship and book burning. I am now on these channels. Telegram seems great, far better than twitter, and am also on substack email list /short blog which is exactly what I need as a back up, way to keep in touch in emergency siutations like may be upon us soon.

Telegram Foxy Wolf Channel https://t.me/wolfchannel2

FoxyFox Substack Blog, email list https://foxyfox.substack.com/

Jessie has done more than anyone I know to expose the illuminati in 2020. You do not decide to take on the illuminati lightly. You know the possible risks in advance and have to be prepared for them to exact the ultimate price of yourself or family and friends. The illuminati are practised masters of making people pay for breaking code silence.

I first came across Jessie's testimony on the illuminati in an interview in about Oct 2019, that a friend Cheryl had sent me. Illuminati Structure Explained by One Chosen as a Mother of Darkness [1] [1a]

At the time Jessie was using the pseudonym Jane and not appearing on screen.

The information was astounding. For the first time that I had ever seen or heard, she outlined the the structure of the system that we were actually up against.

I had already known there were forces deliberately implementing policies through organisations like the World Bank, IMF and the World trade Organisation.

there were secretive organisations like the Bilderbergers, Trilateral Commission and Council on Foreign Relations that which appeared able to direct Governments what to do. These policies were often harmful to the people of those countries, despite the governments introducing them being supposedly elected by the people.
corporations were consolidating into ownership by fewer and fewer people Operation Mockingbird had effectively made all the news into a propaganda effort to fool the people controlled by 6 people.
"intelligence" agencies acted with little or no effective democratic oversight or controls and appeared to largely work as one, causing havoc and regime change worldwide.
NATO organised strategy of tension, Operation Gladio causing terrorist false flags, mayhem and divide and rule for their own sinister geopolitical purposes about freemasonry and the secretive illuminati and the 13 bloodlines about widespread child sexual abuse about widespread child trafficking widespread mind Control and MK ultra widespread cover up

But for the first time Jessies knowledge gave the 30,000 foot view and it enabled a glimpse a view of the entire illuminati structure. The structure of the Illuminati that Jessie outlined could explain who was involved and how all the global infrastructure tied together. It also explained the why. Essentially to do evil. Indeed that was the very purpose!

I believed “Jane”. The information contradicted nothing that I knew and in fact complemented the facts that I did know.

Her testimony explained the reason for the sheer volume of child abuse I had been documenting for 7 years. It explained the authorities – courts, councils, police, prosecution services reaction to it and why they always vigorously denied the very existence of ritual abuse. It also hinted at more – how widespread the Monarch mind control and targeting of individuals was.

I set about immediately transcribing the essential parts of the interview and composing a post linking the structure of the Illuminati from Jessie’s 30,000 foot top down view to my understanding of the world structure from my understanding at the grassroots.

In order that articles withstand intellectual scrutiny, and so that people can dig deeper into the reasons behind why I am led to the beliefs I have, I always quote many sources. This means that I have made a case, hopefully cogently, for my beliefs, based on evidence and if anyone challenges my interpretation, then they at least have to come up with an alternative scenario, backed up with sources.

I am pleased to say no one has ever done this on any of my posts, though I have had many of the usual ignorant hit and run insults. The strongest conspiracy deniers are those that understand very well that there is a huge conspiracy. Others are just ignorant or have cognitive dissonance.

The article took a few weeks to put together and I had finished most of the post in Dec 2019, but still needed to tie up a few loose ends which I felt needed more information on which I was lacking or needed more research. I worked on other posts.

Then in January 2020 I came across a lady on twitter. I offered her as I do, that if she summarised her story, I would publish it. She demurred, and I forget the exact wording but it was along the lines that it would take too long. That is in fact a common reply I get from many people, but it is normally essential that this is done to encourage people to delve further into a persons story.

There might have been justification. I soon came to realise from what she was talking about, that this person was in fact Jane, and she was on a mission to bring down the illuminati and rescue as many children as possible.

As I was in touch with her, this allowed me to finish the post I had written, without the information I needed, as I knew I would be able to get the information in the future from her. So I just tidied it up and I also presumed when was published, if I had made big errors, she could correct me.

So almost exactly a year ago I blogged this post, probably my most important post ever, and luckily Jessie was quite pleased with it…

The Five Child Trafficking Networks and Structure of the Illuminati [110]
Thus quite a fruitful relationship developed. The next major post took me about 3 months. There was masses of research to try and put what Jessie had told me into a historical correct and logical Christian interpretation but also a Freemasonic interpretation of the antichrist shrine/storyboard of Gloria Vanderbilt's.

Gloria Vanderbilt with her two sons, one is Anderson Cooper

The announcing of the rising of the antichrist has of course been long predicted and awaited by not only by satanists but also Christians who need the arrival of the antichrist to then fulfil the second coming of the Messiah. So the article had to be backed up with sufficient evidence and argument to deter the usual deniers and naysayers, especially as the article was predicting something in the future, albeit in the end only by a week.

Gloria Vanderbilt and the Rising of the antiChrist [111]
The antichrist post was necessarily long and unwieldy due to the "proofs" so I also quickly made a shorter follow up post, part summary, part taking it forward to another stage. In this I hinted that the Jesuit/ Catholic interpretation that I had so painstakingly made a case for, was in fact tainted from the very start by the brotherhood/ Satanic forces.

Antichrist Rising – The When and Where and How… [112]
In fact as often happens on long "heavy" posts, composing them in a tiny 5 cm square editing box on the screen gets wearing.

Jessie had given me enough information on a different subject – hand signals, which I had blogged just prior. This is how the illuminati tell each other about their forthcoming meetings and rituals.

Illuminati Hand Signalling Decodes [118]
Just to explain for those that do not know, Jessie was chosen as successor to the Queen Mother of Darkness, the head of the Illuminati. Her role, with her ritual name Sunshine, was to oversee the consummation of the antichrist who would then become head of the system, and Jessie would have replaced the Queen Mother of Darkness, and helped him destroy the system. She was trained by her Proctor, the Queen Mother.

Jessie aka Sunshine

Silence Breaks Forth into Song

Jessie had now begun her Silence breaking forth into Song series in twitter threads. They make a powerful testimony of a tiny part of what she had to endure in the Illuminati system.

The series tells some of the moving story of Jessie, written by her in tweet form, about her training, the horrific rituals endured, her choices being made by which would cause less deaths, or less painful deaths. It also tell of her training partner, the rituals, and some of the philosophy behind the madness of the psychopaths in charge of illuminati army of Monarch mind controlled slaves.

I didn't want that important information to get lost down twitter timelines, so I started to transfer them to blog format.

When original tweets or posts are absent always check archives. This post shows how to use archive plus a bit on Marina Abramovic. Archives and Satanist Marina Abramovic [191])

Interviews

Jessie then started doing some interviews, at first just named and not appearing on screen, but later bravely appearing on video, knowing the extreme risks she was talking.

With the information in spoken form and without transcripts or even show notes detailing subjects and timecodes, it takes a great deal of effort to turn what undoubtedly some extremely valuable information from Jessie, mixed in with much that is not, into an quickly and easily digestible form. As Jessie's information was particularly important, I tried for some time to give some sort of transcripts, even when it was an imperfect autotranscript and synchronise my articles with the interviews.

The Good dog and Zubrick interviews are apparently also evidenciary interviews for the authorities.

The ones with bold are full transcripts or articles, the others autotranscript. Many of the interviews on Youtube have not survived purges, so the autotranscripts have become more useful.

I had to give up doing this after doing a dozen, as it is overly time consuming and very disappointingly the shows themselves chose to not to make transcripts available, or even shownotes with subjects discussed, timecodes of the subjects, and associated research links. These are essential if information is to be spread much past the audience itself.

Jessie has done many more interviews, but this article does not extend to the time consuming searching their sites and creating easy to use lists for them. Perhaps the best avenue if you are looking for other interviews is the Illuminate the Darkness website of which this is Jessie's page – Illuminate the Darkness Jessie Czebotar webpage [99]

Jessie is a remarkable woman who has seen the absolute evil in the system from the inside, seeing death, and torture on an industrial scale. She is one of only 30 or so inside the system who have not undergone the Monarch mind control programme. That means that she has had to witness and process the death and torture without dissociating.

She has had to witness, each day of her training, more evil than most people would witness in a lifetime. The vast majority of the others in the 30 are psychopathic sadistic child torturers and child sacrificers serving Satan. Jessie has not only survived her training in the system but was able to turn her back and choose a different path on it with the help of her Christian faith in the superior power of God.

Jessie largely escaped the system, but she has been a huge part in bringing this evil system down, as well as rescuing the maximum amount of children. That story is yet to be told, but the system is not down yet, so lets not get ahead of ourselves.

My love and utmost respect to Jessie, Sunshine – my whistleblower and woman of the year 2020.

I have included below some other posts from the last year relevant to the illuminati, that do not include Jessie's direct input. These are on Child trafficking, Monarch Mind Control (MKUltra) and whistleblowers. Eventually I hope to index the full 8 years, though of course the blog can be searched, and all posts are publically archived on archive sites.

My platforms at the minute are as follows. I have migrated most of my message type posting onto Telegram and I like the format, its easy to follow a number fo good channels and easy to post info. I have a channel that I post on, and a second channel that others can post and chat on.

I will not post much on twitter due to the fascistic deletion of peoples work and for censorship, though I will keep a presence. Parler has also been taken down by big tech shenanagins and censorship, Gab at present is frozen with the sheer number of new people joining, and will start sending every day a post on my substack email list which is worth joining as the reserve way of keeping in touch, wand has already prooved valuable. I have missed the last couple of days whilst setting up the Telegram channels. Apologies. So much happening.

I will gradually build up this list of sources that I read or listen for more general news. Naturally, as with all sources, use with discernment, question everything, do your own research and come to your own conclusions. The time is over for propaganda on a plate served to you… we are the news now, research and seek the truth…

No one source of information will give all the truth. Listen to many and use your discernment. Choose those with integrity, not those you agree with.

I am not connected to anyones Patreon accounts, nor do I receive any money for my writing. I believe it is important to provide this information not hidden behind paywalls, and yes I suffer financial hardship for doing so.

I will not commit suicide and if it appears I have, then people may judge for themselves why this is so, after blogging these exposes of the top level of illuminati. I do not wish to live in the kind of world that the psychopathic illuminati want to bring in, which is a world wholly and absolutely controlled by them, and commits horrific crimes of child rape, child torture, child cannibalism, child mind control and much more, which is why I wish to speak out and expose them. This carries some risk but if I am killed or go silent, my wish is for more people to tell the truth, they cannot kill us all…

Draft Notice for Local Neighbourhoods in Case of Temporary Emergency
Posted on 2021, January, 12 by foxblog
Many people are being scattered through different social media platforms as the social media tech giants are trying to control the narrative and control what we say, in a display of blatant open fascism.

Many truthtellers on twitter have been banned. Luckily I have survived so far, but the purge is ongoing. Voat, free speech site collapsed two weeks ago, free speech site Parler has also been silenced by big tech withdrawing the apps and more. More have been removed from facebook and youtube.

I am mostly on Telegram at the minute, Gab is temporarily overwhelmed with new susbscribers having grown 10x and adding servers as fast as they can, I am sending an email a day to the substack email list, largely similar to what I blog on here.

As we are very close to the criminal cabal being taken down I have composed a draft that can be put up on notice boards in your local community. Feel free to use or adapt as you wish.

Dont forget to print it out in good time before any electricity failures may come.

These are in Open Office Format

Draft Notice of Emergency 2 pages [1]
Draft page of repeated links [2]
Temporary Emergency Notice

If this notice is up, then the expected and necessary temporary emergency has started.

If you did not know this was going to happen, then this may be a shock to you. There is nothing to worry about, do not be afraid, keep calm. Many people globally knew this was going to happen. When this is over in a few days, you will look back and see it as an exciting time of transition to a better future. Please bear with us! I am only a well informed person who follows these things.

Why is there an emergency?

This event became necessary to take down a huge global group of criminals who have worked their way into top positions of power by blackmail and threats of violence. The criminals have also taken over all mainstream news and big tech social media companies.

Possible Internet and Communications Interruptions

For a few days there may be some interruptions to some normal services. eg mainstream media “news”, social media such as Facebook, Instagram, Whats App, Twitter, and Gmail, perhaps Apple, You Tube and other Google products.

If internet is limited then email or a service like Telegram may be the best to use.

Outages may extend in some locations to the internet itself due to infrastructure problems, or internet routers will fail if electricity goes off.

Emergency Broadcasting System (EBS) broadcasts to phones in emergencies is expected to some into operation. This will be essential for keeping properly informed. I am not sure if the EBS will work globally or just in the US.

Keep your phones and spare power packs topped up.

Utility Interruptions

Possibly in some areas there may electricity failure or water problems if electric pumps fail.

Store water in containers as a precaution if you have them or perhaps fill a bath.

When you have electricity make sure you charge your phones, computers and necessary devices and keep them topped up. As a precaution if electricity goes down then have emergency lighting to hand eg torches and candles and use phones to access internet or use the phone as a hotspot.

What is happening?

The criminals are being arrested and their plots to cause havoc are to be foiled. The armed forces will be activated in the US and probably globally to take down this criminal cabal. It is best to steer clear of the operations!

In the US a peaceful transfer will be made to the next US administration. In other countries criminals will be taken down, though exact procedures and consequent steps to ensure a proper return to democracy will be arranged and will differ country to country. Then the tens of thousands of sealed indictments can be opened and justice seen to be done.

What should I do?

Remain calm. Check on the people locally who may need support – the elderly, people with small children, those that live alone. In many areas the covid scare tactics have left people afraid and mentally fragile.

People may need help with getting water or food.

If there are power cuts, people may need help. When the power is turned back on then the less mobile may need help with flicking a circuit breaker, some may need help setting digital clocks on a boiler or cooker timers etc.

It may be useful to set up a headquarters of people who can help, a central “kitchen”, a list of people who may need help. Do this from the grassroots, the people, and only use existing power structures as little as possible. Arrange local informal chats or meetings with interested people.

Where do I get information from?

This is perhaps the biggest challenge of all for many. Instead of being spoonfed information by corporations you will have to search out information and discern what is true for yourself.

If the Emergency Broadcasting System is in operation, take note of this. This could well extend to Emergency Broadcasting on what usually are mainstream media.

There will be information overload confusion for many, not knowing who to trust. There will be deliberate misinformation and disinformation from bad actors mainstream news and big tech and their representatives, but also some unintentional wrong information from trustworthy people.

The mainstream media and big tech ie NBC, CNN, ABC, BBC, ITV, Sky, Fox, Google,YouTube, Facebook, Instagram, WhatsApp, Yahoo etc will try and control and or pervert the truth. Do not worry, do not be afraid. Globally they are owned by 6 corporations and have for some time been feeding you deliberate disinformation. They have a variety propaganda operations in place from exaggerating coronavirus, race divisions, nuclear war to alien invasions. They will talk up big scary events to raise fear. The truth will not be as bad. Do not believe them and do not be afraid.

Confusion should last only up to ten days. This will be the time that the criminal cabal will be arrested and precautions taken to avoid the worst scenarios.

It is also said that there will be massive declassification of previously secret information, showing huge widespread criminal corruption. This may happen on video loops on various media.

There are a number of people online who do know the approximate plan. The trick is to search them out and build up trust. Compare what they say with what happens and work out who is genuine and trying to relay the truth.

It’s very important to do your own research, from primary sources if possible. You should not go too far wrong with these following sources, though the information may shock you and not be what you are used to.

I will gradually build up this list of sources that I read or listen for more general news. Naturally, as with all sources, use with discernment, question everything, do your own research and come to your own conclusions. The time is over for propaganda on a plate served to you… we are the news now, research and seek the truth…

Left right one dimensional politics means little to me. They are both corrupted by the globalist satanic illuminati cabal.

No one source of information will give all the truth. Listen to many and use your discernment. Choose those with integrity, not those you agree with.

Sayings

The truth will out, the truth will shout, the truth will set us free

“The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing” – Edmund Burke

“He who does not bellow the truth when he knows the truth makes himself the accomplice of liars and forgers.” Charles Peguy

To sin by silence when we should protest makes cowards out of men – Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Every time we act in the face of fear, we dilute it's power and increase our confidence

Only the small secrets need to be protected, the large ones are kept secret by public incredulity – Marshall McLuhan

Let justice be done though the heavens fall – Fiat justitia ruat cælum

Put the enemy at unease by making information they do not want known to be known…

The individual is handicapped by coming face-to-face with a conspiracy so monstrous he cannot believe it exists. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover

I only post on Twitter at present, if you have found this post useful, please post on other social media – facebook, instagram, pinterest, gab – whichever ones you are on. This is most helpful to spread the information. The people who do this are essential. Thankyou.

I am not connected to anyones Patreon accounts, nor do I receive any money for my writing. I believe it is important to provide this information not hidden behind paywalls, and yes I suffer financial hardship for doing so.

I will not commit suicide and if it appears I have, then people may judge for themselves why this is so, after blogging these exposes of the top level of illuminati. I do not wish to live in the kind of world that the psychopathic illuminati want to bring in, which is a world wholly and absolutely controlled by them, and commits horrific crimes of child rape, child torture, child cannibalism, child mind control and much more, which is why I wish to speak out and expose them. This carries some risk but if I am killed or go silent, my wish is for more people to tell the truth, they cannot kill us all…

Best Videos of 2020
Posted on 2021, January, 10 by foxblog

[I am mostly on Telegram at the minute, Gab is temporarily overwhelmed with new susbscribers having grown 10x and adding servers as fast as they can, I am sending an email day to the substack email list, largely similar to this.

I meant to do this in December, but here are the videos that I think are the best of 2020. Redpill videos. Having said this, due to lack of time I don't watch many videos, and feel free to add your own ideas in the comments.

They are in no particular order and this is my personal choice

Golden Globes Speech Ricky Gervais
Plandemic Indoctornation Real London
Shadowgate Millie Weaver
The Takedown of the Cabal From A to Z Bonfire Guy Sequel to Fall Cabal Janet Ossegaard
Out of the Shadows

For some reason they embed in draft but not when viewing page, its not the usual problem, too large a blog, so maybe these free wordpress not set up properly to embed bitchute and rumble.

Parler is vulnerable to being taken down by bigtech I hear, unfortunate as my biggest alternative following is on there.
Gab probably is more resilient to attack and able to cope with sudden increases in subscriptions.
Telegram – I like it as I have a channel and can post all my blogs, plus have some interaction. Appears secure, but they do want a phone number. I tried Signal but they want to download app on phone as well as computer.
Bitchute I use to upload important vids that might disappear and to put in my blogs.
Substack email list. I will post all my blog posts /links on this and is probably the safest to definitely keep in touch as I will have all the email addresses.
More resources and links are at the every end of this post, go right to the end

Please repost

I will gradually build up this list of sources that I read or listen for more general news. Naturally, as with all sources, use with discernment, question everything, do your own research and come to your own conclusions. The time is over for propaganda on a plate served to you… we are the news now, research and seek the truth…

Left right one dimensional politics means little to me. They are both corrupted by the globalist satanic illuminati cabal.

No one source of information will give all the truth. Listen to many and use your discernment. Choose those with integrity, not those you agree with.

I am not connected to anyones Patreon accounts, nor do I receive any money for my writing. I believe it is important to provide this information not hidden behind paywalls, and yes I suffer financial hardship for doing so.

I will not commit suicide and if it appears I have, then people may judge for themselves why this is so, after blogging these exposes of the top level of illuminati. I do not wish to live in the kind of world that the psychopathic illuminati want to bring in, which is a world wholly and absolutely controlled by them, and commits horrific crimes of child rape, child torture, child cannibalism, child mind control and much more, which is why I wish to speak out and expose them. This carries some risk but if I am killed or go silent, my wish is for more people to tell the truth, they cannot kill us all…

Coup at the Capitol 1
Posted on 2021, January, 9 by foxblog
The Democrats, the media and big tech are of course accusing Trump of having incited a coup on Congress, and Trump of trying to stop the certification of the Electoral College votes and the legitimate election of Joe Biden.

Nothing could be further from the truth of course.

What actually happened was the globalist criminal cabal, the illuminati, had formulated a plan to hide their blatant voter and presidential election fraud and the fraudulent Georgia 2 Senate elections as well as all their other mass of crimes over the years, and make a fraudulent treasonous power grab.

The fraud continued with the simultaneous blue fraud spike in the Georgia 2 elections…

The Coup came from the globalist criminal cabal.

In this post, I will not provide the "evidence" as I wish to get this post out rapidly to explain to those that haven't been able to follow some of the jigsaw pieces closely. One thing that we are not good at doing is explaining to the busy awakened and the "normies" what is going on. Two things have slowed me down making this post are my health problems and of course the time consuming setting up of alternative platforms, now that twitter has chosen to ban many truthtellers. More details on this at the end.

If I get time I will post this post again, and include all relevant bits of video etc. in the correct places to make the cogent case. However most will be available in links at the end and vids on my bitchute channel.

The cabal plot was that their paid and ideological volunteer operatives, no doubt a mix of antifa and Project Monarch mind controlled individuals, both Democrat and Republican, acting under cover as Trump supporters to be instigators of the "invasion" of the Capitol and then Trump supporters would get caught up in the fervour and cause mayhem.

That did not happen as planned, because of course the blackhats intentions were well known to the whitehats. Trump delayed the start of his speech by half an hour and also spoke an extra half hour so the crowds which were due at the Capitol were an hour later than the blackhats expected, and did not partake in this.

Thus there was delay in the plan of people to enter the Capitol and this explains the police waving the crowd through barriers, and even opening a door to the Capitol. The damage was done largely by undercover antifa – the window breaking, the "theft" of the lectern etc.

The Whitehats also had their people there, either as they had been long term undercover as antifa, and had been hired, as it were, as antifa/Trump for this event, or placed there specifically for this event as white hat Trump supporters to gain evidence on the “invasion”.

So the best known maybe is “Jake Angeli” who has a brief resume as an actor, who has the Viking horns, and has attended BLM protests as well as has attended republican and republican rallies with a Q sign. My best bet at the minute is that he is a whitehat who infiltrated antifa, maybe even has cameras in the horns.

This post will be broad brush so I will not delve further into individuals, but just understand it is more complex than at first appears.

So when the people were inside the capitol then the Joint Congress/Senate was delayed, and the VIPS were taken down tunnels. This conveniently left many state owned computers, available for “stealing” and now they in the hands of the white hat authorities more can be found out about the exact procedure in setting up election frauds and the false flag “storming” of the Capitol.

Calm was quickly restored.

The blackhat conspirators then quickly arranged a long period of Congress/Senate well into the night, to certify the election, which they have now done. They avoided any discussion of election fraud, as many corrupted and blackmailed congress/senators withdrew their accusations of fraud because of completely different and false Trump incitement! As though any incitement could or should cancel out massive and proveable fraud! Its about moving the narrative on and preventing the truth getting to the people, not any logic or reason.

The certification of a fraudulent election, knowingly.

So the state and federal courts, the state Legislators Cosmittees, the Supreme Court, the Electoral College, have all failed to even examine the massive evidence of voter fraud, election fraud, and even foreign countries fraud in the elections – China, Italy and Pakistan. The people have been failed. Fraud and Corruption has destroyed a democratic republic.

The blackhats, ie the globalist Illuminati criminal cabal are now trying to set the narrative that Trump incited the crowd to attack the Capitol by him saying they should go there for a peaceful protest, that Trump did not condemn the violence soon enough etc., Trump not to be trusted with Nuclear weapons, ad infinitum. Yeah right.

Illuminati owned big tech are now banning Trump and other Conservatives and truth tellers on all platforms they can I think. So they have banned Trumps personal twitter, his POTUS twitter, and Google and facebook have or will follow suit. However they are also going after platforms like Parler, by preventing download of apps and no doubt threatenign associated tech firms who do varying tasks for them, just as they did to 8kun.

So what happens or is happening now?

Well I don't know.

No doubt stung by the disappearance of their computers, and knowing what evidence is on there, the prominent cabal members are losing it. Pelosi and Schumer are calling for Trump to be stopped as President asap under the 25th amendment which I think is on mental health reasons, as well as his impeachment. That hardly makes sense if the official narrrative is correct that Trump is being replaced by Biden on 21st Jan. They appear unhinged and desperate. Look at the fear in their faces.

Trump was filmed with a red folder, I believe filmed just before his speech at the Ellipse. This appears deliberate and to be comms of some sort.

https://www.bitchute.com/video/88jUekWTQP46/

Bitchute Trump Red Folder video [51]

"Being a Vet, I can tell you that a Red folder is indictable of IMMEDIATE HOT MILITARY ACTION." says one anon.

I believe this also fits in with a pattern of red placeholders that were published some time ago, with the President at Castle Rock either helping coordinate or safe having turned over power or at least operational power to the Military.

Are we under military now or is that still to come?

However also reading between the lines, we are on day 8, ie 10, 9, 8 of the ten day countdown of the 10 Days of Darkness. It is not even clear that a day starts at midnight. What are the Days of Darkness?

Are they communication difficulties for the President or us? Are they ten days of internet blackout? Are they ten days in which the criminal cabal are being arrested?

There is little point speculating further. I always think it is worth raising the questions, but then go on with the work that will help bring the satanic pedosadist child sacrificing elite down.

For me that means researching, writing and spreading that information on child abuse and the illuminati. We are in need of more who do this. More bloggers, more spreaders on the ever increasing number of platforms we are forced to use. Find a strength, a specialism and you will become known for it.

Trump has said he will not attend the inauguration. This may mean it will not happen, that appears to be a more likely scenario than Trump will not attend and Biden will go through with inauguration (and then be arrested or even not).

Are we in the storm? I don't know. Perhaps the storm was a distraction, perhaps we are in it and it has not been announced, perhaps the storm is to come with the storm of arrests and the tens of thousands of sealed indictments.

There are several scenarios, that may come true. We have less than two weeks to find out and more clues will be given as time goes on.

What we must do is to carry on the information war. To maintain control over the narrative, big tech has had to ban many from its platforms. Stay smart, do not delete accounts from these platforms, keep your options open for the future. Just stop using them, use burner phones to verify if necessary, and open new accounts on new platforms.

Research, share, archive and spread on multiple platforms.

One avenue that Trump still has is to communicate with the people via the Emergency Broadcast System.

One scenario I have heard is that white hats may take over control of big tech.

There are various proofs of all the election fraud already public, but they must wait for now.

Parler is vulnerable to being taken down by bigtech I hear, unfortunate as my biggest alternative following is on there.
Gab probably is more resilient to attack and able to cope with sudden increases in subscriptions.
Telegram – I like it as I have a channel and can post all my blogs, plus have some interaction. Appears secure, but they do want a phone number. I tried Signal but they want to download app on phone as well as computer.

Bitchute I use to upload important vids that might disappear and to put in my blogs. Substack email list. I will post all my blog posts /links on this and is probably the safest to definitely keep in touch as I will have all the email addresses.

I will gradually build up this list of sources that I read or listen for more general news. Naturally, as with all sources, use with discernment, question everything, do your own research and come to your own conclusions. The time is over for propaganda on a plate served to you… we are the news now, research and seek the truth…

Left right one dimensional politics means little to me. They are both corrupted by the globalist satanic illuminati cabal.

No one source of information will give all the truth. Listen to many and use your discernment. Choose those with integrity, not those you agree with.

Sayings

The truth will out, the truth will shout, the truth will set us free

“The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing” – Edmund Burke

“He who does not bellow the truth when he knows the truth makes himself the accomplice of liars and forgers.” Charles Peguy

To sin by silence when we should protest makes cowards out of men – Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Every time we act in the face of fear, we dilute it’s power and increase our confidence

Only the small secrets need to be protected, the large ones are kept secret by public incredulity – Marshall McLuhan

Let justice be done though the heavens fall – Fiat justitia ruat cælum

Put the enemy at unease by making information they do not want known to be known…

The individual is handicapped by coming face-to-face with a conspiracy so monstrous he cannot believe it exists. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover

I only post on Twitter at present, if you have found this post useful, please post on other social media – facebook, instagram, pinterest, gab – whichever ones you are on. This is most helpful to spread the information. The people who do this are essential. Thankyou.

I am not connected to anyones Patreon accounts, nor do I receive any money for my writing. I believe it is important to provide this information not hidden behind paywalls, and yes I suffer financial hardship for doing so.

I will not commit suicide and if it appears I have, then people may judge for themselves why this is so, after blogging these exposes of the top level of illuminati. I do not wish to live in the kind of world that the psychopathic illuminati want to bring in, which is a world wholly and absolutely controlled by them, and commits horrific crimes of child rape, child torture, child cannibalism, child mind control and much more, which is why I wish to speak out and expose them. This carries some risk but if I am killed or go silent, my wish is for more people to tell the truth, they cannot kill us all…

The War on Consciousness | DMT, Demons & Aliens | Conspiracy | Escaping Prison Planet
Part 1

I hear earth is a consensus reality, and it's created by our consciousness (self.EscapingPrisonPlanet) submitted 8 hours ago by cybercoregirl
The prison is created by our collective consciousness, our power as gods/the monad. It's held together because we believe it exists, and we inadvertently cause it to exist, but we aren't aware that the earth is really just our consciousness. It's the collective unconscious. This is shown by psychedelic experiences, meditation, Gnosticism, etc. that everything is really just me/us.
The archons created a self-sustaining prison, powered by and held together by us, so it most likely can be brought down by us too, which is the archons' mistake. So if more people believe they are the entire universe and everything outside it, and we all collectively manifest reality to change, it might work. We need to wake people up, and tell them how much power they hold within themselves.

[–]Razerer92 14 points 5 hours ago*
I don't agree. First, this is more a farm than a prison. The foundation of this reality is: every being must kill and eat another in order to stay alive on a daily basis. Aka death and suffering in all corners of this planet 24/7. Now, even if humans didn't kill/farm any being out there, then the brutal "game" of survival would go on regardless of whether we are taking part in or not, regardless of whether we're even aware of it or not. Imagine all humans on this planet stood in their houses for 24hrs. There's tons of species of animals out there that would continue to deceive, kill and each other. This place would not stop being a loosh farm. Therefore, we're not "manifesting" this place as it is. There are objective truths about this reality that don't change just because people change their behaviour or belief system. So if this is a loosh farm created by a malevolent being, like many of us believe is the case, then it will continue to be so with or without our beliefs. If every person on this planet changed their belief system over night, and all of the sudden believed that this place was heaven/paradise then guess what: they would still have to eat. Animals would still have to eat. Insects would still have to eat. Which means that the farming, killing and eating of other living beings would have to go on regardless of what our beliefs about this place are. Which shows that this place is irrepairable and that only a truly malevolent being (satan/the demiurge) would design it this way. Whether you are a saint or the worst criminal out there, whether you have a different belief system than another person, the kill or be killed "game" would go on regardless, you see what i'm saying? This place is irreparable and the only true winning move is to stop reincarnating here and to make it to a better place that's not designed by an absolute psycho.

Do you Believe Icke's Reptilian Alein Theory? (self.EscapingPrisonPlanet) submitted 18 hours ago by phasegazer
And of so, any HARD and SOLID evidences about that?

[–]thepoout 12 points 20 hours ago
Its not a theory that every one of the earliest civilisations on earth worshipped serpents/lizards/dragons. They were their gods. I dont think this is up for debate. All the earliest ancient civilsations MUTUALLY believed in serpents as their gods at roughly the same time. Thats no coincidence. Given all of these old societies talk of all their knowledge coming from the serpent people, who were from the stars... and they had no modern means of communicating... its all a bit odd. There must be something in it.

[–]Brave_Cat_3362 1 point 18 hours ago
No such proof, but I had an interesting dream one time. I was trying to "See" lizard people, and I opened my real eyes mid-dream. I went blind in my dream since I was looking out my real eyes into blackness while asleep Then I was in a videogame store. And then I think that I saw ghosts. Two were light gray, one was white. At the time I figured the two were animals, but now I hear about Astral Projection, and I'd say it was probably actually that.
I think the Lizard thing was more a message to literally look up David Icke, rather than a warning about actual Lizard people if it meant anything. Reckon it did, but I couldn't prove it. I also had a theory from that, that REM sleep is our eyes literally scanning the images that we see in our dreams.

[–]-Dauschland- 16 points 16 hours ago
Refer to the Lacerta interview for one species of reptilians.
Yes absolutely real and they can create overlays so you see them as normal looking people.

[–]Yumyulackspupa 1 point 11 hours ago
This was a very interesting read. True or not it was a very interesting read

[–]ConsciousRun6137 3 points 7 hours ago
Not exactly as he describes, as i believe ultimately he's controlled opposition, but anybody who has read into ancient religions, myths, & legends, across many cultures, cannot fail to notice a common thread spanning the length of our " known " / mainstream history.
Deducing the truth, of how it all fits together, is extremely tough. With the amount of time passed, the nature of myths over long periods, along with the obfuscation & deceit within the academic system, & with our modern world where most people are too busy, aren't interested in such theories, or believe them to be anthropomorphised mythologies, blown out of proportion in contemporary times by conspiracy theorists.
I believe the Annuna are directly linked.

[–]kvnn222 9 points 18 hours ago
Reptilans are real but he is shill anyway (and reptil himself probably)

[–]EraseTheMatrix 3 points 10 hours ago
Reptilians are a negative entity race. The earth is most likely flat. So there are no aliens. There are however interdimensional entities that hang around the fourth dimension or the astral. And one of those entity races is reptilians.
There is also the greys and praying mantis aliens. And they look pretty alien. But there are thousands of negative entity races. Pretty much any fantasy monster you can imagine exists as a negative entity race and is hanging around the astral.
I have a lot of problems with reptilians. They hang around my house if I don't drive them away. When I was out celebrating my birthday a few days ago they were hanging out in the astral in the restaurant we were at. I could sense reptilians all over the place. So reptilians are real but they don't come into the physical world very often and they just hang out in the astral.

[–]kaicoder 2 points 2 hours ago
The more recent stories around Simon Parkes is just as intriguing. His letters medal etc. The media just of course concentrates on the sex with alien details.
Regardless these stories often are just pointers to others, bladvasky, carlos castaneda, channelled material, remote viewing Ingo swann and so much more.

Movies (self.EscapingPrisonPlanet) submitted 1 day ago by wizanii

I always wonder why movies like truman show, dark city, the matrix, etc all came out in almost the same years. It feels very specific. But i dont see alot of movies that have that same vibe anymore, but i would love more movie recommendations that touch upon these topics.
Fight club, The island, They live, The man with the x ray eyes from 1963 excellent occult film

They need archetypes that can see through just as much as they need hampster wheel NPCs - a battery has opposite poles for a reason.
The net is shaped to continue all the conflicts and ancient paradigms that have created the system of things as it is.

If you discuss liberation, realization, awakening, transcendence, or higher realms with other humans (self.EscapingPrisonPlanet) submitted 1 day ago by TheAscensionLattice
Thank you for existing. For being real.
Most of the content regarding these topics is far removed. In abstraction. In digital formats online through media streams, in the books of other souls who have departed this plane, in memes, in the lyrics of songs, and so on. It's at a distance.
To actually meet other souls who know they are not this incarnation in truth, that they are in essence beyond the mind, body, and environment presented to their awareness, is a rare gift.
Ram Dass has a quote that "we are all walking each other home." But many people are just walking us to the next event within the matrix illusion.
Perhaps no one has the cosmic keys to unlock the ignorance and misidentifications, to dissolve the attachments, false beliefs, desires and fears, but connecting with other points of awareness that have also devoted their time to higher states of being exists as the scaffolding, conduits, and bridges that illuminate our way out of the darkness.
Relative to the forces of bondage, the forces of activation are scarce. There is a misperception that all of reality exists for our evolution and growth, but in fact there are numerous false lights, dead ends, cyclical roundabouts, and empty rhetoric.
If you're holding the beacon of goodness in any way for our greater self beyond the fallen condition, you're doing divine work. It's mostly thankless, unseen, ignored, discounted, censored, or attacked, but the hearts of those who quest for truth and revelation are attentive.
May all beings be free.

[–]SharinganGlasses 3 points 11 hours ago
Agreed fellow traveller. Truth is not afraid to be questioned. Let's continue pondering and taking our power back.
One day at a time in this (currently) shitty place my friends. Still good to have some gratitude for the love and connections in our lives and that we're not braindead automatons...

[–]yungsumthin 6 points 19 hours ago

Thanks for these words, keep on shining,even in the darkest places , like a beacon of light.
Hope y'all find balance

What is your take on the nature of our inner self, our soul? (self.EscapingPrisonPlanet) submitted 1 day ago by LuisVazDeColhoes
I'm new to this theory of reincarnation and that Earth is a planet that is used to recycle souls over and over again after death, similar to the samsara wheel in Buddhism. We are a metaphysical entity inside a physical body limited to the known laws of the universe. We have a soul that leaves our body when we die, and then we lured into the light so that our soul can be recycled into reincarnate in another physical body, correct? Well, but it would mean that after death, we would cease to exist because our memory is erased from our past life, but our soul would go to live another life. Do we share anything in common with our former lives? Lets assume I was a Vietnamese rice farmer 100 years ago in my past life. What would I have in common with that person? That person has died, followed the light and his self got his memory erased and that soul now went to my body. What do I have in common with that person? What would happen if I were to skip the light? Who would make that choice? Me as a person with my personality and experience?

[–]thetimebandits1 8 points 1 day ago
I think the vision never dies for the person that is the self, my guess is it's more of a transformation a metamorphosis of the psyche a renewing rather than a dieing...

[–]Unicornucopia23 7 points 1 day ago
Collective knowledge is not the same as remembering. There is a part of you that remains, even if you don’t realize it. Your past lives define who you are now, even if you don’t remember them. Just because your memory is wiped doesn’t mean that your soul has hit some sort of reset button.
It’s literally being proven as we speak that our collective knowledge in ancestry defines who we are now, just like genetics. Which means that, even though you don’t realize it, you have knowledge that comes from your ancestors.
And if you think this sounds too wild to believe, just look at animals. This is how they learn instinct. This is how they know which other animals are predators, which plants to eat, where to migrate when it’s cold, etc. all of the things about animals that we previously couldn’t explain, come from a collective knowledge learned from the ancestral line

[–]Spiritual_Au 4 points 19 hours ago
This system we know as 3D earth is fallen; the matrix. This fallen system that we reside in sole purpose is to harvest loosh. Fallen beings (fallen angels) reign control over this vector of space time. These beings have also fallen in consciousness at some point; their genetic blueprint has been corrupted; they’ve lost their ability to connect with the true source god.

This system is what keeps the negative aliens/entities alive. Without loosh they would cease to exist I believe. It’s not impossible to escape this matrix; the illusion. They masquerade in the afterlife to deceive you to their best ability.. deception only works if you don’t know you’re being deceived, right?
This is where the idea of removing all earthly attachments on the subconscious level comes from. As the archons use this attachment against you.
Rainbow body is an example of enlightenment. Of transcending this realm; escaping hell.
So with that being said; the answer to your question is yes we do live in the after life. Why we fail to remember is down to this system reinforcing the idea of reincarnation onto souls who still have earthly attachments. You then get reincarnated mostly against your will as you still have more “lessons” to learn, right?
DONT GO TOWARDS THE LIGHT HOMIE (;

People say calling people who don't think for themselves and just do what authority tells me Npcs is dehumanising, and yet people like that actually exist. (self.conspiracy)
submitted 21 hours ago by Agreeable-Moment-760
You can replace the term 'non-player character' with any other word you like if the term 'npc' doesnt sit well with you, but the type of people the term is meant to describe still exist. They actually makeup most of the world. This is why we live in a world where the vast majority of people don't think for themselves or question things they hear, they just do whatever they're programmed to do and whatever authority tells them.
This has become more obvious within the last 4 years. On one hand, there are changes happening on a global scale that can’t really be ignored much longer, and on the other hand, the majority of people seem to live their lives as if nothing is changing and like the last 4 years didn’t happen, and yet, people like Klaus Schwab of the WEF openly tell us that there is no going back to the world we knew before 2020 and that we have to get used to an angrier world where we literally have no privacy and will be connected to the cloud, but because most people are non-player characters, they don’t even pay attention to that because they’re not programmed to.

[–]Kittybatty33 14 points 20 hours ago
Yes I agree I feel people have gotten more and more desperate to hold on to the illusion and cannot tolerate free thinking individuals anymore there's definitely a split happening some people are becoming more open-minded and they're interested in the information but the majority of people are just trying to shut everything out that doesn't align with what they already know it's like they're unable to learn new information

[–]Primate98 16 points 20 hours ago
This is one of the Big Secrets. "They" understand the dynamics of this large portion of the population and use that to Their advantage. They are desperate that those who are not NPCs never realize this.
As one example, the mainstream media never convinces NPCs of anything by presenting evidence and reasoning. It exists was only to convince the non-NPCs that the NPCs are being persuaded, so they do not realize the NPCs are simply being downloaded their viewpoints.

Ask an NPC if Donald Trump organized an insurrection on J6. Then ask that NPC exactly what the plan was to overthrow the government. Nothing will ever make them realize, "Oh, I guess there was no plan, so there was never really an insurrection and I've been lied to by those I trusted." They'll never say that because it's not how their mind works.

[–]MyAlternate_reality 2 points 8 hours ago
I get a kick out of it on the main page here on Reddit, when someone asks the group a question about how they are to properly adhere to the NPC standpoint on current issue on literal current year.
It's almost like the real life person isn't fully assimilated yet and their logical brain is still fighting for survival and reaching out for a life line but the octopi pulls it back down to simulation world.

Not Safe. Not Effective. And Much WORSE: Rudolf Steiner 1923 Prophecy: A VACCINE to sever the Spiritual Connection in Mankind submitted 23 hours ago by astralrocker2001
Submission Statement: Rudolph Steiner knew of The Archons who are Interdimensional Parasites that are worshipped on Earth by the Global Elite. They are the Psychotic Entities who directed the Illuminati to force the evil "vaccine" onto humanity. This is not Sci Fi. It is the Hidden Truth of our Enslaved Reality.
“There are beings in the spiritual realms for whom anxiety and fear emanating from human beings offer welcome food. When humans have no anxiety and fear, then these creatures starve… If fear and anxiety radiates from people and they break out in panic, then these creatures find welcome nutrition and they become more and more powerful. These beings are hostile towards humanity.

[–]LouMinotti 4 points 23 hours ago
Steiner is a treasure trove of esoteric insight. It's not a coincidence that his teachings have come to light at this very time.

[–]Simple-Classroom-155 1 point 8 hours ago mRNA vaccine is the mark of the beast/abomination that causes desolation

- Look up VMAT2 The God Gene. How it was targeted with vaccines 100 years after Steiner predictions. Now you see how that factors into WWIII psyop with Albert Pike's prediction.

TIL Ultraviolet Irradiation of Blood kills antiobiotic resistant infections and has been supressed since 1950 (self.conspiracy) submitted 4 years ago * by ehcaipf
Ultraviolet Irradiation of Blood (or putting sunlight inside your body or blood irradiation therapy) was discovered in 1903 and proven to be effective agaisnt almost any infection, including antibiotic resistant infections and sepsis.
This procedure fell out of favor in the late 1950s, at a time when antibiotics and the polio vaccine were becoming widely used.

Makes you think...
Sources:

Ultraviolet Irradiation of Blood: “The Cure That Time Forgot”?

Adding some more facts since people are not reading the sources:
This therapy was invented Niels Finsen, who won the Nobel Prize for Physiology and Medicine in 1903, successfully treating 900 patients without the use of antibiotics.
Ultraviolet irradiation of blood kills organisms (bacteria and viruses) by DNA damage and also activation of the immune system.
Only 7% to 8% of the blood needs to be dosed, pointing that most of the therapeutic effect comes from the activation of the immune system.
It uses very mild UV radiation that causes no long-term damage.
It's effective against bacteria and viruses, including Hepatitis C Virus (which has no known vaccine), and it's also effective against Psoriasis (which also has no known cure).

I wasn’t really into religion but, Bible says this is satans world
Satan is the great deceiver
The mouth piece for what to follow in this world is the msm
Ever notice everything they recommend that’s important is total opposite of reality and what you should be doing or following? A deception/lie?
Vaccines? Organic food? War? Marijuana? Russia? Covid? and whenever you voice your opinion resisting what they recommend blue check marks and high karma Reddit accounts come to grandstand on the topic and let everyone know it’s wrong, with upvotes within seconds or minutes in order to deceive you into believing it’s the way to go, because they think you’re stupid cattle/sheep who can’t think and will just go with the herd/crowd instead of critically thinking.
Ever read into the left and right hand path in theology? Learning this stuff makes it much easier to navigate through the lies and deception when you know what’s behind it all

[–][deleted] 1 point 4 years ago
Well if God said this and he is all powerful then he let the devil have it.
God must be evil.

[–]Factsherrt 3 points 4 years ago
When you got an elementary understanding of it all sure, but this place is a test you have free will. God helps those who help themselves at the end of the day. If you follow the doctrine.

Antibiotics are terrible for you and pathogens grow resistant to such treatments. There are trade offs but that doesn't mean it should be forgotten

[–]BettieNuggs 8 points 4 years ago you use this on big reef tanks to sterilize it and kills all bio issues. its probably a rich dudes trick and he just let it slip. even donating platelets they cycle your blood out and back in.

[–]nfk42 9 points 4 years ago
it tastes damn good too.

[–]protozoicstoic 19 points 4 years ago
Trump mentions UV and disinfectant injections and now people are trying their hardest to unstupid the comment as a whole. I'm about done with this sub. 5g BAD, UV good? Lmao.

[–]OrchOR33 3 points 4 years ago
You're a moron. Trumps idea about disinfectant is dumb af, but the UV thing is actually a really good idea...5G radiation is diffuse and much higher energy than UVA (which is in the 300nm range). They use it in a controlled fashion on 5-7% of your blood, outside the body, in a sealed chamber, it's used today at top cancer centers around the world. It's called extracorporeal photopheresis...I've seen it effectively treat refractory GVHD with my own eyes....which is like one of the most horrendous diseases in existence. The only reason it fell out of favor in the 50s is because antibiotics are way cheaper and higher success rates..you also dont have to sit on a dialysis machine for hours.
Also I'm a diehard Bernie supporter, and a doctor... even I'm defending the comment, so you should really reconsider having opinions on things you dont know about.

They do. I use them in a filtration system for my aquarium. But that's really not what has upset people. Yeah there are posts here completely ignoring the other part of that little exchange, and saying the media are freaking out only over the UV comment but frankly I couldn't give a sh*t less that he mentioned UV. It does work on surfaces. I have a hard time thinking how you could use UV to kill the virus that is in tissue even if you do pull blood out and run it over a UV lamp then put the blood back in....it doesn't impart any disinfectant properties to the blood, and it can't go deep into tissue where the virus can thrive. Viruses don't just float around in the bloodstream like it's a lazy river.

There is a litany of suppresses medical history, thanks OP for adding one to the list I haven’t heard of. Make no mistake, the medical industry is meant to pull money to pharmaceuticals, not to help the people. Natural treatments that don’t involve petrol or creating a compound are laughed off as quackery... because it doesn’t make them money. We need to separate money from humanities health, because as we see time and time again that those who are “caretakers” when they have to choose between humanities health or money, have chosen money every single time.

[–]cjgager 3 points 4 years ago
i agree, unfortunately, with most of what you say. it is so true the AMA & 'mainstream' health professionals usually poo-poo 'natural' treatments, saying it's bunk - but you know, a lot of medicine originally came from natural products (i.e., salicin from the willow tree is precursor of aspirin; vincristine from the periwinkle plant is used in chemotherapy). now what happens is they go search for a plant and then they come home & make a synthetic drug out of it & then charge $1000s of dollars for it. it's a shame sometimes biochemistry is used that way.

[–]OrchOR33 1 point 4 years ago
So first of all RBC lifespan is 120 days, you're constantly making and destroying millions of them...damaged ones get destroyed faster. Mature RBCs have no DNA to damage.
Second, while you're correct that it could damage immature red cells or immune cells, UV-A cancer risk is 20x lower than UVB and 100x lower than UVC. Also, all your immune cells have far more powerful DNA repair mechanisms that can easily fix the damage (each cell undergoes approximately 10,000 DNA damaging events every day, it's no big deal). Viruses dont have most of these sophisticated mechanisms, so it kills them and your other cells repair.
Third, it only needs to hit 5% of your blood to work. The implication is that it's not actually killing all of the virus per se, but triggering some weird systemic immune response that we have not yet fully understood...but that's killing the infection.
In fact, the use it all the time in cancer patients who get stem cell transplants and get a bad reaction called GVHD. It's called extracorporeal photopheresis, its amazing.

I'm close in discovering the elite and possibility of alien hybrids living among us which are reincarnated demonic souls inside human engineered bodies done by so-called aliens. (self.conspiracy) submitted 1 year ago by Oneromnation
I'm not so much in believing in shapeshifting reptilians it has a different twist, they shift into light orbs we see in the sky as UFO's or UAP's, shadow figures, they can get invisible and able to appear in our dreams like sleep paralysis, visions or let certain people hallucinate which we call mental illnesses.
It's not only about reptilians, it' more about the praying Mantis beings, they both are operating a hybridization program and abduct humans for their DNA, they are not aliens from another planet but hybrids from a different and parallel timeline or a higher dimension.

All those alien hybrids appear to us as ghost sightings, like shadow figures, succubus, poltergeists, ghost girls, black eyed children, the night hag, the hat man, MIB etc.
The end goal is abducting people for their seed, eggs, fetuses and to become fully humanoid and walk among us as superhumans with mind control abilities, similar to magicians and mentalists.
These human hybrids integrate into our society at the age of 17 to 26 and abduct people, mind control them so they cooperate into helping them how to behave like a human until they are ready to walk among us unnoticed.

Since these hybrids have special mind reading or controlling abilities, they grow in higher positions in no time, working in stock markets, as bankers, lawmakers or politicians.
Child trafficking and SRA works very similar like alien abductions, these hybrids are like vampires, abusing children in castles and sacrifice them to reincarnate more demonic souls. These aliens are engineering bodies with our DNA for these reincarnated spirits from hell is why poltergeists smell like smoke or sulfur.
These hybrids also come as pastors is why so many children are abused in churches, especially in Roman Catholic churches.
Some of our people in power are dealing with these beings known as secret societies and the occult and engage in rituals is why aliens are top secret, it's like Aleister Crowley said:

These light orbs in the sky are known as astral bodies from a higher dimension also called Body of Light. It's a well known technique of the occult, even science originated from the occult trying to explain these phenomenon, it's the reason we see UFO light orbs in the sky.
These beings can also shift into their physical form, is why we have so many cryptid sightings at the same time no evidence apart from lights and shadows.
Mainly, this is the reason why so many children are trafficked for the occult and black magic. These hybrid demons are causing for a lot of misery in the world and their new world order plans.

[–]pilgrim_souldier33 18 points 1 year ago
Good research. You've definitely studied this topic...
The missing link IMO is - Jack Parsons, L.Ron Hubbard and Crowley with the Babalon Workings rituals in the Mojave desert - after this event occurred in 1947 the Roswell incident happened.

[–]Oneromnation[S] 8 points 1 year ago
Thanks for that, I wrote this post very quick as I need to sleep, I want people to know this. Don't forget also the Cape Girardeau crash in 1941, it's from the skinny bob incident.
Regarding the occult, it explains all demons their abduction methods. The occult is like science big brother doing all the paranormal stuff called black magic while science still needs to catch up with it.
Look at this occult game called Pathfinder, it's from the real occult put into a game. It explains exactly how dimensions work and why shadow people appear to us as shadows.

[–]pilgrim_souldier33 4 points 1 year ago
No doubt.

Dr. Chuck Missler explanation on dimensions was the best I've ever heard.
I'm paraphrasing: "If we draw a 2d world with a stick figure guy, and you a 3d human poke your finger(3d cylinder shape) into there world what will they see? A 2d circle..."
We are governed by the laws of our dimension.

[–]COMPEWTER_adminisp 3 points 1 year ago

[–]EstablishmentFree611 1 point 1 year ago
Also they could be us from the future evolving to have smaller body's need less nutrients bigger eyes to see better etc gray skin from inter breeding

[–]Oneromnation 1 point 1 year ago
Hi thanks, I'm a curious person and also done research on near death experiences for 8 years because I once blacked out in the gym and saw a dark blue tunnel. I read people saw a blue tunnel and encountered demons so wanted to know if I was headed to Hell or Heaven with seeing a blue tunnel. I've then read every NDE I can and am so convinced of the afterlife, it made me a follower of Christ and staying away from sin, it made me a better person by not worrying about stuff we want, mentally and financially.
Since I knew about NDE's, I thought it was time for aliens, I disliked that people had imaginary theories about aliens, myself included so decided to do proper reseach on abductions. A documentary called Love and Saucers made me so weirded out about abductions and made me realize grays originate from mantis beings. There is where my road started and eventually light orbs, I had personal experiences with small orbs in my previous appartment.
I read an abduction case where an alien told to someone you are inside an energy field and thought this technique looks like the orbs in the sky, when I googled change body into light, I came across a Buddhist technique called rainbow body. I personally was also worried when I read about alien hybrids living among us and their techniques and thought if so, we need to learn these techniques ourselves.
At the same time I just had to find out about hybrids living among us and while I found some evidence, I noticed they are most deffinitely related to ghost sightings and are poltergeists in human bodies abusing children, atleast some of them.
When I read the book Walking Among us, I still saw some innocence in some of these hybrids, I think it's still important to love our enemies. I'm on a road to meet a hybrid to have a conversation, I know enough about this topic to know if someone will lie being one or not and I think i've already found one:

These techniques aliens use is already mentioned in the occult in explicit details, is why I was able to link aliens to the occult.
Aliens are time travelers from the past there is physical evidence for that and theoretical evidence. I mentioned in my post about reptilians and Mantis beings are both according hypnosis research done on abductees, the leaders operating a humanoid hybridization program. This explains gray aliens which are part Mantis, have scalpy lizards type hands and are humanoid with black almond praying mantis eyes.
The Physical evidence is a hair was found and analyzed in a lab during a failed abduction attempt from Peter Khoury's case from a female hybrid which was of ancient Celtic DNA and part unknown to the human mainstream.
The Theoretical evidence is, a giant praying mantis or Lizard existed in prehistoric times called a Gigatitan insect and a Velociraptor, even bigfoot type creatures called a Gigantopithecus. This is pure theoretical and physical evidence they used our DNA from the past

[–]TheLastRedditUserID 5 points 1 year ago
Light orbs have been seen before bigfoot sightings and many witnesses seeing these orbs attached to the chest of a saquach as they move across hay fields. Crazy I know but I've heard a lot of people say this and it's apparently an unspoken common occurrence in the bigfoot community.

This is sleep paralysis. I get it all the time. It’s always unpleasant, but I can escape easily now.
Once you realize you can’t move, you need to do your best to stay calm. Your panic warps your perception of reality and it’s common to imagine scary things from shadows/shapes and sounds. You’ll feel very vulnerable to “evil”, but just remember you can wake up and it’s just your mind/body connection buffering.
The trick is to try to wiggle your toes and fingers furiously to break yourself free from the paralysis. It’s hard, but you’ll eventually loosen them. Really concentrate.
A lot of times when I wake up and go to sleep right after, I’ll get it again. I’d recommend getting up for some water and then lying on the opposite end of the bed. Listening to music or watching videos to sleep also helps prevent it.
Most people don’t experience it so it’s kind of a curse, but there’s a cool side to it. Sleep paralysis can be a “portal” to lucid dreaming or out of body experiences. Definitely look into it if you’re interested! I can sort of do it if I stay calm and don’t try to escape the

[–]maryjay74 1 point 1 year ago
They don't need to abduct anyone because they are breeding them in Agartha. They are cloning cain's seed and sacrificing them to corrupt the DNA of the old gods and humankind to make them insane. They are cursing the original system of the old gods. And sorry to say, but You aren't close to exposing anything because you need to be initiated in order to reveal anything, and even if you do so, no one will believe you.
Oh and they are not demons, they are Seraphs. Demons only exist in a parallel timeline where the old gods have become insane, demonizing our ancestors is nothing but a curse of Yahweh.

Right on, in the past I would have fallen in the other guys camp as well. Some books that helped bring more understanding for me are the secret of light by Walter Russell, biology of belief by bruce Lipton, the secret teachings of all ages by mainly P. Hall, and also rereading anything Jesus said with a new understanding of what light means. And then also looking into removed texts from the bible, the Apocrypha, and for example this video:

I actually think that people who pray end up having worse lives. Every Christian I know has gone through incredible misery and hardship - and they all pray and thank their god for seeing them through tough times without really acknowledging that this god is the architect of their suffering.

I work in the music industry. There is no shortage of FANTASTIC writers as well as music out there. The issue is the gatekeepers. There are basically 3 mega labels that decide on what is good & what is not. If you don’t get past them, it is exponentially harder to get your material out. I’ve heard songs that have made me bawl my eyes out and gives me chills all over my body that will never see the light of day because of these trashcan gatekeepers. In the flip side of that, look at these tiktok stars. Limited talent but astronomical success. I feel that is the consumer screaming out against the gatekeepers. The mildly talented artist are being blasted into the stratosphere by its consumers because they crave something dif than what is currently being offered. Now imagine if those gatekeepers would get out of the way and let the artists put out their material. We need second coming of music that could be compared to when Willie & Waylon went to Texas. It’s happening in the background. And I , for one, can’t wait until the dam breaks.

Predictive text and vaccine propaganda (self.conspiracy)

It was and is still a major focal point of societal manipulation so it makes sense to me that the less scrupulous of the tech companies might still be pushing it on behalf of government or industry.
The list of companies urged and compensated by government to include pro-jab messaging in their programming and services is considerable Spirit Guides, Angels, and Ascended Masters are actually brutally cruel, psychotic beings known as "Archons". They have Enslaved Humanity through REINCARNATION. (self.conspiracy)

submitted 1 year ago * by astralrocker2001

Most humans are very good people. They and their deceased loved ones and friends deserve Real Freedom and not cruel Enslavement to Energy Parasites.

Most have have not yet done the significant long term research needed to find the Hidden Truth. At this point I know exactly what is happening to all Souled Beings in this Universe.

I have studied these topics non stop for many decades. 20 years ago I was a novice student who embraced teachings of the New Age. Then after many years of intense research, I discovered the horrible truth that it was Mind Control designed to capture awakening humans who could not be controlled by traditional religions.

On top of all of this; I have continuously trained in Astral Projection for the last 12 years. I regularly travel into the Astral Afterlife. It is the dimension where all of those deceased within the last 30 years reside.

Other people highly skilled in Astral Travel have seen the exact same things: Deceased Humans being lied to and manipulated into Soul Contracts by Fake Higher Beings who pose as Spirit Guides and Ascended Masters.

Like myself, they have also seen the horrifying Memory Erase Process: Deceased Humans being prepped for Reincarnation are strapped down. They are then subjected to a continuous series of brutally intense electroshocks from an advanced device that Erases Their Memories, before reinserting the Targeted Human back into an ongoing loop of Enslavement.

The "old ways" of Organized Religion, the Educational System, and Controlled Society has done nothing for humanity except put people to sleep with Relentless Programming and Mind Control. The reason this world is so horrible for many is because we have been unable to progress. Those who figure out the psychotic scam get their Memories Erased and the truth has never been able to reach enough minds. Until now.

Skeptic or Believer; This is really happening to all humans. If you seek Real Freedom; then a personal Transformation Process of the mind and ultimately your reality, must begin..

After 30 years the deceased are Forced to Reincarnate.

Some who are programmed and easily conned go back earlier. They incorrectly think they are benefitting by doing so, when in fact; it puts them in a much worse overall scenario,

We have been taught for centuries to sit around like passive Serfs and wait for Fake Saviors.

The truth is; you and all other Souled Beings are individualized fractions of God.

The biggest conspiracy of our lives, and quite possibly human history, is SLEEP (self.conspiracy)
submitted 2 years ago * by yoooo12347

Even death, one of the most pondered things, is less mysterious. A Christian knows where he is headed, but NO ONE in this world (including the elites), know why we sleep.
